43 Die As Planes Collide, Plunge Into Sea

REDS PUSH CLOSER TO SEOUL

Hundreds See Navy Trainer, Airliner Meet

Disaster Strikes At Key West, Fla.

KEY WEST, Fla., April 25 (AP)—A big Cuban airliner and a small U. S. Navy plane collided with explosive force over Key West today and spun into the sea, carrying 43 people to their deaths.

Water splashed 50 feet into the air as the transport, with 34 passengers and five crewmen, nosedived with a terrific bang into 20 feet of water.

The Navy plane went to pieces as it fell and crashed into the ocean two miles west of the transport. It carried a four-man crew.

Hundreds of sunbathers saw the planes meet at 4,000 feet altitude with a noise that resembled an explosion. Eyewitnesses at first believed that the Navy plane had blown up while flying alongside the liner.

The four-engined transport, operated by Compania Cubana De Aviacion, left Miami bound for Havana at 11:03 a. m. (EST) with a passenger load that included 25 Americans.

The collision occurred about 11:45 a. m.

19 Bodies Recovered

It went into a tight spiral, the Faraldos related, but the pilot managed to pull out with full power. Then it went into a straight nosedive. As it crashed, water spewed so high into the air they could see it over the treetops at the airport.

The brothers took off in their own plane and were the first to fly over the scene. They said they saw a dozen bodies and parts of bodies on the surface but no wreckage. They dropped life preservers and a dye marker to guide rescue boats.

At 5 p. m., Lt. Clemons C. Pearson, commander of the Coast Guard station here, said 19 bodies had been recovered but only nine identified. The condition of some of the bodies, he said, made identification very difficult.

"It was a gruesome mess," Pearson said.

Most of the bodies were recovered by Navy divers. After the 19 had been sent ashore, diving operations were halted and efforts were started to raise the wreckage of the big plane to the surface.

Wreckage Raised To Surface

The rescue operations in warm, bright sunshine were clearly visible from the public beach. A long pier juts out from the beach and townspeople walked out on it to watch the activity.

As the bodies were brought in, they were put ashore at the same dock where President Truman's yacht, the Williamsburg, usually docks when he comes here on vacation. The area was blocked off from spectators and guarded by white-helmeted police carrying carbines.

Shortly before dark, divers got hooks on the wreckage of the transport and it was being raised to the

Stopgap Defense Funds Approved By House Group

Army Will Cut June Draft Call To 20,000

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—A $6,468,206,000 emergency bill to pay the costs of the stepped-up war in Korea — and fuel the rearmament drive on other fronts—won approval by the House Appropriations Committee today.

It also disclosed that the Army plans to cut its June draft call to 20,000 men and bring home upwards of 20,000 battle-tired veterans from Korea each month, starting in May.

In May and June, the Army expects to recall 15,000 reserve officers to active service. They will help train an Army expected to total 1,552,000 men on June 30.

These figures were given by top Army spokesmen to the Appropriations Committee in closed hearings earlier this month.

Funds For "Project X"

The committee made them public as it stamped approval on the emergency funds bill, which includes $46,800,000 for a top secret "Project X" which the Atomic Energy Commission is in a hurry to carry out.

Details of the secret project were given to the committee off the record and none were made public. The committee obviously agreed that it was necessary and urgent because it voted every cent asked.

The committee now is ready to start work on the regular military budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

It will be a whopping amount. Military spokesmen say it may come close to $80,000,000,000. The Appropriations Committee hopes to keep it nearer $70,000,000,000.

Draft Call Cut In Half

Army officials said the 20,000 draft call in June—it had been expected to be 40,000 — was made possible chiefly by a rush of voluntary enlistments, lower battle losses in Korea than had been feared, and an "Overdelivery" of draftees in the past.

As for bringing veterans home from Korea, the Army said it hopes to return 20,000 men in May, another 20,000 in June and 25,000 a month after that.

"All-Out" Probe Of Foreign, Military Policies Demanded By Senate GOP Policy Group

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—The Senate Republican Policy Committee called today for an "all-out" investigation of foreign and military policies linked with the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters the GOP group wants an inquiry into policies as far back as the 1945 Yalta conference, with special emphasis on what he called the administration's "encouragement of Chinese Communists."

To get such an inquiry, Taft said, the Republicans will hold in abeyance a resolution by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) for a joint Senate-House investigation while they watch developments in hearings to be opened May 3 by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees.

MacArthur will be the first witness and Taft said the Republicans will demand that the hearings be public. Sen. Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the two-committee inquiry, has said he'd rather the hearings would be closed.

In New York, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's spokesman, said the five-star General has no objection to public hearings or to being televised.

Taft said the Republicans will ask Russell to add four members of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee, dealing with armed services affairs, to the present 26-member Armed Services-Foreign Relations group.

Russell told reporters tonight he is "unalterably opposed" to public hearings and to adding to the size of the committee.

"I think the American people prefer facts to entertainment, however delectable—to entertainment over the radio and television," the Georgia Senator said. "It is inconceivable to me that there can be any questioning in public hearings without running into military security.

"One unguarded statement might mean the lives of several thousand boys in Korea."

Russell said that if MacArthur wants to make a general statement in a public hearing, and then submit to questioning behind closed doors, he would consider doing it that way.

The White House said today that telegrams received by the President since his ouster of MacArthur have run about 58 per cent against him and 42 per cent in his support. The mail response shows "a 50-50 break," Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said.

"Later telegrams are running about 3 to 1 in favor of the President's action," Short said.

Gromyko Attempts To Scare Allies

PARIS, April 25 (AP)—Soviet Russia's Andrei Gromyko told western deputies here tonight that "there will not be enough room in Korea for the white crosses over the tombs of the interventionists troops" unless United Nations forces are withdrawn.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister was quoted as telling the West at another deadlocked session of the conference that the way to end the Korean war is for the U. N. troops to go home.

New RFC Probe Bid Sent Dawson

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Presidential Aide Donald Dawson got a second and stronger bid today to testify before a Senate subcommittee investigating the Reconstruction Finance Corporation

Dawson was named by the committee several months ago as one of a group which allegedly had influence over the RFC in the granting of large loans to private industry.

He was invited to meet with the Senate's Banking subcommittee last Feb. 24, but did not appear.

Today Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) announced he had "requested" Dawson to appear May 10 and in a letter gave him until April 30 to acknowledge the "request." Fulbright said the committee "now feels that it would be necessary to have your testimony in order to complete its hearings."

When the committee made its report accusing Dawson, President Truman labeled the charges asinine and said he did not think it was necessary for his lieutenant to testify.

Administration Plans To Ask Authority For Year-At-A-Time Freeze On Farm Parity Prices

Truman, In Special Message Today, Will Request Other New Anti-Inflation Powers

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Legislators said tonight the Truman administration plans to ask Congress tomorrow for authority to put a year-at-a-time freeze on farm parity prices in a new move to hold food costs down.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC), who attended a meeting today with President Truman and his top mobilization command, said the administration also will ask:

1—Tighter rent controls, including ceilings on rents for commercial property.

2—Subsidies on some imports, perhaps including coffee, (subsidies are payments by the government of part of the cost in order to hold down the retail price to consumers.)

3—"Probably" some new restrictions on credit, in addition to the installment buying and other curbs already in force.

Truman Plans Special Message

Such new anti-inflation powers will be asked by the President in a special message proposing extension of the Defense Production Act, which expires in June. It is under this law that the government has imposed wage and price controls and other economic curbs in the past year.

At present, the law says price ceilings on farm products must not be fixed below parity—a shifting price that rises and falls with the cost of things farmers have to buy.

These parity figures are fixed monthly. Maybank said that Mr. Truman now proposes to set a parity price at the beginning of a crop year and keep it there for the whole of that year.

W. H. Harrison Resigns

Thus if the parity price of wheat, for example, were set at $2.50 a bushel, price officials could impose a $2.50 ceiling and wheat couldn't legally be sold for more than that during the next 12 months.

If the parity price should work out to $2.60, for instance, at the end of the year, then the ceiling would have to be raised.

In another mobilization development today, W. H. Harrison resigned as defense production chief, reporting to the President that the rearmament program is well started and making "sound progress."

Harrison said there are "compelling personal reasons" for his resignation, effective May 1. He will return to the presidency of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Jet Engines Made In Britain Power MIGs, Brown Says

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Rep. Brown (R-Ohio) said today enemy MIG planes shot down in Korea have been powered by jet engines made in Great Britain.

During a House Rules Committee hearing on a bill to provide food aid for India, Brown said he was informed by a man on Gen. MacArthur's staff that every enemy MIG plane shot down and examined was found to have British-made jet engines. He did not further identify the source of his information.

The Air Force commented, "as far as is known no MIG 15 aircraft shot down in Korea have been recovered by United Nations forces."

Probe Told Reds Sought Control Of Film Industry

Director Dmytryk Breaks His Silence

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Screen Director Edward Dmytryk, breaking a silence which sent him to jail in 1950, said today that Communism has tried to capture Hollywood through the guilds and unions there.

He reappeared before the House Un-American Activities Committee to present a detailed picture of Red infiltration in the American movie capital.

The Communist Party moved into Hollywood for three main reasons, Dmytryk testified.

He said first it wanted to tap the big Hollywood incomes, and that it established a "tithing system" to take a percentage of the salaries of its well-paid members there.

Secondly, he said, it wanted the prestige of a strong Hollywood chapter.

But "most important," Dmytryk testified, was the party's determination to "control the content of motion pictures" by taking over the writing and acting guilds and the unions.

The last time Dmytryk appeared before the committee he refused to talk about Communism in Hollywood, invoking the first constitutional amendment, which guarantees freedom of speech and belief.

But Dmytryk, who once commanded a salary of $2,500 a week, went to jail with nine other Hollywood figures for contempt of Congress. He served a six-month sentence.

Today the attitude of the 42-year-old, Canadian-born, film boss was different.

He admitted to the committee that he had been a member of the Communist Party briefly in 1944-45. Since then, he said, events have convinced him that Communists are "treasonable."

"I am willing to talk," Dmytryk said. He then proceeded to do so for several hours.

Rapidly Dmytryk outlined the Reds' Hollywood campaign. He said they hoped to have the CIO come in and take over all Hollywood's guilds and unions.

Regardless of the progress Communism made in Hollwood, Dmytryk said, the party failed to exercise much influence in film production.

Chief Of Czech AP Bureau Disappears

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 25 (AP)—William N. Oatis, chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Czechoslovakia, disappeared Monday and the U. S. Embassy in Prague fears he is under arrest.

The embassy requested today that the Communist government investigate "on the most urgent basis possible." Embassy Counsellor Tyler Thompson took personal charge of efforts to trace Oatis.

Conferees Fix Draft Term At 24 Months

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Length of service for draftees was fixed at 24 months — three more than at present — in a decision today by Senate and House conferees working on a compromise of conflicting bills.

In passing separate measures, the Senate approved 24 months and the House 26. The Defense Department sought approval of 27 months.

Defense Buildup Pleases Wilson

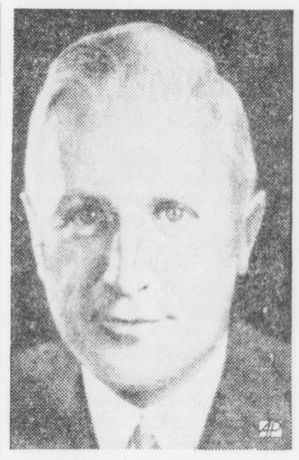
WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson said today if this country can stall off a decision by Stalin to attack until 1953 "he'll be a dead duck if he does (then) and he knows it."

Wilson said the nation's mobilization program is beginning to roll in high gear and "it would take the State of Texas to store the stuff coming off our production lines by 1953."

Speaking to regional officials of the Office of Price Stabilization, here for a two-day conference, Wilson said:

"If we could have taken Stalin and Malik (Soviet representatives to the United Nations) with us and could have shown him some new weapons we saw yesteday, there would be no fear at all of an all out third world war."

Wilson disclosed that he was at Wright Field in Dayton, Ohio.



RESIGNS — W. H. Harrison (above) resigned yesterday as defense production chief, effective May 1. He will return to the presidency of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Johnston Okays Rail Wage Hike Over 10% Ceiling

Stabilizer's Action Poses Two Questions

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — The government poked a hole in its own wage ceiling today.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston approved a six-cent hourly increase for 1,000,000 non-operating railroad workers to offset a cost of living rise.

They would have been entitled to only two or three cents if the government's 10 per cent ceiling on wage increases had been applied tightly.

But an "escalator" clause in their contract called for the six cents, because living costs had gone up.

Johnston Bows To Panel

Johnston bowed to the arguments of a three-man panel that collective bargaining in the railroad industry is "unique" and requires special handling. It takes longer to negotiate a contract because of "lengthy and cumbersome" procedures of the Railway Labor Act, said the panel, which was appointed by Johnston at President Truman's suggestion.

The 1,000,000 non-operating workers — clerks, mechanics, etc. — will begin receiving their six-cent hike next month.

The railoads estimate that the six-cent increase will cost them $129,600,000 a year.

Action Poses Two Questions

The Johnston action, first in which he has permitted a boost above the 10 per cent allowed under the stabilization formula, poses two immediate questions:

1. How will it affect the wage-hours dispute of the four operating railroad unions—the firemen, engineers, conductors, and trainmen, who are still deadlocked after two years of trying to negotiate contracts?

2. How will it affect other wage cases awaiting the establishment of a new Wage Stabilization Board?

Britain Is Assured U. S. Raw Materials

LONDON, April 25 (AP) — The British Labor government, shaken by left-wing thunderings, called for American help today to check a raw materials crisis threatening the nation's economy. The call got a prompt response in Washington.

U. S. Secretary of State Acheson pledged at a Washington news conference that the United States will take "full account of essential needs" of friendly nations in allocating scarce raw materials. The United States will go on pressing for increased production and for efficient use of existing stocks, Acheson said.

Enemy Seizes Town 21 Miles From Capital

Communist Drive Stalled In Center

TOKYO, Thursday, April 26 (AP)—Chinese Reds poured fresh troops into their Western Korea offensive today and forced new Allied withdrawals toward Seoul along a 30-mile sector.

The Communists captured Munsan, 21 miles northwest of Seoul. Munsan is 10 miles south of the 38th parallel on a main highway to Seoul.

An overrun Allied unit was reported fighting its way out of a trap with the aid of tanks that made a rescue linkup. Details were lacking but a field dispatch reported the rescue effort was succeeding.

The five-day-old Red offensive apparently had run out of steam in Central Korea. And everywhere the Reds were paying a terrific price.

They lost 7,095 men in killed and wounded by ground action alone yesterday and 1,000 or more were cut down by Allied planes—boosting the Communist casualties well past 25,000 since the big offensive started Sunday.

Reinforced Reds pounded their way seven miles south of the 38th parallel in the west. That put them within 20 miles of Seoul, war-ravaged capital already being deserted by civilians.

Allies Toss Counter-Punches

In the mountainous center, where the Reds had blasted a gaping hole, fresh Allied troops not only sealed it but dealt armored counter-punches.

Field dispatches today said there appeared to be on immediate threat of more Red breakthroughs anywhere across the 100-mile front.

The Allies were reported making planned withdrawals under cover of thunderous artillery barrages. This has been described by Army officers as "rolling with the punch" every day since the Reds first struck.

Today's Eighth Army communique emphasized that heavy losses were being inflicted on the Reds everywhere the opposing forces were in contact.

But the Reds kept coming, heedless of losses. Five trains and 1,400 trucks were spotted rolling southward into the Red lines.

A field dispatch said that possibly half of 33 Chinese Red divisions which struck in Western Korea were badly mauled.

Van Fleet Confident

AP Correspondent Jim Becker, on the central front, reported an Allied tank-infantry column lunged back at the Reds pouring down northwest of Chunchon, the road and rail center 45 air miles northeast of Seoul.

The task force swept to within six miles of parallel 38, mowed down the Reds and then returned to U. N. lines after running out of

Bargain Sales Of Ships Rapped

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Sen. Williams (R-Del) charged in a Senate speech today that the taxpayer has been played for "a sucker" in bargain sales of merchant ships built at government expense.

He said ships built at a cost of millions have been sold for as little as $17,000 apiece since World War II and that Congress now is being asked to "rebuild the American merchant marine from what the sponsors describe as a dangerously low level."

"The responsibility for these ships having been sold at ridiculously low bargain prices rests squarely upon the members of Congress who voted for the authorization," Williams said, "and the President of the United States who recommended it."

The Delaware Senator said the government since 1946 has sold as surplus 1,956 ships of more than 1,500 gross tons at "a loss of over $2,800,000,000." He computed the loss by comparing the $4,561,020,140 construction costs of the vessels with the $2,841,614,364 sale price.

3,000,000 Will Give "Mac" Whopping Chicago Ovation

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP) — Millions from Chicago and the Midwest are expected to turn out tomorrow to show Gen. MacArthur he hasn't started fading away in their minds.

Chicago is planning for possibly the greatest demonstration in its history to welcome the five-star General on his first visit to the Midwest since his return to the United States last week.

Some are calling it D (for Doug) Day. The city will go on a virtual holiday footing. Officials are preparing for a turnout of 3,000,000 spectators.

A double barreled celebration has been arranged. In the afternoon there will be a 23-mile parade from the airport to the Loop and through the business district. At night, a mammoth jamboree and fireworks display will be held in Soldier Field.

Gen. MacArthur is due to arrive at Midway Airport from New York in his plane "Bataan" at 12:30 p.m., accompanied by Mrs. MacArthur and their son, Arthur, 13. The General is expected to speak briefly on his arrival and to deliver a talk at the Soldier Field jamboree.

His Soldier Field talk has been billed as "not a major policy speech."

Some are calling it D (for Doug) Day. The city will go on a virtual holiday footing. Officials are preparing for a turnout of 3,000,000 spectators.

A double barreled celebration has been arranged. In the afternoon there will be a 23-mile parade from the airport to the Loop and through the business district. At night, a mammoth jamboree and fireworks display will be held in Soldier Field.

Gen. MacArthur is due to arrive at Midway Airport from New York in his plane "Bataan" at 12:30 p.m., accompanied by Mrs. MacArthur and their son, Arthur, 13. The General is expected to speak briefly on his arrival and to deliver a talk at the Soldier Field jamboree.

His Soldier Field talk has been billed as "not a major policy speech."

Chief Of Czech AP Bureau Disappears

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 25 (AP)—William N. Oatis, chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Czechoslovakia, disappeared Monday and the U. S. Embassy in Prague fears he is under arrest.

The embassy requested today that the Communist government investigate "on the most urgent basis possible." Embassy Counsellor Tyler Thompson took personal charge of efforts to trace Oatis.

Administration Plans To Ask Authority For Year-At-A-Time Freeze On Farm Parity Prices

Truman, In Special Message Today, Will Request Other New Anti-Inflation Powers

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Legislators said tonight the Truman administration plans to ask Congress tomorrow for authority to put a year-at-a-time freeze on farm parity prices in a new move to hold food costs down.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC), who attended a meeting today with President Truman and his top mobilization command, said the administration also will ask:

1—Tighter rent controls, including ceilings on rents for commercial property.

2—Subsidies on some imports, perhaps including coffee. (subsidies are payments by the government of part of the cost in order to hold down the retail price to consumers.)

3—"Probably" some new restrictions on credit, in addition to the installment buying and other curbs already in force.

Truman Plans Special Message

Such new anti-inflation powers will be asked by the President in a special message proposing extension of the Defense Production Act, which expires in June. It is under this law that the government has imposed wage and price controls and other economic curbs in the past year.

At present, the law says price ceilings on farm products must not be fixed below parity—a shifting price that rises and falls with the cost of things farmers have to buy.

These parity figures are fixed monthly. Maybank said that Mr. Truman now proposes to set a parity price at the beginning of a crop year and keep it there for the whole of that year.

W. H. Harrison Resigns

Thus if the parity price of wheat, for example, were set at $2.50 a bushel, price officials could impose a $2.50 ceiling and wheat couldn't legally be sold for more than that during the next 12 months.

If the parity price should work out to $2.60, for instance, at the end of the year, then the ceiling would have to be raised.

In another mobilization development today, W. H. Harrison resigned as defense production chief, reporting to the President that the rearmament program is well started and making "sound progress."

Harrison said there are "compelling personal reasons" for his resignation, effective May 1. He will return to the presidency of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Jet Engines Made In Britain Power MIGs, Brown Says

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Rep. Brown (R-Ohio) said today enemy MIG planes shot down in Korea have been powered by jet engines made in Great Britain.

During a House Rules Committee hearing on a bill to provide food aid for India, Brown said he was informed by a man on Gen. MacArthur's staff that every enemy MIG plane shot down and examined was found to have British-made jet engines. He did not further identify the source of his information.

The Air Force commented, "as far as is known no MIG 15 aircraft shot down in Korea have been recovered by United Nations forces."

Director Dmytryk Breaks His Silence

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Screen Director Edward Dmytryk, breaking a silence which sent him to jail in 1950, said today that Communism has tried to capture Hollywood through the guilds and unions there.

He reappeared before the House Un-American Activities Committee to present a detailed picture of Red infiltration in the American movie capital.

The Communist Party moved into Hollywood for three main reasons, Dmytryk testified.

He said first it wanted to tap the big Hollywood incomes, and that it established a "tithing system" to take a percentage of the salaries of its well-paid members there.

Secondly, he said, it wanted the prestige of a strong Hollywood chapter.

But "most important," Dmytryk testified, was the party's determination to "control the content of motion pictures" by taking over the writing and acting guilds and the unions.

The last time Dmytryk appeared before the committee he refused to talk about Communism in Hollywood, invoking the first constitutional amendment, which guarantees freedom of speech and belief.

But Dmytryk, who once commanded a salary of $2,500 a week, went to jail with nine other Hollywood figures for contempt of Congress. He served a six-month sentence.

Today the attitude of the 42-year-old, Canadian-born, film boss was different.

He admitted to the committee that he had been a member of the Communist Party briefly in 1944-45. Since then, he said, events have convinced him that Communists are "treasonable."

"I am willing to talk," Dmytryk said. He then proceeded to do so for several hours.

Rapidly Dmytryk outlined the Reds' Hollywood campaign. He said they hoped to have the CIO come in and take over all Hollywood's guilds and unions.

Regardless of the progress Communism made in Hollwood, Dmytryk said, the party failed to exercise much influence in film production.

Conferees Fix Draft Term At 24 Months

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Length of service for draftees was fixed at 24 months — three more than at present — in a decision today by Senate and House conferees working on a compromise of conflicting bills.

In passing separate measures, the Senate approved 24 months and the House 26. The Defense Department sought approval of 27 months.

RESIGNS — W. H. Harrison (above) resigned yesterday as defense production chief, effective May 1. He will return to the presidency of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Johnston Okays Rail Wage Hike Over 10% Ceiling

Stabilizer's Action Poses Two Questions

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — The government poked a hole in its own wage ceiling today.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston approved a six-cent hourly increase for 1,000,000 non-operating railroad workers to offset a cost of living rise.

They would have been entitled to only two or three cents if the government's 10 per cent ceiling on wage increases had been applied tightly.

Johnston Bows To Panel

Johnston bowed to the arguments of a three-man panel that collective bargaining in the railroad industry is "unique" and requires special handling. It takes longer to negotiate a contract because of "lengthy and cumbersome" procedures of the Railway Labor Act, said the panel, which was appointed by Johnston at President Truman's suggestion.

The 1,000,000 non-operating workers — clerks, mechanics, etc. — will begin receiving their six-cent hike next month.

The railoads estimate that the six-cent increase will cost them $129,600,000 a year.

Action Poses Two Questions

The Johnston action, first in which he has permitted a boost above the 10 per cent allowed under the stabilization formula, poses two immediate questions:

1. How will it affect the wage-hours dispute of the four operating railroad unions—the firemen, engineers, conductors, and trainmen, who are still deadlocked after two years of trying to negotiate contracts?

2. How will it affect other wage cases awaiting the establishment of a new Wage Stabilization Board?

Defense Buildup Pleases Wilson

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson said today if this country can stall off a decision by Stalin to attack until 1953 "he'll be a dead duck if he does (then) and he knows it."

Wilson said the nation's mobilization program is beginning to roll in high gear and "it would take the State of Texas to store the stuff coming off our production lines by 1953."

Speaking to regional officials of the Office of Price Stabilization, here for a two-day conference, Wilson said:

"If we could have taken Stalin and Malik (Soviet representatives to the United Nations) with us and could have shown him some new weapons we saw yesteday, there would be no fear at all of an all out third world war."

Wilson disclosed that he was at Wright Field in Dayton, Ohio.

Britain Is Assured U. S. Raw Materials

LONDON, April 25 (AP) — The British Labor government, shaken by left-wing thunderings, called for American help today to check a raw materials crisis threatening the nation's economy. The call got a prompt response in Washington.

U. S. Secretary of State Acheson pledged at a Washington news conference that the United States will take "full account of essential needs" of friendly nations in allocating scarce raw materials. The United States will go on pressing for increased production and for efficient use of existing stocks, Acheson said.

Caldwell Says Russia Could Destroy Major U. S. Cities

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—The nation's civil defense leader said today Russia has the atom bombs and planes "to assault all our major cities in one attack."

Millard Caldwell, federal civil defense administrator, urged American newspapers to take quick steps to educate the nation on personal survival under a-bomb attack.

"The brutal truth is that we are confronted with the crisis of crises x x x," Caldwell said in a message read to the 65th annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

"We know that a war may be in the offing. We know that Russia has the planes and bombs to make shambles and slaughter-houses of our major cities."

"Even rudimentary public education on what to do in an atomic attack will save countless casualties," Caldwell said.

"It is in this time before an attack," he continued, "where we can make or break our will to survive, sharply reduce the number of casualties and preclude any major panic situation if atomic bombs fall on our cities and our people."

Cranston Williams, ANPA general manager, read Caldwell's message to a general meeting of about 1,200 publishers and newspaper executives.

Communist Drive Stalled In Center

TOKYO, Thursday, April 26 (AP)—Chinese Reds poured fresh troops into their Western Korea offensive today and forced new Allied withdrawals toward Seoul along a 30-mile sector.

The Communists captured Munsan, 21 miles northwest of Seoul. Munsan is 10 miles south of the 38th parallel on a main highway to Seoul.

An overrun Allied unit was reported fighting its way out of a trap with the aid of tanks that made a rescue linkup. Details were lacking but a field dispatch reported the rescue effort was succeeding.

The five-day-old Red offensive apparently had run out of steam in Central Korea. And everywhere the Reds were paying a terrific price.

They lost 7,095 men in killed and wounded by ground action alone yesterday and 1,000 or more were cut down by Allied planes—boosting the Communist casualties well past 25,000 since the big offensive started Sunday.

Reinforced Reds pounded their way seven miles south of the 38th parallel in the west. That put them within 20 miles of Seoul, war-ravaged capital already being deserted by civilians.

Allies Toss Counter-Punches

In the mountainous center, where the Reds had blasted a gaping hole, fresh Allied troops not only sealed it but dealt armored counter-punches.

Field dispatches today said there appeared to be on immediate threat of more Red breakthroughs anywhere across the 100-mile front.

The Allies were reported making planned withdrawals under cover of thunderous artillery barrages. This has been described by Army officers as "rolling with the punch" every day since the Reds first struck.

Today's Eighth Army communique emphasized that heavy losses were being inflicted on the Reds everywhere the opposing forces were in contact.

But the Reds kept coming, heedless of losses. Five trains and 1,400 trucks were spotted rolling southward into the Red lines.

A field dispatch said that possibly half of 33 Chinese Red divisions which struck in Western Korea were badly mauled.

Van Fleet Confident

AP Correspondent Jim Becker, on the central front, reported an Allied tank-infantry column lunged back at the Reds pouring down northwest of Chunchon, the road and rail center 45 air miles northeast of Seoul.

The task force swept to within six miles of parallel 38, mowed down the Reds and then returned to U. N. lines after running out of

Bargain Sales Of Ships Rapped

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Sen. Williams (R-Del) charged in a Senate speech today that the taxpayer has been played for "a sucker" in bargain sales of merchant ships built at government expense.

He said ships built at a cost of millions have been sold for as little as $17,000 apiece since World War II and that Congress now is being asked to "rebuild the American merchant marine from what the sponsors describe as a dangerously low level."

"The responsibility for these ships having been sold at ridiculously low bargain prices rests squarely upon the members of Congress who voted for the authorization," Williams said, "and the President of the United States who recommended it."

The Delaware Senator said the government since 1946 has sold as surplus 1,956 ships of more than 1,500 gross tons at "a loss of over $2,800,000,000." He computed the loss by comparing the $4,561,020,140 construction costs of the vessels with the $2,841,614,364 sale price.

Hundreds See Navy Trainer, Airliner Meet

Disaster Strikes At Key West, Fla.

KEY WEST, Fla., April 25 (AP)—A big Cuban airliner and a small U. S. Navy plane collided with explosive force over Key West today and spun into the sea, carrying 43 people to their deaths.

Water splashed 50 feet into the air as the transport, with 34 passengers and five crewmen, nosedived with a terrific bang into 20 feet of water.

The Navy plane went to pieces as it fell and crashed into the ocean two miles west of the transport. It carried a four-man crew.

Hundreds of sunbathers saw the planes meet at 4,000 feet altitude with a noise that resembled an explosion. Eyewitnesses at first believed that the Navy plane had blown up while flying alongside the liner.

The four-engined transport, operated by Compania Cubana De Aviacion, left Miami bound for Havana at 11:03 a. m. (EST) with a passenger load that included 25 Americans.

The collision occurred about 11:45 a. m.

19 Bodies Recovered

It went into a tight spiral, the Faraldos related, but the pilot managed to pull out with full power. Then it went into a straight nosedive. As it crashed, water spewed so high into the air they could see it over the treetops at the airport.

The brothers took off in their own plane and were the first to fly over the scene. They said they saw a dozen bodies and parts of bodies on the surface but no wreckage. They dropped life preservers and a dye marker to guide rescue boats.

At 5 p. m., Lt. Clemons C. Pearson, commander of the Coast Guard station here, said 19 bodies had been recovered but only nine identified. The condition of some of the bodies, he said, made identification very difficult.

"It was a gruesome mess," Pearson said.

Most of the bodies were recovered by Navy divers. After the 19 had been sent ashore, diving operations were halted and efforts were started to raise the wreckage of the big plane to the surface.

Wreckage Raised To Surface

The rescue operations in warm, bright sunshine were clearly visible from the public beach. A long pier juts out from the beach and townspeople walked out on it to watch the activity.

As the bodies were brought in, they were put ashore at the same dock where President Truman's yacht, the Williamsburg, usually docks when he comes here on vacation. The area was blocked off from spectators and guarded by white-helmeted police carrying carbines.

Shortly before dark, divers got hooks on the wreckage of the transport and it was being raised to the

Administration Plans To Ask Authority For Year-At-A-Time Freeze On Farm Parity Prices

Truman, In Special Message Today, Will Request Other New Anti-Inflation Powers

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—Legislators said tonight the Truman administration plans to ask Congress tomorrow for authority to put a year-at-a-time freeze on farm parity prices in a new move to hold food costs down.

Sen. Maybank (D-SC), who attended a meeting today with President Truman and his top mobilization command, said the administration also will ask:

Stopgap Defense Funds Approved By House Group

Army Will Cut June Draft Call To 20,000

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—A $6,468,206,000 emergency bill to pay the costs of the stepped-up war in Korea — and fuel the rearmament drive on other fronts—won approval by the House Appropriations Committee today.

It also disclosed that the Army plans to cut its June draft call to 20,000 men and bring home upwards of 20,000 battle-tired veterans from Korea each month, starting in May.

In May and June, the Army expects to recall 15,000 reserve officers to active service. They will help train an Army expected to total 1,552,000 men on June 30.

These figures were given by top Army spokesmen to the Appropriations Committee in closed hearings earlier this month.

Funds For "Project X"

The committee made them public as it stamped approval on the emergency funds bill, which includes $46,800,000 for a top secret "Project X" which the Atomic Energy Commission is in a hurry to carry out.

Details of the secret project were given to the committee off the record and none were made public. The committee obviously agreed that it was necessary and urgent because it voted every cent asked.

The committee now is ready to start work on the regular military budget for the fiscal year starting July 1.

It will be a whopping amount. Military spokesmen say it may come close to $80,000,000,000. The Appropriations Committee hopes to keep it nearer $70,000,000,000.

Draft Call Cut In Half

Army officials said the 20,000 draft call in June—it had been expected to be 40,000 — was made possible chiefly by a rush of voluntary enlistments, lower battle losses in Korea than had been feared, and an "Overdelivery" of draftees in the past.

As for bringing veterans home from Korea, the Army said it hopes to return 20,000 men in May, another 20,000 in June and 25,000 a month after that.

"All-Out" Probe Of Foreign, Military Policies Demanded By Senate GOP Policy Group

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—The Senate Republican Policy Committee called today for an "all-out" investigation of foreign and military policies linked with the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Chairman Taft (R-Ohio) told reporters the GOP group wants an inquiry into policies as far back as the 1945 Yalta conference, with special emphasis on what he called the administration's "encouragement of Chinese Communists."

To get such an inquiry, Taft said, the Republicans will hold in abeyance a resolution by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) for a joint Senate-House investigation while they watch developments in hearings to be opened May 3 by the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees.

MacArthur will be the first witness and Taft said the Republicans will demand that the hearings be public. Sen. Russell (D-Ga), chairman of the two-committee inquiry, has said he'd rather the hearings would be closed.

In New York, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's spokesman, said the five-star General has no objection to public hearings or to being televised.

Taft said the Republicans will ask Russell to add four members of the Senate Appropriations subcommittee, dealing with armed services affairs, to the present 26-member Armed Services-Foreign Relations group.

Russell told reporters tonight he is "unalterably opposed" to public hearings and to adding to the size of the committee.

"I think the American people prefer facts to entertainment, however delectable—to entertainment over the radio and television," the Georgia Senator said. "It is inconceivable to me that there can be any questioning in public hearings without running into military security.

"One unguarded statement might mean the lives of several thousand boys in Korea."

Russell said that if MacArthur wants to make a general statement in a public hearing, and then submit to questioning behind closed doors, he would consider doing it that way.

The White House said today that telegrams received by the President since his ouster of MacArthur have run about 58 per cent against him and 42 per cent in his support. The mail response shows "a 50-50 break," Presidential Secretary Joseph Short said.

"Later telegrams are running about 3 to 1 in favor of the President's action," Short said.

Gromyko Attempts To Scare Allies

PARIS, April 25 (AP)—Soviet Russia's Andrei Gromyko told western deputies here tonight that "there will not be enough room in Korea for the white crosses over the tombs of the interventionists troops" unless United Nations forces are withdrawn.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister was quoted as telling the West at another deadlocked session of the conference that the way to end the Korean war is for the U. N. troops to go home.

New RFC Probe Bid Sent Dawson

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Presidential Aide Donald Dawson got a second and stronger bid today to testify before a Senate subcommittee investigating the Reconstruction Finance Corporation

Dawson was named by the committee several months ago as one of a group which allegedly had influence over the RFC in the granting of large loans to private industry.

He was invited to meet with the Senate's Banking subcommittee last Feb. 24, but did not appear.

Today Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) announced he had "requested" Dawson to appear May 10 and in a letter gave him until April 30 to acknowledge the "request." Fulbright said the committee "now feels that it would be necessary to have your testimony in order to complete its hearings."

When the committee made its report accusing Dawson, President Truman labeled the charges asinine and said he did not think it was necessary for his lieutenant to testify.

Defense Buildup Pleases Wilson

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson said today if this country can stall off a decision by Stalin to attack until 1953 "he'll be a dead duck if he does (then) and he knows it."

Wilson said the nation's mobilization program is beginning to roll in high gear and "it would take the State of Texas to store the stuff coming off our production lines by 1953."

Speaking to regional officials of the Office of Price Stabilization, here for a two-day conference, Wilson said:

"If we could have taken Stalin and Malik (Soviet representatives to the United Nations) with us and could have shown him some new weapons we saw yesteday, there would be no fear at all of an all out third world war."

Wilson disclosed that he was at Wright Field in Dayton, Ohio.

Britain Is Assured U. S. Raw Materials

LONDON, April 25 (AP) — The British Labor government, shaken by left-wing thunderings, called for American help today to check a raw materials crisis threatening the nation's economy. The call got a prompt response in Washington.

U. S. Secretary of State Acheson pledged at a Washington news conference that the United States will take "full account of essential needs" of friendly nations in allocating scarce raw materials. The United States will go on pressing for increased production and for efficient use of existing stocks, Acheson said.

Bargain Sales Of Ships Rapped

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Sen. Williams (R-Del) charged in a Senate speech today that the taxpayer has been played for "a sucker" in bargain sales of merchant ships built at government expense.

He said ships built at a cost of millions have been sold for as little as $17,000 apiece since World War II and that Congress now is being asked to "rebuild the American merchant marine from what the sponsors describe as a dangerously low level."

"The responsibility for these ships having been sold at ridiculously low bargain prices rests squarely upon the members of Congress who voted for the authorization," Williams said, "and the President of the United States who recommended it."

The Delaware Senator said the government since 1946 has sold as surplus 1,956 ships of more than 1,500 gross tons at "a loss of over $2,800,000,000." He computed the loss by comparing the $4,561,020,140 construction costs of the vessels with the $2,841,614,364 sale price.

3,000,000 Will Give "Mac" Whopping Chicago Ovation

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP) — Millions from Chicago and the Midwest are expected to turn out tomorrow to show Gen. MacArthur he hasn't started fading away in their minds.

Chicago is planning for possibly the greatest demonstration in its history to welcome the five-star General on his first visit to the Midwest since his return to the United States last week.

Some are calling it D (for Doug) Day. The city will go on a virtual holiday footing. Officials are preparing for a turnout of 3,000,000 spectators.

A double barreled celebration has been arranged. In the afternoon there will be a 23-mile parade from the airport to the Loop and through the business district. At night, a mammoth jamboree and fireworks display will be held in Soldier Field.

Gen. MacArthur is due to arrive at Midway Airport from New York in his plane "Bataan" at 12:30 p.m., accompanied by Mrs. MacArthur and their son, Arthur, 13. The General is expected to speak briefly on his arrival and to deliver a talk at the Soldier Field jamboree.

His Soldier Field talk has been billed as "not a major policy speech."

Chief Of Czech AP Bureau Disappears

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 25 (AP)—William N. Oatis, chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Czechoslovakia, disappeared Monday and the U. S. Embassy in Prague fears he is under arrest.

The embassy requested today that the Communist government investigate "on the most urgent basis possible." Embassy Counsellor Tyler Thompson took personal charge of efforts to trace Oatis.

Conferees Fix Draft Term At 24 Months

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — Length of service for draftees was fixed at 24 months — three more than at present — in a decision today by Senate and House conferees working on a compromise of conflicting bills.

In passing separate measures, the Senate approved 24 months and the House 26. The Defense Department sought approval of 27 months.

Caldwell Says Russia Could Destroy Major U. S. Cities

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—The nation's civil defense leader said today Russia has the atom bombs and planes "to assault all our major cities in one attack."

Millard Caldwell, federal civil defense administrator, urged American newspapers to take quick steps to educate the nation on personal survival under a-bomb attack.

"The brutal truth is that we are confronted with the crisis of crises x x x," Caldwell said in a message read to the 65th annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

"We know that a war may be in the offing. We know that Russia has the planes and bombs to make shambles and slaughter-houses of our major cities."

"Even rudimentary public education on what to do in an atomic attack will save countless casualties," Caldwell said.

"It is in this time before an attack," he continued, "where we can make or break our will to survive, sharply reduce the number of casualties and preclude any major panic situation if atomic bombs fall on our cities and our people."

Cranston Williams, ANPA general manager, read Caldwell's message to a general meeting of about 1,200 publishers and newspaper executives.

Three Youths Sentenced To Training School

Two 15-year-old parolees accused of stealing at least three motor vehicles were sentenced to the Maryland Training School for Boys yesterday in Juvenile Court.

The pair, Joseph Riggleman and Richard Kearchner, both of Princeton Street, were returned to Cumberland Tuesday night from Bedford, Pa., where they stole an automobile Monday. The two youths were paroled several weeks ago for starting grass fires here.

A third Cumberland youth with them was paroled as he allegedly was not involved in the theft of a truck and a car, the latter from Hagerstown.

Detective Thomas J. See said Riggleman and Kearchner admitted taking the 1937 truck of Walter Miller, 629 Shade's Lane, Sunday. Later the vehicle was recovered by the owner.

Sometime Monday, the pair hitchhiked to Hagerstown and stole the car of Cecil Brock, 216 South Prospect Square there. They drove the machine to Cumberland and abandoned it on a road off Leiper Street. Clothing and other articles in the car were scattered about the ground and a suitcase was found hidden in nearby brush.

All three youths reportedly hitchhiked to Bedford Tuesday to steal a convertible owned by John Harclerode of the Allis-Chalmers Sales Agency. They were picked up in Windber, Pa., after police became suspicious at the sight of a 14-year-old at the wheel of the car.

The convertible was taken from in front of a Bedford house occupied by two state policemen.

Liquor Board Will Begin Hearings On Applications

The annual trek to the Allegany County Court House for alcoholic beverage licenses will commence today.

The Allegany County Liquor Control Board reported a total of 350 applications have been received for all types of license. Of these 332 are renewals and 18 are new.

Today until noon, 2 beer, wine and liquor permits, all classes, will be issued in the main Circuit Court room on the second floor of the Court House.

This afternoon, beer and wine wine licenses, all classes, will be distributed. Friday, all day will be devoted to the issuing of beer licenses, both classes.*

Meanwhile, the board has received a remonstrance for the location of an off sale beer, wine and liquor package store on Virginia Avenue.

Thirteen remonstrants were represented by Earl E. Manges, in protesting the issuance of a permit to Lacy B. Cifala, 1011 Lafayette Avenue, and James H. Linn, 1892 Bedford Street.

The store would be connected with Lacy's Market, 1120 Virginia Avenue.

The petition declares the building is one and one-half blocks from John Humbird School; that children frequent the place now operated as a delicatessen and grocery store; that it is a short distance from three churches and the issuance of a package license to that location would be "against the public peace and general welfare of said neighborhood and to the character of its inhabitants."

The remonstrants reside on Mary and Elder Streets, and Virginia Avenue.

British Labor

Aneurin Bevan, whose resignation from the government is expected to precipitate a general British election soon, would have felt more at home in the British Labor party of a generation ago than he feels in the party of today. Bevan's trenchant socialism is of the variety that dominated the British labor movement politically in the old days of widespread unemployment, the "dole," and low wages, although it may have appealed little to the rank and file of the British Trades Union Congress. The Labor party structurally is the Trades Union Congress's political arm.

Bevan is the type of vehement Socialist found in the Independent Labor Party 20 or 30 years ago. The ILP was never very large, but it embraced individuals of high intellect who helped to orient British Labor toward socialism. Left-wing but non-Marxian, the ILP was often the tail that wagged the Labor party dog. For years its leader was J. Ramsay MacDonald, to become the first Socialist prime minister of Great Britain.

That left-wing British socialism lost influence from a number of causes. If you were a British Socialist who had come to detest Russian communism, you were inclined to shy away from all left wingism into moderate socialism. The first two Labor governments, both minority regimes under MacDonald, were restrained by the fact that they could be overthrown at any time the Conservatives and Liberals united against them in the House of Commons. And the third and present Labor government has had to deal with the liquidation of British investments abroad, the loss of foreign markets, and the huge debt, internal and external, that were a British legacy from World War II. The Independent Labor Party practically ceased to function after 1945.

"Nye" Bevan was muzzled by the Labor party strategists in the general election campaign of February, 1950. It was feared that his vehemence and intransigence (he recently referred to opponents as "vermin") would alienate many of the middle-class voters who had given the party its unexpectedly wide margin of victory in 1945. This relegation of Bevan to the background was largely the decision of Herbert Morrison, who planned and executed the party's campaign; and Morrison's recent elevation to foreign secretary must have made Bevan more restive than ever within the government.

Well, the party scraped through only by the skin of its teeth in February, 1950, and the heavy loss of Labor seats was blamed by Bevan's followers on their man's inactivity in the campaign. And it was remembered that Bevan had warned the party it would suffer if it held the election in 1950 instead of in 1949.

Bevan's great political assets are his sledge-hammer oratory and his vibrant personality. The middle-of-the-road Labor party leaders, now that "Ernie" Bevan is gone and Cripps is out with illness, are old, tired, colorless ("an empty limousine drove up and the Prime Minister stepped out").

Disintegration

The position of the United States in the Far East began to disintegrate the day General Douglas MacArthur left Japan. Nothing is heard now of a peace treaty with Japan. John Foster Dulles made a wild dash for Tokyo to confer with General MacArthur, but the latter had departed. Dulles has the State Department's version of a peace treaty in his pocket, but his exact whereabouts is unknown. He hasn't been able to get his name in the papers for days.

There have been reports of sabotage in the Japanese steel industry, presumably by pro-Stalin Japanese, since the General's departure. Observers who know the part played by General MacArthur in wiping out communism in Japan freely predict that a dangerous Red movement will soon be under way in Nippon.

London insistence that the Chinese Reds be given a part in drawing up a peace treaty with Japan has killed all chance of such a treaty being entered into now that MacArthur is no longer in Tokyo to battle such a damnable proposal.

London's views are fully shared by Acheson and the remainder of the pro-British—or worse—clique in the State Department. But the state of American opinion, as evidenced in the welcome to MacArthur, has caused them to defer attempting to put this part of Britain's proposals—removal of MacArthur was one—into effect at the moment.

Russia And Oil

Total world production of petroleum is approximately 10,500,000 barrels daily, of which the United States produces 52 per cent and Russia 8 per cent.

To engage in all-out, world-wide deviltry, Russia needs more oil. Current reports that Russia is infiltrating into Iran as a gateway to Asiatic oil are proof Russia has never forgotten that the Middle Asiatic fields produce 17 per cent of the world's oil, and can be made to produce more.

If Iranian oil were added to Russia's supply, the Soviet would not come near matching the United States, but there would be enough for a Russian war economy. This country's oil supply is supplemented by rich fields in Latin America, particularly Venezuela. Canada has also gained in importance as an oil producer.

Students of world strategy have long recognized the fact that if Russia is in earnest about world conquest, its first big step in that direction will be to assure itself of Asiatic oil resources.

A Soviet move into Iran will lead to other moves into Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, and Bahrein, the great producing fields of Asia, and will be a tip-off that Russia is determined to drive ahead to the end of the road.

School Of Experience

Experience is known to be a most expensive teacher, and if the lessons are muffed the cost goes up accordingly.

Last year Maine farmers dumped an estimated 7,000,000 bushels of potatoes, in spite of the fact there are millions of hungry people in the world who were not permitted to share in this surplus because of federal manipulation. The lesson, it might have been thought, was well learned.

This year those same farmers will dump, not 7,000,000 bushels, but 16,000,000, more than twice last year's waste.

Meanwhile, retail prices of potatoes remain at high levels, while in some countries food of any sort is almost impossible to obtain. In the face of these facts the government continues to destroy thousands of tons of the world's best potatoes.

To waste food is inexcusable. To destroy it in the face of world hunger is almost criminal.

How To Keep Well

By DR. T. R. VAN DELLEN

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Color And Expression In Illness

THE FACE mirrors the state of our health. It reflects pain, weakness, anxiety, depression, and even minor degrees of indisposition. Pallor may denote anemia, a bronzed hue accompanies Addison's disease, and when the skin and whites of the eyes are yellow we know that jaundice exists.

Pain is difficult to conceal, especially when severe. This is best observed in children who are uninhibited and less likely to put on an act so far as illness is concerned. They wrinkle the brow when the head hurts but adults are more inclined to hold the head, massage the eyeballs, and moan and groan. Pain in the chest is associated with suppressed breathing with dilation or sharpening of the nostrils. The upper lip is drawn in when the abdomen is causing distress. A typical expression is linked with adenoids. The open mouth and vacant expression detract from the appearance of the boy or girl. The cheeks and nasal bones are unduly prominent and the eyes look heavy and sunken.

The face always looks larger, although it is not, in a maniacal person or one who has had a stroke or convulsion. The same can be said of the victim of pneumonia or dropsy from a failing heart. The face appears smaller in those recovering from fever, exhaustive diarrhea, or a chronic chest condition such as tuberculosis.

We usually blame paleness on anemia but other disturbances produce a "peaked" expression. If an individual feels faint or becomes nauseated he becomes as white as a sheet. Dropsy, nephritis, cancer, and leukemia lead to a pasty color. A naturally fair complexion should not be mistaken for poor health or anemia but "office pallor" is a term applied to workers who spend too much time indoors. A ruddy complexion, on the other hand, may be misleading. This healthy bloom is seen in gout, high blood pressure, Bright's disease, and polycythemia (the disease in which there are too many red blood corpuscles). The flushed, tense fact and congested eyes of the typhus patient have led to such diagnostic terms as "bull face" and "rabbit eyes."

The facial expression changes when the thyroid is overactive or lazy. In the latter condition (hypothyroidism) a bloated, heavy look is common and the skin is thick, dry, and scaly. The eyelids may be so puffy that the victim is forced to view the outer world through tiny slits. In hyperthyroidism the eyes bulge and the expression is anxious and staring. The skin is flushed, warm, and moist; the lips quiver; the individual gives the expression that he is "all hipped up."

The deathly ill or thoroughly exhausted individual also has a characteristic expression (Hippocratic facies), the nose is pinched, the eyes are sunken and hollow, and the brow is knit and often covered with beads of perspiration. The skin is cold, tense, and dry; ashen is descriptive of its color.

TOMORROW: Special delivery.

IT WAS PAINFUL

Mrs. D. writes: You stated recently that a muscle biopsy does not hurt. I just had it done and all I can say is "ouch." I have been hobbling around since the test was done.

REPLY

You should know but the majority are not bothered in the least.

LATE COMER

SLIM writes: I'm a man of 37 and in good health but never indulged in sports. Do you think it possible or advisable to develop the muscles now through sports?

REPLY

Let well enough alone unless you have a good reason for becoming a muscleman.

GERM KILLERS

L. Z. writes: I have heard that certain drugs will kill germs but have no effect on parasites. Why is this?

REPLY

Would that we had a drug that would do away with all the parasites in the world. Remedies are selective; some affect one type of organism but not another. Penicillin, for example, subdues staphylococci and streptococci but has no effect on viruses such as those producing the common cold. Streptomycin is sometimes effective against the tubercle bacillus and the colon bacillus but has no effect on viral or rickettsial diseases. Aureomycin and chloromycetin are useful not only in bacterial diseases but in certain virus infections such as atypical pneumonia, and in some rickettsian infections. Antimalarial compounds are used against the parasites of malaria. Some day the ideal product will be worked out but until then we must be content with what we have.

SILVER THREADS

Mrs. W. writes: What is the proper age to start getting gray hair?

REPLY

When life begins—at 40. Unfortunately, life does not begin at 40 for many and neither does gray hair.

LOW BLOOD PRESSURE

Mrs. M. writes: Does hypotension cause an early change of life?

REPLY

No.

Putting His Head In

DREW PEARSON on—

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Some U. S. Documents Could Prove Almost Any Point; How Joint Chiefs—Men Of Varying Ages, Personalities—Reacted To MacArthur Proposals

WASHINGTON—When the Senate Armed Services Committee starts sorting out all the memos and telecom messages exchanged between the Pentagon and General MacArthur the public may become more confused than ever about who is right in the big debate.

For several documents and memos prepared during various phases of the Korean campaign—if set aside from the others—could be used to prove almost any point.

Furthermore, it was once a paradoxical fact that Secretary of State Acheson was much closer to General MacArthur's position re China than the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The wolf pack that always howls at Acheson's heels has been claiming he was responsible for MacArthur's ouster. However, the record shows first that this was not the case; second, that following MacArthur's disastrous retreat from North Korea in early December, Acheson favored severe punitive measures against China as an aggressor nation.

It was the Joint Chiefs of Staff at that time which vigorously disagreed both with Acheson and MacArthur. In fact, they favored pulling out of Korea altogether.

However, despite individual and sometimes confusing differences of opinion inside the Pentagon there appears to be no occasion when the Joint Chiefs of Staff actually went on record in favor of MacArthur's proposals to bomb Chinese bases and use Chiang Kai-Shek's troops.

MacArthur's Proposals

In order to get as clear a picture as possible regarding the working of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and their policy toward MacArthur, here is a breakdown on how the Joint Chiefs reacted to various of MacArthur's proposals:

BOMBING CHINESE BASES—The nearest the Joint Chiefs ever came to okaying MacArthur's proposed bombing of Chinese bases was on Feb. 28. Just before that date, MacArthur had sent a long report on enemy air strength now capable of 650 sorties daily. He reported certain strength building up in certain areas and in effect asked permission to bomb these bases.

Replying on Feb. 28, the Joint Chiefs gave MacArthur a set of five alternatives to counter the Chinese moves. Since these would be of value to the enemy, they cannot be described here. But in each of the five alternatives, MacArthur was instructed to take no action on the Chinese side of the Yalu River without reporting back to the Joint Chiefs for further instructions.

NAVAL BLOCKADE — Another question at issue in the Korean War has been a naval blockade of Chinese ports. On this, there was agreement. Both the Joint Chiefs and the State Department okayed a naval blockade but it was vetoed by our allies in the United Nations. This was one of the proposals for which Secretary Acheson fought hardest when Prime Minister Attlee visited Washington. However, Attlee flatly refused to approve any naval blockade of China.

HOT PURSUIT—Another point of agreement between MacArthur and the Joint Chiefs was the right of American planes to pursue Communist planes beyond the Chinese border when engaged in a running battle. This did not include the bombing of Chinese bases. Though the Joint Chiefs agreed to this, either the State Department or the National Security Council disapproved—I have not been able to ascertain which.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S TROOPS—This is the issue which MacArthur emphasized in his letter to ex-Speaker Joe Martin, the letter which culminated in MacArthur's dismissal. However, use of Chiang's troops never has been seriously considered by the Joint Chiefs.

General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, has argued that Chiang offered his troops chiefly for the purpose of getting them equipped—which would be terrifically expensive. Furthermore, Adm Forrest Sherman has pointed out that it would take an armada of American vessels to transport them to China.

Finally, the Joint Chiefs' study of Chiang's combat strength does not jibe with published claims of 600,000 men. According to Pentagon estimates it is nearer 250,000 men. It is also recalled that much of the military equipment we furnished Chiang during the war ended up in the hands of the Communists.

DIFFERENT PERSONALITIES—Those close to the Joint Chiefs of Staff point out that they are composed of four different men of varying ages and personalities. Gen. Joe Collins, for instance, chief of staff of the Army, was a lieutenant when MacArthur was a general. When Collins went to Tokyo he was technically MacArthur's superior, though he always addressed MacArthur as "General" while MacArthur called him "Joe."

Collins is the member of the Joint Chiefs who has agreed with MacArthur more than anyone else. He has expressed the private belief that Russia would not intervene if we bombed China, and is reported to have expressed oral agreement with MacArthur on various points during conferences in Tokyo.

Admiral Sherman, the chief of Naval Operations, on the other hand, has been flatly opposed to MacArthur's position, while General Bradley is almost as vigorous.

Bradley has said privately that if he were in MacArthur's shoes he would probably feel as he does. But, as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, he cannot agree, since he has to consider the entire world and how best to parcel out our limited strength.

The last thing Bradley wants, he has made it clear, is to get sucked into a war on the Chinese mainland.

NOTE — Pentagon observers believe MacArthur may have some of the tentative directives which are sent to different theatre commanders in advance for their comment. These do not become approved directives, however, until the Joint Chiefs have all the comment, can study them in the light of the overall picture and then issue them officially. There is a big difference between the studies of the Joint Chiefs and their final approved directives.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON— The state of disorganization and disunity in the American government today is indescribably tragic.

The lack of leadership is a manifest obstacle to cooperation even between those elements which favor the same international policy. The White House has failed signally to keep foreign policy out of politics and has accentuated a deep cleavage between the two major parties.

For, whether President Truman intended it or not, he has, in effect, decreed that the minority party in America must be prevented from knowing the facts about the government and particularly the facts about our war operations. Though it will be repeatedly denied, the truth is that the principal offense of General MacArthur was in answering a letter from Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin. Apparently members of the armed services hereafter must not answer any letters from Congress except those from Democrats.

Disregard of "Civil Authority"

Two Democratic senators—Douglas of Illinois and Lehman of New York—take the position that the letter which General MacArthur wrote in answer to one from Representative Martin was an act of military insubordination and was in disregard of the "civil authority" of the United States.

This is a strange view for two men to express who are supposed to be "liberals" and who spend a good deal of their time denouncing the Hitler and Stalin concept of a single political party. Evidently, as Senator Douglas told his constituents, General MacArthur had no right to reply to Mr. Martin's request for his views. Senator Lehman cites the letter to Martin specifically as a ground for dismissal of MacArthur and says thus the "civil authority was challenged."

Evidently the Congress of the United States is not a civil authority — or at least the Republican party isn't a part of it.

Yet in Korea the sons of Republicans are being killed, just as are the sons of Democrats.

There is no hope for unity when two important senators adopt the view that it is a violation of the military code of the United States to communicate with members of Congress who happen to be in the minority party and for the latter to make public the letters they write—not on military details, but on broad policy questions.

The letter to Representative Martin was a routine answeer to what appeared to be a routine inquiry. General MacArthur had said the same things publicly many times before and also in his official reports. But because the press emphasized the incident, President Truman chose to make an issue of it, though he could just as well have ignored the affair and sent for MacArthur so as to argue out the differences, if possible, in a personal conference.

What is more serious is that there are influential members of the Democratic party who actually believe that America today is and must be governed by a single person. They include in the power of the presidency the right to stifle discussion and they insist, in effect, that members of the armed services are not to be permitted to say anything publicly which is at variance with the "party line" as proclaimed by the President or his advisers.

GOP Should Accept Challenge

If the minority party has any assertiveness at all, it will accept the challenge and bring the real issue to the attention of the country. It concerns the fundamental right of the American people to get the truth of what is happening in the making of public policy.

The American people do not even know how MacArthur was dismissed and by whose recommendation. An effect has been made to give the impression that the Joint Chiefs did it. Actually Messrs. Acheson, Rusk and Harrison—the foreign-policy command—are primarily responsible for influencing the President to fire MacArthur forthwith. When the Congressional committees put every member of the Joint Chiefs on the stand, as they inevitably must, they will learn that there is no record of military insubordination and that differences of policy alone led to the political decision of Mr. Truman to make a change in command in the Far East.

It is because the Democrats have insisted on distorting the issue and have continually tried to pin a "warmonger" label on General MacArthur — very much as the Communists do to most Americans nowadays—that the bitterness on Capitol Hill is increasing instead of diminishing.

Matter Of Fact

American Failure

TEHERAN

HERE IN Teheran, where every incident of the current crisis is pregnant with menace of future disaster, this reporter is constantly reminded of a scene long past. The time was during the Iranian crisis of 1946; the place, the gloomy Secretary of State's chamber in the British Foreign Office; the speaker, old Ernest Bevin.

First Bevin disclosed that the British cabinet had just decided to occupy southern Iran if necessary, rather than let the Soviets seize the British oil resource through a puppet government—a fact worth remembering today. Then, haltingly, roughly, yet convincingly, he expounded a great scheme of social reform and economic improvement, to halt the progressive deterioration of the whole Middle Eastern structure.

But finally, with an air of deep discouragement, he abruptly dismissed the subject, saying, "the trouble is it would also cost money and I have no money to spend."

One suspects that this has been the real secret of the failure of British Middle policy in these last years—that the root cause has been the cruelly narrow margin of resources and power on which the British have had to operate since the war. At any rate, the British have certainly failed. Until the harsh shock of the Iranian vote for oil nationalization, the Foreign Office, despite Bevin's imaginative sense of the situation, permitted itself to be bullied by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. Until the same rude awakening, the officials of the Anglo-Iranian company talked smugly about the Iranians "coming to heel when they began to feel a pinch for cash." And so the match was lighted in the powder magazine.

But meanwhile, what of the United States, which has the margin of resources and power that Britain lacks? What is at stake here is not just a British oil company, but the whole Middle Eastern oil resource, the West's vital strategic position in the Middle East, and the world balance of power. An explosion here can defeat the whole policy which has already caused the American government to lay out so many billions in other parts of the world. Why then has American policy done nothing to guard against this Middle Eastern danger?

Many American Errors

Since 1945-46, when Iranians and most other Middle Easterners regarded America as their great hope and reliance, it is not too much to say that we have committed every error in this region that was possible to commit.

We have raised false hopes. Here in Iran, for example, former Ambassador George Allen spoke airily, during the 1946 crisis, of an American aid program of $250,000,000. Again, when the unfortunate Shah visited the United States, he seems to have been encouraged to suspect that he could arrange large American credits. Even the arrival of the present ambassador, Henry Grady, with the record of Greece behind him, aroused great expectations. But while billions have been poured out in Europe, no serious sums have been made available to safeguard this vital Middle Eastern flank of the West.

We have intervened in local politics, but have intervened fruitlessly. There is very little doubt that the influence of former Ambassador John Wiley had much to do with the choice of the late Gen. Razmara as Premier of Iran. (The British, who had another candidate, evidently accepted Razmara as second best.) Yet once Razmara had been installed, we gave him none of the active aid that might have made his effort a success.

Course Of Folly

We have not developed an independent policy, but we have not really worked with the British either. All our ambassadors in the Middle East are instructed that the area is primarily a British interest. But while this instruction has controlled the broad lines of our action, we have managed to create a damaging impression of Anglo-American disunity. For instance, instead of coming crudely to grips with the oil problem in London and keeping our mouths shut in Teheran, we have not insisted on our view in London, while American officials here have made a bad business worse by publicly criticizing the British attitude.

It would all be very different today, if in 1946, we had seized upon Ernest Bevin's scheme, which was independently originated at the State Department at that time by George Kennan and others. It would also be very different if the slightest attention had been paid to the anguished warning of our successive ambassadors, down to and conspicuously including Ambassador Grady. Until very recently, a very small American investment, plus an intelligent, determined and united application of American and British influence, would have been enough to reverse the whole trend here.

Instead, a course of feckless folly has brought us to a situation where the price to be paid will be considerable, and the risks to be run will be great, if serious action is to be taken to escape inevitable disaster.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Dollar Crisis

OLD Cappy Dollar was a patriarchical figure in the Far East, which he traveled most of his long life, and there was no more delightful moment than when a Dollar Line ship came into a port like Shanghai, bringing a load of Americans. In the very early days, many of us would go to the docks to see who was coming into port and what the news was from home.

The Dollar Line was founded in 1901 and prospered mightily. Then R. Stanley Dollar made the mistake of going to the government for help. The depression and the Pacific war hit the ships hard. On October 26, 1938, he put up 92 per cent of the stock of his company for a government loan, which consisted of $7,500,000 owed to the Maritime Commission and $4,500,000 of additional working capital.

One of the elements in the company's difficulties was that on June 30, 1937, the mail contracts were cancelled, and yet the Dollar Line was the only steamship company which was refused a subsidy in lieu of a mail contract, and that should have indicated to R. Stanley Dollar that it was desired to keep the lines broke.

On September 6, 1943, the Dollar Line (now called American President Lines) was able to pay $7,500,000, which was the part of its indebtedness to the government which it owed to the Maritime Commission. This debt being paid in full, Dollar asked for his pledged shares. The Maritime Commission, which exists to protect American shipping, refused to return the shares but sought to sell them to a syndicate headed by Charles U. Bay, now United States ambassador to Norway.

For six years, this case has been in litigation and recently a court held Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer in contempt for refusing to return the company to its rightful owners.

On April 7, 1947, the Supreme Court handed down the decision as to whether an American can sue the Maritime Commission in a matter involving a straight business deal. The Supreme Court gave an 8-0 decision to the effect that the Maritime Commission could be sued. Associate Justice William O. Douglas wrote the opinion, which said:

"If it is decided on the merits either that the contract was illegal or that the Dollar interests are pledgors, they are entitled to possession of the shares as against the government."

This did not satisfy the Administration, which obviously has no intention of returning this property to its owners. So the case goes in and out of court. On December 11, 1950, U. S. District Judge Matthew F. McGuire ordered the property returned to the Dollar interests. The Department of Commerce appealed. Some more litigation. On January 31, 1951, the United States Court of Appeals ordered the property returned to Dollar. Some more litigation.

On March 16, 1951, the case is back to Judge McGuire, who orders the property returned to R. Stanley Dollar; instructs Secretary of Commerce Sawyer to do the necessary.

So the Secretary of Commerce and the Department of Justice go in for litigation.

I do not want to go further in this repetitive business, except that it begins to look to me, as I read the record and the citation of the Secretary of Commerce for contempt, that this case is of the order of another mink coat in the White House.

When a man wins his case in the court, time after time, the Administration has no business trying every trick in the book to keep him from getting his property. The government should be neither a shylock nor a shyster. It should see that juistice is done.

It is disgraceful that any member of the Cabinet should have to be held in contempt for failure to carry out the mandate of the courts. This is no example for the rest of the country; yet this is the sort of operation that leads to a disrespect for law and for authority.

It is impossible to believe that this case involves more than that some politicians are interested in a plum and are doing everything possible to make expensive and trying litigation for a citizen so that he would settle a case in favor of the Administration or its favorites. But the ownership of property is to be determined by the courts, not by the fiat of administrative officials.

British Labor

Aneurin Bevan, whose resignation from the government is expected to precipitate a general British election soon, would have felt more at home in the British Labor party of a generation ago than he feels in the party of today. Bevan's trenchant socialism is of the variety that dominated the British labor movement politically in the old days of widespread unemployment, the "dole," and low wages, although it may have appealed little to the rank and file of the British Trades Union Congress. The Labor party structurally is the Trades Union Congress's political arm.

Bevan is the type of vehement Socialist found in the Independent Labor Party 20 or 30 years ago. The ILP was never very large, but it embraced individuals of high intellect who helped to orient British Labor toward socialism. Left-wing but non-Marxian, the ILP was often the tail that wagged the Labor party dog. For years its leader was J. Ramsay MacDonald, to become the first Socialist prime minister of Great Britain.

That left-wing British socialism lost influence from a number of causes. If you were a British Socialist who had come to detest Russian communism, you were inclined to shy away from all left wingism into moderate socialism. The first two Labor governments, both minority regimes under MacDonald, were restrained by the fact that they could be overthrown at any time the Conservatives and Liberals united against them in the House of Commons. And the third and present Labor government has had to deal with the liquidation of British investments abroad, the loss of foreign markets, and the huge debt, internal and external, that were a British legacy from World War II. The Independent Labor Party practically ceased to function after 1945.

"Nye" Bevan was muzzled by the Labor party strategists in the general election campaign of February, 1950. It was feared that his vehemence and intransigence (he recently referred to opponents as "vermin") would alienate many of the middle-class voters who had given the party its unexpectedly wide margin of victory in 1945. This relegation of Bevan to the background was largely the decision of Herbert Morrison, who planned and executed the party's campaign; and Morrison's recent elevation to foreign secretary must have made Bevan more restive than ever within the government.

Well, the party scraped through only by the skin of its teeth in February, 1950, and the heavy loss of Labor seats was blamed by Bevan's followers on their man's inactivity in the campaign. And it was remembered that Bevan had warned the party it would suffer if it held the election in 1950 instead of in 1949.

Bevan's great political assets are his sledge-hammer oratory and his vibrant personality. The middle-of-the-road Labor party leaders, now that "Ernie" Bevan is gone and Cripps is out with illness, are old, tired, colorless ("an empty limousine drove up and the Prime Minister stepped out").

Disintegration

The position of the United States in the Far East began to disintegrate the day General Douglas MacArthur left Japan. Nothing is heard now of a peace treaty with Japan. John Foster Dulles made a wild dash for Tokyo to confer with General MacArthur, but the latter had departed, Dulles has the State Department's version of a peace treaty in his pocket, but his exact whereabouts is unknown. He hasn't been able to get his name in the papers for days.

There have been reports of sabotage in the Japanese steel industry, presumably by pro-Stalin Japanese, since the General's departure. Observers who know the part played by General MacArthur in wiping out communism in Japan freely predict that a dangerous Red movement will soon be under way in Nippon.

London insistence that the Chinese Reds be given a part in drawing up a peace treaty with Japan has killed all chance of such a treaty being entered into now that MacArthur is no longer in Tokyo to battle such a damnable proposal.

London's views are fully shared by Acheson and the remainder of the pro-British—or worse—clique in the State Department. But the state of American opinion, as evidenced in the welcome to MacArthur, has caused them to defer attempting to put this part of Britain's proposals—removal of MacArthur was one—into effect at the moment.

Russia And Oil

Total world production of petroleum is approximately 10,500,000 barrels daily, of which the United States produces 52 per cent and Russia 8 per cent.

To engage in all-out, world-wide deviltry, Russia needs more oil. Current reports that Russia is infiltrating into Iran as a gateway to Asiatic oil are proof Russia has never forgotten that the Middle Asiatic fields produce 17 per cent of the world's oil, and can be made to produce more.

If Iranian oil were added to Russia's supply, the Soviet would not come near matching the United States, but there would be enough for a Russian war economy. This country's oil supply is supplemented by rich fields in Latin America, particularly Venezuela. Canada has also gained in importance as an oil producer.

Students of world strategy have long recognized the fact that if Russia is in earnest about world conquest, its first big step in that direction will be to assure itself of Asiatic oil resources.

A Soviet move into Iran will lead to other moves into Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, and Bahrein, the great producing fields of Asia, and will be a tip-off that Russia is determined to drive ahead to the end of the road.

School Of Experience

Experience is known to be a most expensive teacher, and if the lessons are muffed the cost goes up accordingly.

Last year Maine farmers dumped an estimated 7,000,000 bushels of potatoes, in spite of the fact there are millions of hungry people in the world who were not permitted to share in this surplus because of federal manipulation. The lesson, it might have been thought, was well learned.

This year those same farmers will dump, not 7,000,000 bushels, but 16,000,000, more than twice last year's waste.

Meanwhile, retail prices of potatoes remain at high levels, while in some countries food of any sort is almost impossible to obtain. In the face of these facts the government continues to destroy thousands of tons of the world's best potatoes.

To waste food is inexcusable. To destroy it in the face of world hunger is almost criminal.

Color And Expression In Illness

THE FACE mirrors the state of our health. It reflects pain, weakness, anxiety, depression, and even minor degrees of indisposition. Pallor may denote anemia, a bronzed hue accompanies Addison's disease, and when the skin and whites of the eyes are yellow we know that jaundice exists.

Pain is difficult to conceal, especially when severe. This is best observed in children who are uninhibited and less likely to put on an act so far as illness is concerned. They wrinkle the brow when the head hurts but adults are more inclined to hold the head, massage the eyeballs, and moan and groan. Pain in the chest is associated with suppressed breathing with dilation or sharpening of the nostrils. The upper lip is drawn in when the abdomen is causing distress. A typical expression is linked with adenoids. The open mouth and vacant expression detract from the appearance of the boy or girl. The cheeks and nasal bones are unduly prominent and the eyes look heavy and sunken.

The face always looks larger, although it is not, in a maniacal person or one who has had a stroke or convulsion. The same can be said of the victim of pneumonia or dropsy from a failing heart. The face appears smaller in those recovering from fever, exhaustive diarrhea, or a chronic chest condition such as tuberculosis.

We usually blame paleness on anemia but other disturbances produce a "peaked" expression. If an individual feels faint or becomes nauseated he becomes as white as a sheet. Dropsy, nephritis, cancer, and leukemia lead to a pasty color. A naturally fair complexion should not be mistaken for poor health or anemia but "office pallor" is a term applied to workers who spend too much time indoors. A ruddy complexion, on the other hand, may be misleading. This healthy bloom is seen in gout, high blood pressure, Bright's disease, and polycythemia (the disease in which there are too many red blood corpuscles). The flushed, tense fact and congested eyes of the typhus patient have led to such diagnostic terms as "bull face" and "rabbit eyes."

The facial expression changes when the thyroid is overactive or lazy. In the latter condition (hypothyroidism) a bloated, heavy look is common and the skin is thick, dry, and scaly. The eyelids may be so puffy that the victim is forced to view the outer world through tiny slits. In hyperthyroidism the eyes bulge and the expression is anxious and staring. The skin is flushed, warm, and moist; the lips quiver; the individual gives the expression that he is "all hipped up."

The deathly ill or thoroughly exhausted individual also has a characteristic expression (Hippocratic facies), the nose is pinched, the eyes are sunken and hollow, and the brow is knit and often covered with beads of perspiration. The skin is cold, tense, and dry; ashen is descriptive of its color.

Would that we had a drug that would do away with all the parasites in the world. Remedies are selective; some affect one type of organism but not another. Penicillin, for example, subdues staphylococci and streptococci but has no effect on viruses such as those producing the common cold. Streptomycin is sometimes effective against the tubercle bacillus and the colon bacillus but has no effect on viral or rickettsial diseases. Aureomycin and chloromycetin are useful not only in bacterial diseases but in certain virus infections such as atypical pneumonia, and in some rickettsian infections. Antimalarial compounds are used against the parasites of malaria. Some day the ideal product will be worked out but until then we must be content with what we have.

Putting His Head In

DREW PEARSON on—

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Some U. S. Documents Could Prove Almost Any Point; How Joint Chiefs—Men Of Varying Ages, Personalities—Reacted To MacArthur Proposals

WASHINGTON—When the Senate Armed Services Committee starts sorting out all the memos and telecom messages exchanged between the Pentagon and General MacArthur the public may become more confused than ever about who is right in the big debate.

For several documents and memos prepared during various phases of the Korean campaign—if set aside from the others—could be used to prove almost any point.

Furthermore, it was once a paradoxical fact that Secretary of State Acheson was much closer to General MacArthur's position re China than the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The wolf pack that always howls at Acheson's heels has been claiming he was responsible for MacArthur's ouster. However, the record shows first that this was not the case; second, that following MacArthur's disastrous retreat from North Korea in early December, Acheson favored severe punitive measures against China as an aggressor nation.

It was the Joint Chiefs of Staff at that time which vigorously disagreed both with Acheson and MacArthur. In fact, they favored pulling out of Korea altogether.

However, despite individual and sometimes confusing differences of opinion inside the Pentagon there appears to be no occasion when the Joint Chiefs of Staff actually went on record in favor of MacArthur's proposals to bomb Chinese bases and use Chiang Kai-Shek's troops.

MacArthur's Proposals

In order to get as clear a picture as possible regarding the working of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and their policy toward MacArthur, here is a breakdown on how the Joint Chiefs reacted to various of MacArthur's proposals:

BOMBING CHINESE BASES—The nearest the Joint Chiefs ever came to okaying MacArthur's proposed bombing of Chinese bases was on Feb. 28. Just before that date, MacArthur had sent a long report on enemy air strength now capable of 650 sorties daily. He reported certain strength building up in certain areas and in effect asked permission to bomb these bases.

Replying on Feb. 28, the Joint Chiefs gave MacArthur a set of five alternatives to counter the Chinese moves. Since these would be of value to the enemy, they cannot be described here. But in each of the five alternatives, MacArthur was instructed to take no action on the Chinese side of the Yalu River without reporting back to the Joint Chiefs for further instructions.

NAVAL BLOCKADE — Another question at issue in the Korean War has been a naval blockade of Chinese ports. On this, there was agreement. Both the Joint Chiefs and the State Department okayed a naval blockade but it was vetoed by our allies in the United Nations. This was one of the proposals for which Secretary Acheson fought hardest when Prime Minister Attlee visited Washington. However, Attlee flatly refused to approve any naval blockade of China.

HOT PURSUIT—Another point of agreement between MacArthur and the Joint Chiefs was the right of American planes to pursue Communist planes beyond the Chinese border when engaged in a running battle. This did not include the bombing of Chinese bases. Though the Joint Chiefs agreed to this, either the State Department or the National Security Council disapproved—I have not been able to ascertain which.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S TROOPS—This is the issue which MacArthur emphasized in his letter to ex-Speaker Joe Martin, the letter which culminated in MacArthur's dismissal. However, use of Chiang's troops never has been seriously considered by the Joint Chiefs.

General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, has argued that Chiang offered his troops chiefly for the purpose of getting them equipped—which would be terrifically expensive. Furthermore, Adm Forrest Sherman has pointed out that it would take an armada of American vessels to transport them to China.

Finally, the Joint Chiefs' study of Chiang's combat strength does not jibe with published claims of 600,000 men. According to Pentagon estimates it is nearer 250,000 men. It is also recalled that much of the military equipment we furnished Chiang during the war ended up in the hands of the Communists.

DIFFERENT PERSONALITIES—Those close to the Joint Chiefs of Staff point out that they are composed of four different men of varying ages and personalities. Gen. Joe Collins, for instance, chief of staff of the Army, was a lieutenant when MacArthur was a general. When Collins went to Tokyo he was technically MacArthur's superior, though he always addressed MacArthur as "General" while MacArthur called him "Joe."

Collins is the member of the Joint Chiefs who has agreed with MacArthur more than anyone else. He has expressed the private belief that Russia would not intervene if we bombed China, and is reported to have expressed oral agreement with MacArthur on various points during conferences in Tokyo.

Admiral Sherman, the chief of Naval Operations, on the other hand, has been flatly opposed to MacArthur's position, while General Bradley is almost as vigorous.

Bradley has said privately that if he were in MacArthur's shoes he would probably feel as he does. But, as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, he cannot agree, since he has to consider the entire world and how best to parcel out our limited strength.

The last thing Bradley wants, he has made it clear, is to get sucked into a war on the Chinese mainland.

NOTE — Pentagon observers believe MacArthur may have some of the tentative directives which are sent to different theatre commanders in advance for their comment. These do not become approved directives, however, until the Joint Chiefs have all the comment, can study them in the light of the overall picture and then issue them officially. There is a big difference between the studies of the Joint Chiefs and their final approved directives.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON— The state of disorganization and disunity in the American government today is indescribably tragic.

The lack of leadership is a manifest obstacle to cooperation even between those elements which favor the same international policy. The White House has failed signally to keep foreign policy out of politics and has accentuated a deep cleavage between the two major parties.

For, whether President Truman intended it or not, he has, in effect, decreed that the minority party in America must be prevented from knowing the facts about the government and particularly the facts about our war operations. Though it will be repeatedly denied, the truth is that the principal offense of General MacArthur was in answering a letter from Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin. Apparently members of the armed services hereafter must not answer any letters from Congress except those from Democrats.

Disregard of "Civil Authority"

Two Democratic senators—Douglas of Illinois and Lehman of New York—take the position that the letter which General MacArthur wrote in answer to one from Representative Martin was an act of military insubordination and was in disregard of the "civil authority" of the United States.

This is a strange view for two men to express who are supposed to be "liberals" and who spend a good deal of their time denouncing the Hitler and Stalin concept of a single political party. Evidently, as Senator Douglas told his constituents, General MacArthur had no right to reply to Mr. Martin's request for his views. Senator Lehman cites the letter to Martin specifically as a ground for dismissal of MacArthur and says thus the "civil authority was challenged."

Evidently the Congress of the United States is not a civil authority — or at least the Republican party isn't a part of it.

Yet in Korea the sons of Republicans are being killed, just as are the sons of Democrats.

There is no hope for unity when two important senators adopt the view that it is a violation of the military code of the United States to communicate with members of Congress who happen to be in the minority party and for the latter to make public the letters they write—not on military details, but on broad policy questions.

The letter to Representative Martin was a routine answeer to what appeared to be a routine inquiry. General MacArthur had said the same things publicly many times before and also in his official reports. But because the press emphasized the incident, President Truman chose to make an issue of it, though he could just as well have ignored the affair and sent for MacArthur so as to argue out the differences, if possible, in a personal conference.

What is more serious is that there are influential members of the Democratic party who actually believe that America today is and must be governed by a single person. They include in the power of the presidency the right to stifle discussion and they insist, in effect, that members of the armed services are not to be permitted to say anything publicly which is at variance with the "party line" as proclaimed by the President or his advisers.

GOP Should Accept Challenge

If the minority party has any assertiveness at all, it will accept the challenge and bring the real issue to the attention of the country. It concerns the fundamental right of the American people to get the truth of what is happening in the making of public policy.

The American people do not even know how MacArthur was dismissed and by whose recommendation. An effect has been made to give the impression that the Joint Chiefs did it. Actually Messrs. Acheson, Rusk and Harrison—the foreign-policy command—are primarily responsible for influencing the President to fire MacArthur forthwith. When the Congressional committees put every member of the Joint Chiefs on the stand, as they inevitably must, they will learn that there is no record of military insubordination and that differences of policy alone led to the political decision of Mr. Truman to make a change in command in the Far East.

It is because the Democrats have insisted on distorting the issue and have continually tried to pin a "warmonger" label on General MacArthur — very much as the Communists do to most Americans nowadays—that the bitterness on Capitol Hill is increasing instead of diminishing.

TEHERAN

HERE IN Teheran, where every incident of the current crisis is pregnant with menace of future disaster, this reporter is constantly reminded of a scene long past. The time was during the Iranian crisis of 1946; the place, the gloomy Secretary of State's chamber in the British Foreign Office; the speaker, old Ernest Bevin.

First Bevin disclosed that the British cabinet had just decided to occupy southern Iran if necessary, rather than let the Soviets seize the British oil resource through a puppet government—a fact worth remembering today. Then, haltingly, roughly, yet convincingly, he expounded a great scheme of social reform and economic improvement, to halt the progressive deterioration of the whole Middle Eastern structure.

But finally, with an air of deep discouragement, he abruptly dismissed the subject, saying, "the trouble is it would also cost money and I have no money to spend."

One suspects that this has been the real secret of the failure of British Middle policy in these last years—that the root cause has been the cruelly narrow margin of resources and power on which the British have had to operate since the war. At any rate, the British have certainly failed. Until the harsh shock of the Iranian vote for oil nationalization, the Foreign Office, despite Bevin's imaginative sense of the situation, permitted itself to be bullied by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. Until the same rude awakening, the officials of the Anglo-Iranian company talked smugly about the Iranians "coming to heel when they began to feel a pinch for cash." And so the match was lighted in the powder magazine.

But meanwhile, what of the United States, which has the margin of resources and power that Britain lacks? What is at stake here is not just a British oil company, but the whole Middle Eastern oil resource, the West's vital strategic position in the Middle East, and the world balance of power. An explosion here can defeat the whole policy which has already caused the American government to lay out so many billions in other parts of the world. Why then has American policy done nothing to guard against this Middle Eastern danger?

Many American Errors

Since 1945-46, when Iranians and most other Middle Easterners regarded America as their great hope and reliance, it is not too much to say that we have committed every error in this region that was possible to commit.

We have raised false hopes. Here in Iran, for example, former Ambassador George Allen spoke airily, during the 1946 crisis, of an American aid program of $250,000,000. Again, when the unfortunate Shah visited the United States, he seems to have been encouraged to suspect that he could arrange large American credits. Even the arrival of the present ambassador, Henry Grady, with the record of Greece behind him, aroused great expectations. But while billions have been poured out in Europe, no serious sums have been made available to safeguard this vital Middle Eastern flank of the West.

We have intervened in local politics, but have intervened fruitlessly. There is very little doubt that the influence of former Ambassador John Wiley had much to do with the choice of the late Gen. Razmara as Premier of Iran. (The British, who had another candidate, evidently accepted Razmara as second best.) Yet once Razmara had been installed, we gave him none of the active aid that might have made his effort a success.

Course Of Folly

We have not developed an independent policy, but we have not really worked with the British either. All our ambassadors in the Middle East are instructed that the area is primarily a British interest. But while this instruction has controlled the broad lines of our action, we have managed to create a damaging impression of Anglo-American disunity. For instance, instead of coming crudely to grips with the oil problem in London and keeping our mouths shut in Teheran, we have not insisted on our view in London, while American officials here have made a bad business worse by publicly criticizing the British attitude.

It would all be very different today, if in 1946, we had seized upon Ernest Bevin's scheme, which was independently originated at the State Department at that time by George Kennan and others. It would also be very different if the slightest attention had been paid to the anguished warning of our successive ambassadors, down to and conspicuously including Ambassador Grady. Until very recently, a very small American investment, plus an intelligent, determined and united application of American and British influence, would have been enough to reverse the whole trend here.

Instead, a course of feckless folly has brought us to a situation where the price to be paid will be considerable, and the risks to be run will be great, if serious action is to be taken to escape inevitable disaster.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Dollar Crisis

OLD Cappy Dollar was a patriarchical figure in the Far East, which he traveled most of his long life, and there was no more delightful moment than when a Dollar Line ship came into a port like Shanghai, bringing a load of Americans. In the very early days, many of us would go to the docks to see who was coming into port and what the news was from home.

The Dollar Line was founded in 1901 and prospered mightily. Then R. Stanley Dollar made the mistake of going to the government for help. The depression and the Pacific war hit the ships hard. On October 26, 1938, he put up 92 per cent of the stock of his company for a government loan, which consisted of $7,500,000 owed to the Maritime Commission and $4,500,000 of additional working capital.

One of the elements in the company's difficulties was that on June 30, 1937, the mail contracts were cancelled, and yet the Dollar Line was the only steamship company which was refused a subsidy in lieu of a mail contract, and that should have indicated to R. Stanley Dollar that it was desired to keep the lines broke.

On September 6, 1943, the Dollar Line (now called American President Lines) was able to pay $7,500,000, which was the part of its indebtedness to the government which it owed to the Maritime Commission. This debt being paid in full, Dollar asked for his pledged shares. The Maritime Commission, which exists to protect American shipping, refused to return the shares but sought to sell them to a syndicate headed by Charles U. Bay, now United States ambassador to Norway.

For six years, this case has been in litigation and recently a court held Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer in contempt for refusing to return the company to its rightful owners.

On April 7, 1947, the Supreme Court handed down the decision as to whether an American can sue the Maritime Commission in a matter involving a straight business deal. The Supreme Court gave an 8-0 decision to the effect that the Maritime Commission could be sued. Associate Justice William O. Douglas wrote the opinion, which said:

"If it is decided on the merits either that the contract was illegal or that the Dollar interests are pledgors, they are entitled to possion of the shares as against the government."

This did not satisfy the Administration, which obviously has no intention of returning this property to its owners. So the case goes in and out of court. On December 11, 1950, U. S. District Judge Matthew F. McGuire ordered the property returned to the Dollar interests. The Department of Commerce appealed. Some more litigation. On January 31, 1951, the United States Court of Appeals ordered the property returned to Dollar. Some more litigation.

On March 16, 1951, the case is back to Judge McGuire, who orders the property returned to R. Stanley Dollar; instructs Secretary of Commerce Sawyer to do the necessary.

So the Secretary of Commerce and the Department of Justice go in for litigation.

I do not want to go further in this repetitive business, except that it begins to look to me, as I read the record and the citation of the Secretary of Commerce for contempt, that this case is of the order of another mink coat in the White House.

When a man wins his case in the court, time after time, the Administration has no business trying every trick in the book to keep him from getting his property. The government should be neither a shylock nor a shyster. It should see that juistice is done.

It is disgraceful that any member of the Cabinet should have to be held in contempt for failure to carry out the mandate of the courts. This is no example for the rest of the country; yet this is the sort of operation that leads to a disrespect for law and for authority.

It is impossible to believe that this case involves more than that some politicians are interested in a plum and are doing everything possible to make expensive and trying litigation for a citizen so that he would settle a case in favor of the Administration or its favorites. But the ownership of property is to be determined by the courts, not by the fiat of administrative officials.

British Labor

Aneurin Bevan, whose resignation from the government is expected to precipitate a general British election soon, would have felt more at home in the British Labor party of a generation ago than he feels in the party of today. Bevan's trenchant socialism is of the variety that dominated the British labor movement politically in the old days of widespread unemployment, the "dole," and low wages, although it may have appealed little to the rank and file of the British Trades Union Congress. The Labor party structurally is the Trades Union Congress's political arm.

Bevan is the type of vehement Socialist found in the Independent Labor Party 20 or 30 years ago. The ILP was never very large, but it embraced individuals of high intellect who helped to orient British Labor toward socialism. Left-wing but non-Marxian, the ILP was often the tail that wagged the Labor party dog. For years its leader was J. Ramsay MacDonald, to become the first Socialist prime minister of Great Britain.

That left-wing British socialism lost influence from a number of causes. If you were a British Socialist who had come to detest Russian communism, you were inclined to shy away from all left wingism into moderate socialism. The first two Labor governments, both minority regimes under MacDonald, were restrained by the fact that they could be overthrown at any time the Conservatives and Liberals united against them in the House of Commons. And the third and present Labor government has had to deal with the liquidation of British investments abroad, the loss of foreign markets, and the huge debt, internal and external, that were a British legacy from World War II. The Independent Labor Party practically ceased to function after 1945.

"Nye" Bevan was muzzled by the Labor party strategists in the general election campaign of February, 1950. It was feared that his vehemence and intransigence (he recently referred to opponents as "vermin") would alienate many of the middle-class voters who had given the party its unexpectedly wide margin of victory in 1945. This relegation of Bevan to the background was largely the decision of Herbert Morrison, who planned and executed the party's campaign; and Morrison's recent elevation to foreign secretary must have made Bevan more restive than ever within the government.

Well, the party scraped through only by the skin of its teeth in February, 1950, and the heavy loss of Labor seats was blamed by Bevan's followers on their man's inactivity in the campaign. And it was remembered that Bevan had warned the party it would suffer if it held the election in 1950 instead of in 1949.

Bevan's great political assets are his sledge-hammer oratory and his vibrant personality. The middle-of-the-road Labor party leaders, now that "Ernie" Bevan is gone and Cripps is out with illness, are old, tired, colorless ("an empty limousine drove up and the Prime Minister stepped out").

Disintegration

The position of the United States in the Far East began to disintegrate the day General Douglas MacArthur left Japan. Nothing is heard now of a peace treaty with Japan. John Foster Dulles made a wild dash for Tokyo to confer with General MacArthur, but the latter had departed. Dulles has the State Department's version of a peace treaty in his pocket, but his exact whereabouts is unknown. He hasn't been able to get his name in the papers for days.

There have been reports of sabotage in the Japanese steel industry, presumably by pro-Stalin Japanese, since the General's departure. Observers who know the part played by General MacArthur in wiping out communism in Japan freely predict that a dangerous Red movement will soon be under way in Nippon.

London insistence that the Chinese Reds be given a part in drawing up a peace treaty with Japan has killed all chance of such a treaty being entered into now that MacArthur is no longer in Tokyo to battle such a damnable proposal.

London's views are fully shared by Acheson and the remainder of the pro-British—or worse—clique in the State Department. But the state of American opinion, as evidenced in the welcome to MacArthur, has caused them to defer attempting to put this part of Britain's proposals—removal of MacArthur was one—into effect at the moment.

Russia And Oil

Total world production of petroleum is approximately 10,500,000 barrels daily, of which the United States produces 52 per cent and Russia 8 per cent.

To engage in all-out, world-wide deviltry, Russia needs more oil. Current reports that Russia is infiltrating into Iran as a gateway to Asiatic oil are proof Russia has never forgotten that the Middle Asiatic fields produce 17 per cent of the world's oil, and can be made to produce more.

If Iranian oil were added to Russia's supply, the Soviet would not come near matching the United States, but there would be enough for a Russian war economy. This country's oil supply is supplemented by rich fields in Latin America, particularly Venezuela. Canada has also gained in importance as an oil producer.

Students of world strategy have long recognized the fact that if Russia is in earnest about world conquest, its first big step in that direction will be to assure itself of Asiatic oil resources.

A Soviet move into Iran will lead to other moves into Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, and Bahrein, the great producing fields of Asia, and will be a tip-off that Russia is determined to drive ahead to the end of the road.

School Of Experience

Experience is known to be a most expensive teacher, and if the lessons are muffed the cost goes up accordingly.

Last year Maine farmers dumped an estimated 7,000,000 bushels of potatoes, in spite of the fact there are millions of hungry people in the world who were not permitted to share in this surplus because of federal manipulation. The lesson, it might have been thought, was well learned.

This year those same farmers will dump, not 7,000,000 bushels, but 16,000,000, more than twice last year's waste.

Meanwhile, retail prices of potatoes remain at high levels, while in some countries food of any sort is almost impossible to obtain. In the face of these facts the government continues to destroy thousands of tons of the world's best potatoes.

To waste food is inexcusable. To destroy it in the face of world hunger is almost criminal.

Color And Expression In Illness

THE FACE mirrors the state of our health. It reflects pain, weakness, anxiety, depression, and even minor degrees of indisposition. Pallor may denote anemia, a bronzed hue accompanies Addison's disease, and when the skin and whites of the eyes are yellow we know that jaundice exists.

Pain is difficult to conceal, especially when severe. This is best observed in children who are uninhibited and less likely to put on an act so far as illness is concerned. They wrinkle the brow when the head hurts but adults are more inclined to hold the head, massage the eyeballs, and moan and groan. Pain in the chest is associated with suppressed breathing with dilation or sharpening of the nostrils. The upper lip is drawn in when the abdomen is causing distress. A typical expression is linked with adenoids. The open mouth and vacant expression detract from the appearance of the boy or girl. The cheeks and nasal bones are unduly prominent and the eyes look heavy and sunken.

The face always looks larger, although it is not, in a maniacal person or one who has had a stroke or convulsion. The same can be said of the victim of pneumonia or dropsy from a failing heart. The face appears smaller in those recovering from fever, exhaustive diarrhea, or a chronic chest condition such as tuberculosis.

We usually blame paleness on anemia but other disturbances produce a "peaked" expression. If an individual feels faint or becomes nauseated he becomes as white as a sheet. Dropsy, nephritis, cancer, and leukemia lead to a pasty color. A naturally fair complexion should not be mistaken for poor health or anemia but "office pallor" is a term applied to workers who spend too much time indoors. A ruddy complexion, on the other hand, may be misleading. This healthy bloom is seen in gout, high blood pressure, Bright's disease, and polycythemia (the disease in which there are too many red blood corpuscles). The flushed, tense fact and congested eyes of the typhus patient have led to such diagnostic terms as "bull face" and "rabbit eyes."

The facial expression changes when the thyroid is overactive or lazy. In the latter condition (hypothyroidism) a bloated, heavy look is common and the skin is thick, dry, and scaly. The eyelids may be so puffy that the victim is forced to view the outer world through tiny slits. In hyperthyroidism the eyes bulge and the expression is anxious and staring. The skin is flushed, warm, and moist; the lips quiver; the individual gives the expression that he is "all hipped up."

The deathly ill or thoroughly exhausted individual also has a characteristic expression (Hippocratic facies), the nose is pinched, the eyes are sunken and hollow, and the brow is knit and often covered with beads of perspiration. The skin is cold, tense, and dry; ashen is descriptive of its color.

Would that we had a drug that would do away with all the parasites in the world. Remedies are selective; some affect one type of organism but not another. Penicillin, for example, subdues staphylococci and streptococci but has no effect on viruses such as those producing the common cold. Streptomycin is sometimes effective against the tubercle bacillus and the colon bacillus but has no effect on viral or rickettsial diseases. Aureomycin and chloromycetin are useful not only in bacterial diseases but in certain virus infections such as atypical pneumonia, and in some rickettsian infections. Antimalarial compounds are used against the parasites of malaria. Some day the ideal product will be worked out but until then we must be content with what we have.

Putting His Head In

DREW PEARSON on—

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Some U. S. Documents Could Prove Almost Any Point; How Joint Chiefs—Men Of Varying Ages, Personalities—Reacted To MacArthur Proposals

WASHINGTON—When the Senate Armed Services Committee starts sorting out all the memos and telecom messages exchanged between the Pentagon and General MacArthur the public may become more confused than ever about who is right in the big debate.

For several documents and memos prepared during various phases of the Korean campaign—if set aside from the others—could be used to prove almost any point.

Furthermore, it was once a paradoxical fact that Secretary of State Acheson was much closer to General MacArthur's position re China than the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The wolf pack that always howls at Acheson's heels has been claiming he was responsible for MacArthur's ouster. However, the record shows first that this was not the case; second, that following MacArthur's disastrous retreat from North Korea in early December, Acheson favored severe punitive measures against China as an aggressor nation.

It was the Joint Chiefs of Staff at that time which vigorously disagreed both with Acheson and MacArthur. In fact, they favored pulling out of Korea altogether.

However, despite individual and sometimes confusing differences of opinion inside the Pentagon there appears to be no occasion when the Joint Chiefs of Staff actually went on record in favor of MacArthur's proposals to bomb Chinese bases and use Chiang Kai-Shek's troops.

MacArthur's Proposals

In order to get as clear a picture as possible regarding the working of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and their policy toward MacArthur, here is a breakdown on how the Joint Chiefs reacted to various of MacArthur's proposals:

BOMBING CHINESE BASES—The nearest the Joint Chiefs ever came to okaying MacArthur's proposed bombing of Chinese bases was on Feb. 28. Just before that date, MacArthur had sent a long report on enemy air strength now capable of 650 sorties daily. He reported certain strength building up in certain areas and in effect asked permission to bomb these bases.

Replying on Feb. 28, the Joint Chiefs gave MacArthur a set of five alternatives to counter the Chinese moves. Since these would be of value to the enemy, they cannot be described here. But in each of the five alternatives, MacArthur was instructed to take no action on the Chinese side of the Yalu River without reporting back to the Joint Chiefs for further instructions.

NAVAL BLOCKADE — Another question at issue in the Korean War has been a naval blockade of Chinese ports. On this, there was agreement. Both the Joint Chiefs and the State Department okayed a naval blockade but it was vetoed by our allies in the United Nations. This was one of the proposals for which Secretary Acheson fought hardest when Prime Minister Attlee visited Washington. However, Attlee flatly refused to approve any naval blockade of China.

HOT PURSUIT—Another point of agreement between MacArthur and the Joint Chiefs was the right of American planes to pursue Communist planes beyond the Chinese border when engaged in a running battle. This did not include the bombing of Chinese bases. Though the Joint Chiefs agreed to this, either the State Department or the National Security Council disapproved—I have not been able to ascertain which.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK'S TROOPS—This is the issue which MacArthur emphasized in his letter to ex-Speaker Joe Martin, the letter which culminated in MacArthur's dismissal. However, use of Chiang's troops never has been seriously considered by the Joint Chiefs.

General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, has argued that Chiang offered his troops chiefly for the purpose of getting them equipped—which would be terrifically expensive. Furthermore, Adm Forrest Sherman has pointed out that it would take an armada of American vessels to transport them to China.

Finally, the Joint Chiefs' study of Chiang's combat strength does not jibe with published claims of 600,000 men. According to Pentagon estimates it is nearer 250,000 men. It is also recalled that much of the military equipment we furnished Chiang during the war ended up in the hands of the Communists.

DIFFERENT PERSONALITIES—Those close to the Joint Chiefs of Staff point out that they are composed of four different men of varying ages and personalities. Gen. Joe Collins, for instance, chief of staff of the Army, was a lieutenant when MacArthur was a general. When Collins went to Tokyo he was technically MacArthur's superior, though he always addressed MacArthur as "General" while MacArthur called him "Joe."

Collins is the member of the Joint Chiefs who has agreed with MacArthur more than anyone else. He has expressed the private belief that Russia would not intervene if we bombed China, and is reported to have expressed oral agreement with MacArthur on various points during conferences in Tokyo.

Admiral Sherman, the chief of Naval Operations, on the other hand, has been flatly opposed to MacArthur's position, while General Bradley is almost as vigorous.

Bradley has said privately that if he were in MacArthur's shoes he would probably feel as he does. But, as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, he cannot agree, since he has to consider the entire world and how best to parcel out our limited strength.

The last thing Bradley wants, he has made it clear, is to get sucked into a war on the Chinese mainland.

NOTE — Pentagon observers believe MacArthur may have some of the tentative directives which are sent to different theatre commanders in advance for their comment. These do not become approved directives, however, until the Joint Chiefs have all the comment, can study them in the light of the overall picture and then issue them officially. There is a big difference between the studies of the Joint Chiefs and their final approved directives.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON— The state of disorganization and disunity in the American government today is indescribably tragic.

The lack of leadership is a manifest obstacle to cooperation even between those elements which favor the same international policy. The White House has failed signally to keep foreign policy out of politics and has accentuated a deep cleavage between the two major parties.

Though it will be repeatedly denied, the truth is that the principal offense of General MacArthur was in answering a letter from Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin. Apparently members of the armed services hereafter must not answer any letters from Congress except those from Democrats.

Disregard of "Civil Authority"

Two Democratic senators—Douglas of Illinois and Lehman of New York—take the position that the letter which General MacArthur wrote in answer to one from Representative Martin was an act of military insubordination and was in disregard of the "civil authority" of the United States.

This is a strange view for two men to express who are supposed to be "liberals" and who spend a good deal of their time denouncing the Hitler and Stalin concept of a single political party. Evidently, as Senator Douglas told his constituents, General MacArthur had no right to reply to Mr. Martin's request for his views. Senator Lehman cites the letter to Martin specifically as a ground for dismissal of MacArthur and says thus the "civil authority was challenged."

Evidently the Congress of the United States is not a civil authority — or at least the Republican party isn't a part of it.

Yet in Korea the sons of Republicans are being killed, just as are the sons of Democrats.

There is no hope for unity when two important senators adopt the view that it is a violation of the military code of the United States to communicate with members of Congress who happen to be in the minority party and for the latter to make public the letters they write—not on military details, but on broad policy questions.

The letter to Representative Martin was a routine answeer to what appeared to be a routine inquiry. General MacArthur had said the same things publicly many times before and also in his official reports. But because the press emphasized the incident, President Truman chose to make an issue of it, though he could just as well have ignored the affair and sent for MacArthur so as to argue out the differences, if possible, in a personal conference.

What is more serious is that there are influential members of the Democratic party who actually believe that America today is and must be governed by a single person. They include in the power of the presidency the right to stifle discussion and they insist, in effect, that members of the armed services are not to be permitted to say anything publicly which is at variance with the "party line" as proclaimed by the President or his advisers.

GOP Should Accept Challenge

If the minority party has any assertiveness at all, it will accept the challenge and bring the real issue to the attention of the country. It concerns the fundamental right of the American people to get the truth of what is happening in the making of public policy.

The American people do not even know how MacArthur was dismissed and by whose recommendation. An effect has been made to give the impression that the Joint Chiefs did it. Actually Messrs. When the Congressional committees put every member of the Joint Chiefs on the stand, as they inevitably must, they will learn that there is no record of military insubordination and that differences of policy alone led to the political decision of Mr. Truman to make a change in command in the Far East.

It is because the Democrats have insisted on distorting the issue and have continually tried to pin a "warmonger" label on General MacArthur — very much as the Communists do to most Americans nowadays—that the bitterness on Capitol Hill is increasing instead of diminishing.

HERE IN Teheran, where every incident of the current crisis is pregnant with menace of future disaster, this reporter is constantly reminded of a scene long past. The time was during the Iranian crisis of 1946; the place, the gloomy Secretary of State's chamber in the British Foreign Office; the speaker, old Ernest Bevin.

But finally, with an air of deep discouragement, he abruptly dismissed the subject, saying, "the trouble is it would also cost money and I have no money to spend."

One suspects that this has been the real secret of the failure of British Middle policy in these last years—that the root cause has been the cruelly narrow margin of resources and power on which the British have had to operate since the war. At any rate, the British have certainly failed. Until the harsh shock of the Iranian vote for oil nationalization, the Foreign Office, despite Bevin's imaginative sense of the situation, permitted itself to be bullied by the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company. Until the same rude awakening, the officials of the Anglo-Iranian company talked smugly about the Iranians "coming to heel when they began to feel a pinch for cash." And so the match was lighted in the powder magazine.

But meanwhile, what of the United States, which has the margin of resources and power that Britain lacks? What is at stake here is not just a British oil company, but the whole Middle Eastern oil resource, the West's vital strategic position in the Middle East, and the world balance of power. An explosion here can defeat the whole policy which has already caused the American government to lay out so many billions in other parts of the world. Why then has American policy done nothing to guard against this Middle Eastern danger?

Many American Errors

Since 1945-46, when Iranians and most other Middle Easterners regarded America as their great hope and reliance, it is not too much to say that we have committed every error in this region that was possible to commit.

We have raised false hopes. Here in Iran, for example, former Ambassador George Allen spoke airily, during the 1946 crisis, of an American aid program of $250,000,000. Again, when the unfortunate Shah visited the United States, he seems to have been encouraged to suspect that he could arrange large American credits. Even the arrival of the present ambassador, Henry Grady, with the record of Greece behind him, aroused great expectations. But while billions have been poured out in Europe, no serious sums have been made available to safeguard this vital Middle Eastern flank of the West.

We have intervened in local politics, but have intervened fruitlessly. There is very little doubt that the influence of former Ambassador John Wiley had much to do with the choice of the late Gen. Razmara as Premier of Iran. (The British, who had another candidate, evidently accepted Razmara as second best.) Yet once Razmara had been installed, we gave him none of the active aid that might have made his effort a success.

Course Of Folly

We have not developed an independent policy, but we have not really worked with the British either. All our ambassadors in the Middle East are instructed that the area is primarily a British interest. But while this instruction has controlled the broad lines of our action, we have managed to create a damaging impression of Anglo-American disunity. For instance, instead of coming crudely to grips with the oil problem in London and keeping our mouths shut in Teheran, we have not insisted on our view in London, while American officials here have made a bad business worse by publicly criticizing the British attitude.

It would all be very different today, if in 1946, we had seized upon Ernest Bevin's scheme, which was independently originated at the State Department at that time by George Kennan and others. It would also be very different if the slightest attention had been paid to the anguished warning of our successive ambassadors, down to and conspicuously including Ambassador Grady. Until very recently, a very small American investment, plus an intelligent, determined and united application of American and British influence, would have been enough to reverse the whole trend here.

Instead, a course of feckless folly has brought us to a situation where the price to be paid will be considerable, and the risks to be run will be great, if serious action is to be taken to escape inevitable disaster.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Dollar Crisis

OLD Cappy Dollar was a patriarchical figure in the Far East, which he traveled most of his long life, and there was no more delightful moment than when a Dollar Line ship came into a port like Shanghai, bringing a load of Americans. In the very early days, many of us would go to the docks to see who was coming into port and what the news was from home.

The Dollar Line was founded in 1901 and prospered mightily. Then R. Stanley Dollar made the mistake of going to the government for help. The depression and the Pacific war hit the ships hard. On October 26, 1938, he put up 92 per cent of the stock of his company for a government loan, which consisted of $7,500,000 owed to the Maritime Commission and $4,500,000 of additional working capital.

One of the elements in the company's difficulties was that on June 30, 1937, the mail contracts were cancelled, and yet the Dollar Line was the only steamship company which was refused a subsidy in lieu of a mail contract, and that should have indicated to R. Stanley Dollar that it was desired to keep the lines broke.

On September 6, 1943, the Dollar Line (now called American President Lines) was able to pay $7,500,000, which was the part of its indebtedness to the government which it owed to the Maritime Commission. This debt being paid in full, Dollar asked for his pledged shares. The Maritime Commission, which exists to protect American shipping, refused to return the shares but sought to sell them to a syndicate headed by Charles U. Bay, now United States ambassador to Norway.

For six years, this case has been in litigation and recently a court held Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer in contempt for refusing to return the company to its rightful owners.

On April 7, 1947, the Supreme Court handed down the decision as to whether an American can sue the Maritime Commission in a matter involving a straight business deal. The Supreme Court gave an 8-0 decision to the effect that the Maritime Commission could be sued. Associate Justice William O. Douglas wrote the opinion, which said:

"If it is decided on the merits either that the contract was illegal or that the Dollar interests are pledgors, they are entitled to possession of the shares as against the government."

This did not satisfy the Administration, which obviously has no intention of returning this property to its owners. So the case goes in and out of court. On December 11, 1950, U. S. District Judge Matthew F. McGuire ordered the property returned to the Dollar interests. The Department of Commerce appealed. Some more litigation. On January 31, 1951, the United States Court of Appeals ordered the property returned to Dollar. Some more litigation.

On March 16, 1951, the case is back to Judge McGuire, who orders the property returned to R. Stanley Dollar; instructs Secretary of Commerce Sawyer to do the necessary.

So the Secretary of Commerce and the Department of Justice go in for litigation.

I do not want to go further in this repetitive business, except that it begins to look to me, as I read the record and the citation of the Secretary of Commerce for contempt, that this case is of the order of another mink coat in the White House.

When a man wins his case in the court, time after time, the Administration has no business trying every trick in the book to keep him from getting his property. The government should be neither a shylock nor a shyster. It should see that justice is done.

It is disgraceful that any member of the Cabinet should have to be held in contempt for failure to carry out the mandate of the courts. This is no example for the rest of the country; yet this is the sort of operation that leads to a disrespect for law and for authority.

It is impossible to believe that this case involves more than that some politicians are interested in a plum and are doing everything possible to make expensive and trying litigation for a citizen so that he would settle a case in favor of the Administration or its favorites. But the ownership of property is to be determined by the courts, not by the fiat of administrative officials.

Boys To Open Model Legislature At Annapolis State House Today

Twenty Allegany county boys will assume duties as "legislators" at the 1951 Model Legislature beginning today for three days at the State House in Annapolis, under the sponsorship of Maryland YMCAs.

The Allegany delegation is composed of eight members of the Allegany Hi-Y Club, seven members of the Fort Hill club and five members of the Bruce High School club of Westernport. Winfield H. Adam, general secretary of Central YMCA accompanied the group.

Dr. Earle T. Hawkins, president of Towson State Teachers' College and chairman of the Maryland Youth and Government Committee, announced that Noel Speir Cook, Cook, a member of the House of Delegates from Allegany county, has been appointed by Governor McKeldin to the Governor's Advisory Committee to the youth and government program. The committee attends the model sessions and serves as resource leaders for parliamentary procedure and decorum.

During the Model Legislature, 187 boys will learn how a lawmaking body works by going through the whole process themselves — introducing legislation, hammering it into shape in committee, arguing its merits on the floor and finally bringing it to a vote.

The legislature and the state administration were organized earlier at a meeting of delegates at College Park where the boys were given a briefing on their duties by state officials, legislators and other experts in the field.

The opening general session of the legislature will be held today in the House of Delegates chamber. There will be addresses by Governor McKeldin, Boy-Governor R. Noel Spence, Hagerstown, and Dr. Harry Bard, member of the state Youth and Government Committee. The boy governor and members of the legislature will be sworn in by Secretary of State John Reeves.

The Senate and House will hold separate sessions afterward to organize and to hear the first reading of bills.

Kelly Ups Truck Tire Schedules

The Kelly Springfield Tire Company said yesterday it has started a six-day week in truck tire production.

The increased work week in truck tires is the result of numerous defense orders, a spokesman said. Other departments will remain on a normal five-day schedule.

The quantity of the orders and the money value were not announced but the spokesman said the orders were "sufficient" to necessitate the six-day week.

Mrs. Douglas Heads District Federation

Elected At Meet In Frederick

Mrs. William A. Douglas, LaVale, was elected president of the First District of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs at the 30th annual luncheon meeting in Frederick yesterday. Others to serve with her are Mrs. G. Maurice Eburg, Hampstead, vice president; Mrs. E. Irvin Baumgartner, Oakland, secretary; and Mrs. Ransom R. Lewis, Jr., Frederick, treasurer.

Mrs. Douglas has been serving on the state board and is a past president of the Cumberland Woman's Civic Club.

Advocating the use of atomic bombs against Russia if she crosses a "pre-determined line," Mrs. Hiram C. Houghton, Red Oak, Iowa, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, recommended such a measure in her talk before 125 club women, yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Houghton, the mother of three boys of military age, said she was very much in favor of Universal Military Training, as military strength of a country is its only salvation. But she hopes the casualties in Korea will buy a real peace and war will not break out in Yugoslavia and Germany. She said she thinks "Russia will not be aggressive if we stay strong as she will fear us and not strike." But more troops to Europe should be ordered only by Congress.

She also said that General Douglas MacArthur should be sent back to Japan "because he knows more about affairs there than anybody else." She advised her audience that he definitely has a side to his story, and urged them to think through the current far eastern crisis "clearly, and not hysterically."

To meet the current international crisis, Mrs. Houghton also advocated:

1. A "realistic" preparedness program.
2. A carefully defined, "tough" foreign policy.
3. National military strength sufficient to "hold the peace."

Mrs. Houghton said the women of America can bring about the rebirth of freedom for the world if they will take a stand for peace, but not peace of appeasement. She was critical of congressmen who "vote the party line instead of an American one." She also asked for a clearly defined State department foreign policy in the East.

Mrs. Ray Brown presided at the morning session and Mrs. William A. Grant, Oakland, responded to greetings by Mrs. George Van Eiff, president of the Frederick club. Mrs. D. B. Pickett, Carroll Women's Club conducted a memorial service. Music was by the Choral Group of the Cumberland club. Approximately 20 members of the senior and junior clubs attended from here.

The deacons of the First Baptist Church will meet at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night at the church annex.

RECEIVED INTO SORORITY AT RITUAL—Beta Sigma Phi received 19 new members into the three local chapters, Lambda, Omicron and Alpha Alpha at the Ritual of Jewels following the annual banquet Tuesday night at the Ali Ghan Country Club. Are grooming mishaps unavoidable? Not when you take precautions that made the Powers Girls famous!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

EYES have a special affinity for any flaw in grooming. That is all they seem able to see, even though you are wearing your best hat!

The Powers Girls go on the theory that there is no such thing as an unavoidable grooming mishap. And how well they put that theory into practice is attested to by the fame of their out-of-the-band-box look. Here are a few model tips that will prevent some of the grooming casualties that mar an otherwise perfect appearance—casualties that you may have considered to be unavoidable.

New Groomers

1. You can overcome the untidy effect of limp veils by rolling detachable veiling on twists of tissue paper and by lining attached veiling with fluffs of tissue.

2. You can banish the nuisance of earrings that continually slip askew if you fasten non-skid tips over slips and screws.

3. Lingerie straps will stop sliding over your shoulder and showing beneath brief sleeves if you devise a loop on your dresses and blouses to hold them in place. To do this in a trice, use a piece of thin cording an inch long. Tack it at one end to the inside-center seam of the shoulder and snap it fast at the other end.

4. To keep long-length gloves from becoming disarranged on your arm, always tuck in the top selvage. This slight, extra bulk of material not only anchors the glove but gives a neat finish.

Accidents Prevented

5. To prevent blouses from riding out of your skirts, wear a waistband between the two, expressly madef or this purpose. The new ones are adjustable to your measurement and have a surface that grips both blouse and skirt.

6: To prevent shoddy scuff, wear heel guards when you drive a car. Store them in the glove compartment for ready use.

7. Tuck a scented, "for show" handkerchief folded rosetta-fashion into the side compartment of your handbag.

VANDENBERG'S COMEBACK:

Some may remember Senator Vanderberg for his leadership in the creation of the United Nations . . . But to many of his fellow senators he'll be remembered also for ready repartee on the Senate floor . . . Once when he was arguing with Senator Wheeler, Wheeler began defending his point, "The Senator is a great lawyer and he knows . . ."

Vanderberg interrupted, "The Senator from Montana must not be sarcastic. One of my virtues is that I am not a lawyer!"

MACARTHUR AND McCLELLAN:

Truman fired MacArthur, and Lincoln fired McClellan. But the similarity ends there . . . Lincoln fired McClellan because he thought the General was too cautious . . . And the Library of Congress has moved right into the house to peruse the General's papers.

SURPRISE WEDDING:

After a brief N. Y. honeymoon, Helen Carusi Lombard, well-known Washington authoress, and Peter Visher, writer, editor, and now an official at the State Dept., will return to his nearby Maryland plantation, "Habre de Venture," once the home of Thomas Stone, signer of the Declaration of Independence . . . Mr. and Mrs. Visher get back in time to play host and hostess to the pilgrims who will throng to their house, which is on the Maryland Garden Tour, beginning April 28th . . . Married last week at her Georgetown home with his daughter and her son as attendants, the couple were toasted by a small group of relatives and friends . . . The bride comes from a family prominent in the Capital for many generations.

She was married to Gen. Emanuel Lombard, French Embassy military attache, who died in France in 1946 . . . Later Helen turned her attention to writing, and published two books, highlighting her life in diplomatic, social and political circles.

Mr. Visher, editor and publisher of national magazines, arrived in Washington early in World War II . . . Since 1948 he has been special assistant to director general of foreign service in the State Department . . . His former wife died a year ago after a lingering illness.

Are grooming mishaps unavoidable? Not when you take precautions that made the Powers Girls famous!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

EYES have a special affinity for any flaw in grooming. That is all they seem able to see, even though you are wearing your best hat!

The Powers Girls go on the theory that there is no such thing as an unavoidable grooming mishap. And how well they put that theory into practice is attested to by the fame of their out-of-the-band-box look. Here are a few model tips that will prevent some of the grooming casualties that mar an otherwise perfect appearance—casualties that you may have considered to be unavoidable.

New Groomers

1. You can overcome the untidy effect of limp veils by rolling detachable veiling on twists of tissue paper and by lining attached veiling with fluffs of tissue.

2. You can banish the nuisance of earrings that continually slip askew if you fasten non-skid tips over slips and screws.

3. Lingerie straps will stop sliding over your shoulder and showing beneath brief sleeves if you devise a loop on your dresses and blouses to hold them in place. To do this in a trice, use a piece of thin cord-ing an inch long. Tack it at one end to the inside-center seam of the shoulder and snap it fast at the other end.

4. To keep long-length gloves from becoming disarranged on your arm, always tuck in the top selvage. This slight, extra bulk of material not only anchors the glove but gives a neat finish.

Accidents Prevented

5. To prevent blouses from riding out of your skirts, wear a waist band between the two, expressly madef or this purpose. The new ones are adjustable to your measurement and have a surface that grips both blouse and skirt.

6: To prevent shoddy scuff, wear heel guards when you drive a car. Store them in the glove compartment for ready use.

7. Tuck a scented, "for show" handkerchief folded rosetta-fashion into the side compartment of your handbag.

Nine Boys Paroled After Trial Involving Seven Robbery Cases

Seven robberies in Frostburg and the George's Creek section were cleared up in Juvenile Court here this week with the paroling of nine youngsters between the ages of nine and 14 years.

Trooper First Class William F. Baker reported the arrest and conviction of the boys who are from Frostburg, Klondike, National and Woodland.

Trooper Baker stated Beall Elementary School in Frostburg was entered on two occasions and $10 worth of ice cream stolen.

At Evans' Store, Welsh Hill, Frostburg, the intruders broke the rear window and took $35 worth of merchandise, most of it in sweets. Sgt. Lloyd Truly, of the Frostburg Police Department, assisted Baker in the cases there.

Several of the boys broke a window in the Johnson Store at Gilmore and stole $25 in merchandise.

While the Powers Service Station in Lonaconing had a breaking and entering, only a can of oil was taken.

At the home of James M. Baker, Woodland, where the intruders gained ingress by climbing through a window, they drank a quart of milk, but were scared away before taking anything.

Hungry boys snatched a Rhode Island Red hen belonging to Miss Jessie Mae House at Shaft, took it to the woods nearby where they cleaned it and attempted to roast it, "cave man" style.

Each of the boys admitted participation in one or more of the robberies and each was placed on probation until he reaches 18 years of age.

Ivan A. Hall Resigns Post As Chief Chemist At Kelly

Ivan A. Hall, chief chemist at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company since November, 1945, is leaving that post to become production supervisor of a defense plant in Charlestown, Ind., it was announced yesterday.

The plant which Hall will supervise is engaged in loading propelling charges.

Hall, who resides at LaVale with his wife and five-year-old son, is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan College and attended Ohio State University and the University of Michigan.

Replacing Hall as chief chemist of Kelly will be Vernon E. Wade, also of LaVale.

Wade has been with Kelly since 1942 in the Compounding Section of the Development Department. He is married and the father of two sons, 17 and 15, both students at Allegany High School.

Wade was graduated from Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, Mass., with a bachelor's degree in chemistry.

State Health Unit Changes Proposed By Federal Agency

A proposed pattern designed to show how regional planning would enable general hospitals and local Health Departments to worw together for better health is viewed here as a great boost to health work in Allegany and Garrett counties.

The Federal Security Agency in Washington said Maryland's 23 counties should be served by 12 local health units and that a minimum of 47 physicians and 417 nurses would be needed.

Oscar R. Ewing, FSA administrator, said the report is intended as a guide rather than a blueprint.

The report sets up Allegany and Garrett as Unit 1 and said two physicians and 22 nurses would be needed.

The counties now have two physicians and a total of 16 nurses which prompted a local spokesman to say "There is a definite need for more nurses."

To Enter Service

Garrett county's doctor is Thomas Dunne, and it has three nurses. Dr. Winter R. Frantz is the Cumberland and Allegany county health officer and there are 13 nurses. The Allegany nurses include four in the city, three in the county and six state attaches.

Dr. Dunne is scheduled to enter service sometime in June and that means Dr. Frantz will have to cover the two-county area. He did the same thing during the last war emergency.

Health officials said when a doctor must cover such a large area it places an added burden on him and prevents maximum effort in behalf of health. Locally, the desire and need was expressed for an assistant health officer to relieve Dr. Frantz of an already heavy work schedule. The city and county has had none for some time. The last to serve in that position was Dr. W. F. McFarland.

But the bottleneck is this: There is a shortage of doctors and nurses. One reason is the drain on the supply by the armed services.

Sets Other Units

Recently the State Department of Health was reorganized. Local officials said the state agency had been wanting to help for a long time.

The FSA report, Ewing said, "can enable health officers, hospital planners and state and local administrators to visualize how a coordinated pattern of hospitals and health departments could fit their own needs and make possible a superior type of health protection for citizens of their community."

In addition to the Allegany-Garrett unit the study suggested the following:

Unit two, Washington, one physician and 14 nurses; unit three, Frederick, one and 12; unit four, Carroll, one and eight; unit five, Baltimore and Howard, 28 and 228; unit six, Cecil and Harford, two and 14;

Unit seven, Montgomery, 3 and 26; unit eight, Prince Georges, three and 28; unit nine, Anne Arundel and Calvert, two and 22; unit ten, Caroline, Dorchester, Kent, Queen Annes and Talbot, four and 18; unit eleven, Charles and St. Mary's, two and ten; unit twelve, Somerset, Wicomico and Worcester, three and 15.

In 1819 both raw bituminous coal and coke were first used experimentally in Pennsylvania.

Nine Boys Paroled After Trial Involving Seven Robbery Cases

Seven robberies in Frostburg and the George's Creek section were cleared up in Juvenile Court here this week with the paroling of nine youngsters between the ages of nine and 14 years.

Trooper First Class William F. Baker reported the arrest and conviction of the boys who are from Frostburg, Klondike, National and Woodland.

Trooper Baker stated Beall Elementary School in Frostburg was entered on two occasions and $10 worth of ice cream stolen.

At Evans' Store, Welsh Hill, Frostburg, the intruders broke the rear window and took $35 worth of merchandise, most of it in sweets. Sgt. Lloyd Truly, of the Frostburg Police Department, assisted Baker in the cases there.

Several of the boys broke a window in the Johnson Store at Gilmore and stole $25 in merchandise.

While the Powers Service Station in Lonaconing had a breaking and entering, only a can of oil was taken.

At the home of James M. Baker, Woodland, where the intruders gained ingress by climbing through a window, they drank a quart of milk, but were scared away before taking anything.

Hungry boys snatched a Rhode Island Red hen belonging to Miss Jessie Mae House at Shaft, took it to the woods nearby where they cleaned it and attempted to roast it, "cave man" style.

Each of the boys admitted participation in one or more of the robberies and each was placed on probation until he reaches 18 years of age.

Ivan A. Hall Resigns Post As Chief Chemist At Kelly

Ivan A. Hall, chief chemist at the Kelly Springfield Tire Company since November, 1945, is leaving that post to become production supervisor of a defense plant in Charlestown, Ind., it was announced yesterday.

The plant which Hall will supervise is engaged in loading propelling charges.

Hall, who resides at LaVale with his wife and five-year-old son, is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan College and attended Ohio State University and the University of Michigan.

Replacing Hall as chief chemist of Kelly will be Vernon E. Wade, also of LaVale.

Wade has been with Kelly since 1942 in the Compounding Section of the Development Department. He is married and the father of two sons, 17 and 15, both students at Allegany High School.

Wade was graduated from Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, Mass., with a bachelor's degree in chemistry.

State Health Unit Changes Proposed By Federal Agency

A proposed pattern designed to show how regional planning would enable general hospitals and local Health Departments to worw together for better health is viewed here as a great boost to health work in Allegany and Garrett counties.

The Federal Security Agency in Washington said Maryland's 23 counties should be served by 12 local health units and that a minimum of 47 physicians and 417 nurses would be needed.

Oscar R. Ewing, FSA administrator, said the report is intended as a guide rather than a blueprint.

The report sets up Allegany and Garrett as Unit 1 and said two physicians and 22 nurses would be needed.

The counties now have two physicians and a total of 16 nurses which prompted a local spokesman to say "There is a definite need for more nurses."

To Enter Service

Garrett county's doctor is Thomas Dunne, and it has three nurses. Dr. Winter R. Frantz is the Cumberland and Allegany county health officer and there are 13 nurses. The Allegany nurses include four in the city, three in the county and six state attaches.

Dr. Dunne is scheduled to enter service sometime in June and that means Dr. Frantz will have to cover the two-county area. He did the same thing during the last war emergency.

Health officials said when a doctor must cover such a large area it places an added burden on him and prevents maximum effort in behalf of health. Locally, the desire and need was expressed for an assistant health officer to relieve Dr. Frantz of an already heavy work schedule. The city and county has had none for some time. The last to serve in that position was Dr. W. F. McFarland.

But the bottleneck is this: There is a shortage of doctors and nurses. One reason is the drain on the supply by the armed services.

Sets Other Units

Recently the State Department of Health was reorganized. Local officials said the state agency had been wanting to help for a long time.

The FSA report, Ewing said, "can enable health officers, hospital planners and state and local administrators to visualize how a coordinated pattern of hospitals and health departments could fit their own needs and make possible a superior type of health protection for citizens of their community."

In addition to the Allegany-Garrett unit the study suggested the following:

Unit two, Washington, one physician and 14 nurses; unit three, Frederick, one and 12; unit four, Carroll, one and eight; unit five, Baltimore and Howard, 28 and 228; unit six, Cecil and Harford, two and 14;

Unit seven, Montgomery, 3 and 26; unit eight, Prince Georges, three and 28; unit nine, Anne Arundel and Calvert, two and 22; unit ten, Caroline, Dorchester, Kent, Queen Annes and Talbot, four and 18; unit eleven, Charles and St. Mary's, two and tens unit twelve, Somerset, Wicomico and Worcester, three and 15.

In 1819 both raw bituminous coal and coke were first used experimentally in Pennsylvania.

Formosa Aid For Self-DefenseOnly

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—The United States is furnishing military aid to Formosa under an agreement which requires the Chinese Nationalists to use the arms for internal security or "legitimate self defense" only.

This was disclosed today by Secretary of State Acheson, who released the text of the hitherto secret, three-months-old agreement.

Acheson also told a news conference that the government's Formosan policy has not changed in any way since President Truman assigned the Seventh Fleet last June to protect the island against possible Red Chinese invasion.

Formosan policy has been one f the controversial points in the row between President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Following MacArthur's speech to Congress last week the Defense Department announced plans to dispatch a military mission to Formosa. Without reference to MacArthur, Acheson said today that the policy behind this was the same policy declared by Mr. Truman last June.

In New York, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's spokesman, said that in his personal view "it would seem to be a reasonable conclusion" that the administration decision to step up military aid to Formosa was a vindication of MacArthur's position.

Police said the man was an ex-convict. They said he was taken in the office of Miss Banks after she notified officers that a man had called on the telephone and said he could give her information about her coat upon payment of $300. Her apartment was ransacked last night.

An estimated 750 reds were killed by the task forces.

A frontline officer expressed belief the Chinese vanguards of a 150,000-man force that had made a central front breakthrough had been forced to stop and regroup after being "hurt very badly" Tuesday.

The U. N. forces counterattacked as Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet told his troops "in three days (you) have proven your superiority" over the estimated 400,000 Reds committed to the big counteroffensive.

The new U. S. Eighth Army commander, in an order of the day, expressed confidence that Allied firepower and modern combat techniques would beat the Reds despite their vast numerical superiority.

GI Insurance Bill Signed By Truman

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — President Truman signed into law today a measure giving $10,000 death benefits without cost to all service men.

The measure, while providing the insurance to present members of the armed forces, takes away the privilege former service men have had to obtain new government insurance policies.

National service and U. S. government life insurance policies which have lapsed may be reinstated before they expire, but those which have expired may not be renewed.

New insurance policies for veterans will be available only to men leaving service after June 27, 1950, the Veterans Administration explained.

Rita May Not See Aly Khan Again

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — Film Star Rita Hayworth intends to get a divorce or legal separation from Prince Aly Khan without seeing him again, the New York Post said today. In France, the Prince termed divorce reports "ridiculous."

The Post story, by Columnist Earl Wilson, said "rather than go through a spectacular meeting with him, she'll send her lawyer, Bartley Crum, to Paris to untie the famous knot."

Wilson said the red-haired actress will acknowledge in a formal statement this week that her story-book romance with the Prince is about over.

All this appeared to be news to the Prince, who today in Cannes said "there never has been any question of a divorce." It was not clear whether this statement applied equally to a separation.

A reporter reminded Aly at his Riviera chateau that Crum had said "no decision has been reached yet"—indicating that a decision might be forthcoming.

"I suppose," Aly said, "that in New York Rita let herself be influenced by the atmosphere there." He said that "for the moment" he did not intend to go to America.

Finding Of Bodies On Island Bares Pilgrimage Swindle

CAIRO, Egypt, April 25 (AP) — A Moslem pilgrimage swindle has been exposed by discovery of 22 bodies and four persons near death on a lonely islet in the Red Sea, an Arab news agency dispatch from Asmara, Eritrea, said today.

The dead and the four survivors—a man, two women and a boy—were victims of an illegal organization in Massawa, Eritrea, which promised to take pilgrims to Arabia, but marooned them on the tiny island and left them to die.

The survivors were found by Eritrean boatmen whose dhow (sailboat) passed near the island of Cad-Du off the Eritrean coast of the Red Sea. Returned to Massawa, they told police their party of 26 had decided to cross to Arabia illegally and proceed to Mecca on foot.

Their dhow captain, they said, forced them ashore on Cad-Du and sailed away. As members of the party died from thirst and starvation, they were buried in a common grave. Massawa police since have unearthed the bodies.

The Arab agency said the dhow captain and a Massawa sheikh have been arrested, the latter as suspected leader of the illegal transport organization.

Baltimore Restaurant Manager Found Slain

BALTIMORE, April 25 (AP)—William Hinton, 45-year-old night manager of Dowell's seafood restaurant, was found clubbed to death in its dining room today.

An autopsy showed Hinton had died of a fractured skull and contusion of the brain apparently caused by blows from an instrument "semi-sharp in nature."

The examination showed he also had a broken arm, cracked ribs, multiple cuts and contusions of the head and multiple contusions of both arms.

The body, lying in a pool of blood, was found by Stanley S. Grant, co-owner of the restaurant, when he opened up this morning.

No apparent motive was reported. Police Capt. William J. Feehley said a preliminary investigation showed nothng was missing.

54 Homosexuals Quit State Department Jobs

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — The State Department told Congress in testimony published today that 54 of its employes resigned last year while under investigation for sexual perversion.

Assistant Secretary Carlisle H. Humelsine said it was "determined" they were homosexuals. In the past four years, he said, there was a total of 144 such resignations. Two were women.

In addition Humelsine said that since 1947, 14 employes quit or were fired as other kinds of "security risks."

Humelsine testified recently before a House Appropriations subcommittee considering his department's budget.

The examination showed he also had a broken arm, cracked ribs, multiple cuts and contusions of the head and multiple contusions of both arms.

The body, lying in a pool of blood, was found by Stanley S. Grant, co-owner of the restaurant, when he opened up this morning.

No apparent motive was reported. Police Capt. William J. Feehley said a preliminary investigation showed nothng was missing.

54 Homosexuals Quit State Department Jobs

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — The State Department told Congress in testimony published today that 54 of its employes resigned last year while under investigation for sexual perversion.

Assistant Secretary Carlisle H. Humelsine said it was "determined" they were homosexuals. In the past four years, he said, there was a total of 144 such resignations. Two were women.

In addition Humelsine said that since 1947, 14 employes quit or were fired as other kinds of "security risks."

Humelsine testified recently before a House Appropriations subcommittee considering his department's budget.

Formosa Aid For Self-Defense Only

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—The United States is furnishing military aid to Formosa under an agreement which requires the Chinese Nationalists to use the arms for internal security or "legitimate self defense" only.

This was disclosed today by Secretary of State Acheson, who released the text of the hitherto secret, three-months-old agreement.

Acheson also told a news conference that the government's Formosan policy has not changed in any way since President Truman assigned the Seventh Fleet last June to protect the island against possible Red Chinese invasion.

Formosan policy has been one f the controversial points in the row between President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Following MacArthur's speech to Congress last week the Defense Department announced plans to dispatch a military mission to Formosa. Without reference to MacArthur, Acheson said today that the policy behind this was the same policy declared by Mr. Truman last June.

In New York, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's spokesman, said that in his personal view "it would seem to be a reasonable conclusion" that the administration decision to step up military aid to Formosa was a vindication of MacArthur's position.

Negro Is Arrested

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP)—A 24-year-old negro was taken into custody at radio station WINX this afternoon for investigation in connection with the theft of a $3,000 mink coat and jewelry belonging to Dolly Ruth Banks, co-owner of the station and of station WHAT, Philadelphia.

Police said the man was an ex-convict. They said he was taken in the office of Miss Banks after she notified officers that a man had called on the telephone and said he could give her information about her coat upon payment of $300. Her apartment was ransacked last night.

ammunition. A second armored force struck north of Kapyong.

An estimated 750 reds were killed by the task forces.

A frontline officer expressed belief the Chinese vanguards of a 150,000-man force that had made a central front breakthrough had been forced to stop and regroup after being "hurt very badly" Tuesday.

The U. N. forces counterattacked as Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet told his troops "in three days (you) have proven your superiority" over the estimated 400,000 Reds committed to the big counteroffensive.

The new U. S. Eighth Army commander, in an order of the day, expressed confidence that Allied firepower and modern combat techniques would beat the Reds despite their vast numerical superiority.

surface. Navy craft working over the shattered airliner were equipped with searchlights and prepared to carry on until the job was finished.

The navy plane, an SND trainer, fell immediately after ramming the airliner, but the big plane staggered along on a level course about 50 seconds. In its nosedive, it headed directly toward a group of tourist cottages on the south beach. Then it veered to the left and dropped into the water 1,200 yards offshore.

GI Insurance Bill Signed By Truman

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP) — President Truman signed into law today a measure giving $10,000 death benefits without cost to all service men.

The measure, while providing the insurance to present members of the armed forces, takes away the privilege former service men have had to obtain new government insurance policies.

National service and U. S. government life insurance policies which have lapsed may be reinstated before they expire, but those which have expired may not be renewed.

New insurance policies for veterans will be available only to men leaving service after June 27, 1950, the Veterans Administration explained.

Rita May Not See Aly Khan Again

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — Film Star Rita Hayworth intends to get a divorce or legal separation from Prince Aly Khan without seeing him again, the New York Post said today. In France, the Prince termed divorce reports "ridiculous."

The Post story, by Columnist Earl Wilson, said "rather than go through a spectacular meeting with him, she'll send her lawyer, Bartley Crum, to Paris to untie the famous knot."

Wilson said the red-haired actress will acknowledge in a formal statement this week that her story-book romance with the Prince is about over.

All this appeared to be news to the Prince, who today in Cannes said "there never has been any question of a divorce." It was not clear whether this statement applied equally to a separation.

A reporter reminded Aly at his Riviera chateau that Crum had said "no decision has been reached yet"—indicating that a decision might be forthcoming.

"I suppose," Aly said, "that in New York Rita let herself be influenced by the atmosphere there." He said that "for the moment" he did not intend to go to America.

Finding Of Bodies On Island Bares Pilgrimage Swindle

CAIRO, Egypt, April 25 (AP) — A Moslem pilgrimage swindle has been exposed by discovery of 22 bodies and four persons near death on a lonely islet in the Red Sea, an Arab news agency dispatch from Asmara, Eritrea, said today.

The dead and the four survivors—a man, two women and a boy—were victims of an illegal organization in Massawa, Eritrea, which promised to take pilgrims to Arabia, but marooned them on the tiny island and left them to die.

The survivors were found by Eritrean boatmen whose dhow (sailboat) passed near the island of Cad-Du off the Eritrean coast of the Red Sea. Returned to Massawa, they told police their party of 26 had decided to cross to Arabia illegally and proceed to Mecca on foot.

Their dhow captain, they said, forced them ashore on Cad-Du and sailed away. As members of the party died from thirst and starvation, they were buried in a common grave. Massawa police since have unearthed the bodies.

The Arab agency said the dhow captain and a Massawa sheikh have been arrested, the latter as suspected leader of the illegal transport organization.

Baltimore Restaurant Manager Found Slain

BALTIMORE, April 25 (AP)—William Hinton, 45-year-old night manager of Dowell's seafood restaurant, was found clubbed to death in its dining room today.

An autopsy showed Hinton had died of a fractured skull and contusion of the brain apparently caused by blows from an instrument "semi-sharp in nature."

The examination showed he also had a broken arm, cracked ribs, multiple cuts and contusions of the head and multiple contusions of both arms.

The body, lying in a pool of blood, was found by Stanley S. Grant, co-owner of the restaurant, when he opened up this morning.

No apparent motive was reported. Police Capt. William J. Feehley said a preliminary investigation showed nothng was missing.

"The Authority on Authorities"

SOMETIMES DO IT EARLY

POSTPONING an important finesse to the latest possible stage is ordinarily sound. Developments may prove it unnecessary or undesirable, or a count of the defense hands may be obtained as a guide to action, or there may be other advantages which appear along the way. But it is sometimes advisable to take a finesse at the very earliest opportunity, especially when that is certain to build up enough winners for making your contract, even if the finesse loses, before you are unguarded in some other suit or suits.

North based his 4-No Trump jump on a simple personal rule he has developed. With a hand on which he would bid 2-No Trumps in response to a suit bid of one, he would bid 3-No Trumps over an initial 1-No Trump and 4-No Trumps over 2-No Trumps. Not too inaccurate for such a simple yardstick. Some players in this case would have jumped the opener to 5-No Trumps and some to 6-No Trumps. South here raised the 4-No Trumps to small slam, whereas some others would have bid simply 5-No Trumps and then North perhaps six.

South ought to have made that contract easily, but didn't. In his quest for the extra trick to impress all and sundry, he won the club J lead with the A, scored four diamonds and three spades, then the club K and Q for ten tricks. Noting discards carefully, he saw West toss off three hearts and East two diamonds. His count now showed West retaining two black cards and one heart, East therefore retaining three hearts.

West, he felt sure, would not have blanked the heart K if he had it, so now the heart J finesse seemed marked as a sure winner. When the K won then for West, the latter literally "black-jacked" South into a two-trick set. Note that all South had to do, if making contract was his desire, was finesse hearts before trying to set up thirteeners in the black suits. He had eleven pat tricks to begin with, and the heart J finesse would have established the Q for the twelfth trick even if it lost. He sold his birthright, though, for a mess of pottage, as the extra trick he craved was worth only 30 points, whereas the slam he kicked away was worth nearly 1,000.

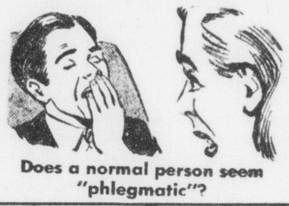
What is correct play by South for 3-No Trumps if West leads the heart 10 and East plays the 2?

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Should you tell one person he looks like another?

Answer: As a rule, no. You probably won't annoy a teen-age girl by telling her she looks like Ava Gardner, but the average person cherishes the notion that he is unique too dearly to like being told that he resembles anyone else. To say, as we sometimes do to a new acquaintance, "You remind me of somebody, but I cannot think who it is," gives the impression that his looks are commonplace and undistinguished. However, you cannot hurt a baby's feelings by saying he looks like his parents, and the parents usually will be delighted.



Does a normal person seem "phlegmatic"?

Should you scold a child for using "naughty words"?

Answer: Not unless you want to stamp them on his mind indelibly, besides showing him that he has found an easy way to frighten or annoy you any time he feels defiant. Even looking shocked at an expression a child picks up from a playmate will make it seem more important to him than it would if you ignored it. A child seldom will use bad language habitually if he doesn't hear it at home, so if you can truthfully say, "Mother and Daddy don't talk that way," his desire to be like you will probably make him give up any words he has learned elsewhere.

WHAT IS IT? THE THING from another world! HOWARD HAWKS' Amazing MOVIE
SCHINE'S STRAND — STARTS FRI.

Answer: Yes—to a neurotic. One main effect of neurosis is to give a desperate importance to all sorts of things that do not really matter—for example, what sort of impression you make on a person you probably won't see again, or whether the hat you bought is as becoming as the one you almost chose in preference to it. An emotionally adult person saves his stronger feelings for the people and things that have an enduring meaning for him, and may seem indifferent or cold-blooded to someone who is chronically "steamed up" over trifles.

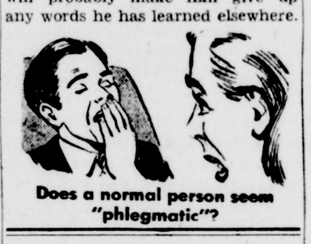
You probably won't annoy a teen-age girl by telling her she looks like Ava Gardner, but the average person cherishes the notion that he is unique too dearly to like being told that he resembles anyone else. To say, as we sometimes do to a new acquaintance, "You remind me of somebody, but I cannot think who it is," gives the impression that his looks are commonplace and undistinguished. However, you cannot hurt a baby's feelings by saying he looks like his parents, and the parents usually will be delighted.

Should you scold a child for using "naughty words"?

Answer: Not unless you want to stamp them on his mind indelibly, besides showing him that he has found an easy way to frighten or annoy you any time he feels defiant. Even looking shocked at an expression a child picks up from a playmate will make it seem more important to him than it would if you ignored it. A child seldom will use bad language habitually if he doesn't hear it at home, so if you can truthfully say, "Mother and Daddy don't talk that way," his desire to be like you will probably make him give up any words he has learned elsewhere.



Does a normal person seem "phlegmatic"?

Answer: Yes—to a neurotic. One main effect of neurosis is to give a desperate importance to all sorts of things that do not really matter—for example, what sort of impression you make on a person you probably won't see again, or whether the hat you bought is as becoming as the one you almost chose in preference to it. An emotionally adult person saves his stronger feelings for the people and things that have an enduring meaning for him, and may seem indifferent or cold-blooded to someone who is chronically "steamed up" over trifles.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

SOMETIMES DO IT EARLY

POSTPONING an important finesse to the latest possible stage is ordinarily sound. Developments may prove it unnecessary or undesirable, or a count of the defense hands may be obtained as a guide to action, or there may be other advantages which appear along the way. But it is sometimes advisable to take a finesse at the very earliest opportunity, especially when that is certain to build up enough winners for making your contract, even if the finesse loses, before you are unguarded in some other suit or suits.

	♠ Q 8 4 2 ♥ Q 6 2 ♦ K 10 ♣ K Q 5 4
♠ J 7 6 5 ♥ K 8 5 4 ♦ 6 ♣ J 10 9 6	N W E S	♠ 9 3 ♥ 10 9 3 ♦ 9 8 7 5 3 2 ♣ 8 3
	♠ A K 10 ♥ A J 7 ♦ A Q J 4 ♣ A 7 2

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
2 NT	Pass	4 NT	Pass
6 NT

North based his 4-No Trump jump on a simple personal rule he has developed. With a hand on which he would bid 2-No Trumps in response to a suit bid of one, he would bid 3-No Trumps over an initial 1-No Trump and 4-No Trumps over 2-No Trumps. Not too inaccurate for such a simple yardstick. Some players in this case would have jumped the opener to 5-No Trumps and some to 6-No Trumps. South here raised the 4-No Trumps to small slam, whereas some others would have bid simply 5-No Trumps and then North perhaps six.

South ought to have made that contract easily, but didn't. In his quest for the extra trick to impress all and sundry, he won the club J lead with the A, scored four diamonds and three spades, then the club K and Q for ten tricks. Noting discards carefully, he saw West toss off three hearts and East two diamonds. His count now showed West retaining two black cards and one heart, East therefore retaining three hearts.

West, he felt sure, would not have blanked the heart K if he had it, so now the heart J finesse seemed marked as a sure winner. When the K won then for West, the latter literally "black-jacked" South into a two-trick set. Note that all South had to do, if making contract was his desire, was finesse hearts before trying to set up thirteeners in the black suits. He had eleven pat tricks to begin with, and the heart J finesse would have established the Q for the twelfth trick even if it lost. He sold his birthright, though, for a mess of pottage, as the extra trick he craved was worth only 30 points, whereas the slam he kicked away was worth nearly 1,000.

What is correct play by South for 3-No Trumps if West leads the heart 10 and East plays the 2?

Fort Hill Host To West Virginians; Locals Enter 31st Meet Under Hahn

Coach William P. Hahn's Fort Hill High School thinclads will play hosts to the combined forces of four Mineral County schools — Keyser, Piedmont, Ridgeley and Fort Ashby —in the first track and field meet of the season here in the Fort Hill Stadium today at 3:30 p. m.

Coaches John Shelton, William "Huck" Miers, Ralph Poling and Tom Small will be in charge of the West Virginia aggregation which hopes to improve upon its showing of 1950 when it lost here.

31st Meet Under Hahn

Today's meet will be the 31st for Fort Hill since Hahn revived the sport in 1947. The Sentinels have won 23 out of 30 meets. Last Saturday the Scarlet and White finished second to Handley's Judges in the annual Invitational Meet of Handley High School at Winchester, Va.

Twelve events appear on today's card, namely, 100, 220, 440, 880 and mile runs, 440, 880 and mile relays, shot put, discus, high jump, and broad jump.

Fort Hill will also compete in the University of Maryland Meet, May 5, at College Park; Allegany County Meet, May 12; State Meet at McDonogh School, Baltimore, May 18, and the annual Fort Hill Invitational, the date of which will be announced later.

Dates For County Meets

The Allegany County meet for junior high schools is set for Wednesday, May 9, at 1:30 at the local stadium. The senior meet is carded Saturday, May 12 at 1 p. m. Drawings for pole positions for relays in each meet will be made at the Allegany County Board of Education Building by the coaches on Monday, May 7.

SHUFFLEBOARD CHAMPS—Stadium Inn's shuffleboard champs captured both halves of the Men's National Shuffleboard League in Allegany County by dethroning Cumberland's Knights of Columbus team, which finished second both times. The Frostburg team's record for the season was 62 wins and 16 losses. They captured the first half title by six games over Cumberland K of C, winning 32 games and losing 7, then won the second half by four games with a 30-9 record. Seated in the front row are Earl Minnicks, Tom Stewart, C. Minnicks, captain, Joe Donahue and John Sleeman. Back row are Bill Day, C. Duckworth, Tom Gracie, Max Stangle and Coach John Minnicks.

Walter Henry Elected Head In 7th Season

New Teams Join; Schedule To Get Underway May 7

Walter Henry, Grace Methodist, yesterday was elected president of the Central YMCA's Sunday School softball league, beginning its seventh season. Also named to head the loop's advisory board at a meeting last night at the "Y" were Jack Livengood, First Methodist, vice president, and Clifton Van Roby, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided at the meeting that rosters and forfeit fees would be due at the YMCA by 9 p. m. May 4, three days prior to the planned opening day of the schedule, May 7.

Two new teams were represented at yesterday's meeting, and have indicated they would like to join the circuit. They were Cresaptown and Corriganville Methodist churches.

All loop games will get underway at 6 p. m. and teams will field 10 players with a minimum of eight required to avoid forfeit. The winning team is required to report the results of the contest.

It also was decided that any participant of the YMCA Sunday School basketball league would not be eligible to compete in the softball circuit with any church team other than the one he played for in the cage loop.

Calvary Methodist is defending champion, defeating First Methodist two games to one in the playoffs last season.

Eleven teams were represented at last night's meeting with one regular entrant, Episcopal, not being represented. At the confab were Paul Rudolph, Zion Reformed; Carl Godwin, First Baptist, Bob Yeager, St. Luke's Lutheran; Stanley Merritt, Cresaptown Methodist; Bob Hutcheson, Presbyterian; Leslie Jenkins, Corriganville Methodist; Jack Livengood, First Methodist, John Murphy, United Brethren; Homer Martz, Park Place Methodist; Walter Henry, Grace Methodist; and Paul Fisher, Calvary Methodist.

SUES BASEBALL — Jim Prendergast, Syracuse International League pitcher who was traded to Beaumont of the Texas League but did not report said yesterday he would file suit for $150,000 damages against the Syracuse club in a challenge of baseball's controversial reserve clause.

Chisox, Browns Divide Twin Bill

Lights Used In Final; Sox Win 8-6, Lose 7-4

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP) — The Chicago White Sox divided a double header with the St. Louis Browns here today, winning the opener 8-6 and dropping the nightcap 7-4 in a contest played under the lights from the second inning on.

The Browns captured the nightcap with a three-run rally in the ninth off Marv Rotblatt and Harry Dorish. Ray Coleman blasted his second homer of the season into the right field stands and Al Moss and Johnny Bero doubled to rout Rotblatt. Ned Garver greeted Dorish with a single that tallied Bero.

Garver relieved Dick Starr during a three-run uprising with which the White Sox tied the score at 4-4 in the seventh. It was his second victory of the season. Joe Dobson, making his starting debut for the Comiskeys, yielded only four hits in seven innings. However, a spell of wildness enabled the Brownies to nudge him for four runs when they mixed two timely hits with four walks in the fifth.

Al Zarilla, Eddie Robinson, Ken Wood and Jim Delsing hammered homers in the opener. The game was deadlocked three times at 2-2, 4-4 and 6-6. The White Sox snapped the final tie with a two run rally in the seventh. Box:

NEW YORK, April 25—(INS)—Comeback Frank Shea, who has been plagued with injuries ever since he won 14 games as a freshman in 1947, pitched a four-hit shutout today as the New York Yankees subdued Philadelphia, 4 to 0.

It was the Yank's third shutout in eight games and their second in a row. It also brightened the return of Manager Casey Stengel, who was hospitalized overnight with a kidney ailment.

The Yanks collected only seven hits off Alex Kellner, who suffered his first defeat. Box:

Romney Wallops Petersburg Nine

Take PVC Lead With 16-5 Win

ROMNEY, W. Va., April 25 — Romney High's Pioneers took over sole possession of first place in the Potomac Valley Conference today with an easy 16-5 victory over Petersburg High's Vikings.

Taking advantage of Petersburg's pitcher's wildness the Pioneers tallied in every inning but the fifth and crushed the visitors with an 11-run outburst in the third frame. Henry Moomau, Viking hurler, gave up 10 bases on balls and hit five batsmen.

Romney's win gave it a 5-1 conference record while second-place Keyser has a 4-1 mark. Keyser can knot it up again with a victory at Petersburg this afternoon. Romney will play the Vikings again at Petersburg Tuesday and will meet Fort Ashby at Romney next Thursday in conference contests. The box:

Pro Cage Loop Drafts 86 Star College Players

Baltimore Picks Gene Melchiorre

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — Eighty-six college basketball stars, headed by All-Americas Gene Melchiorre and Sam Ranzino, were drafted today by the ten teams in the National Basketball Association.

Melchiorre, a 5-8 ball of fire from Bradley, was the No. 1 pick of Baltimore, which had first choice in the regular draft. Ranzino, tenth-ranking scorer among the major leagues last season, was the No. 1 selection of the Rochester Royals, league champions.

Other first choices were:

Tri-Cities—Mel Hutchins, Brigham Young; Indianapolis — Marcus Freiberger, Oklahoma; Fort Wayne — Zeke Sinicola, Niagara; Syracuse — John McConathy, Northwest Louisiana; New York — Ed Smith, Harvard; Boston—Ernie Barrett, Kansas State; Philadelphia— Don Sunderlage, Illinois; Minneapolis—Meyer (Whitey) Skoog) Minnesota.

Skoog actually was the first collegian to be drafted. Each team was given the privilege of choosing any one player in its own territory instead of its No. 1 pick in the regular draft. All teams, with the exception of Minneapolis which selected Skoog, passed.

The teams picked in reverse order to their finish in the standings during the regular season. Thus the picking order was Baltimore, Tri-Cities, Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Syracuse, New York, Boston, Rochester, Philadelphia and Minneapolis.

The three other members of the Associated Press' All-America, Kentucky's Bill Spivey, Kansas' Clyde Lovellette, and Temple's Bill Mlkvy, are juniors and could not be drafted.

Ted's Homer Wins

CINCINNATI, April 25—(AP)—Ted Kluszewski clubbed out a two-run homer in the eighth inning tonight to give Cincinnati its second National League victory of the season, a 4 to 3 decision over the Chicago Cubs. Score:

Starkey, Sampson Bout Set Tonight In Brooklyn Ring

Randall "Skeets" Starkey, local light-heavyweight boxer, and Harold Sampson, Cliffside Park, N. J., protege of Gus Lesnevich, former 175-pound champion, are scheduled to meet in an eight-round feature match tonight at the Eastern Parkway Arena in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The match was postponed from last Thursday night and the reason given was the "MacArthur arrival."

Starkey has scored 20 consecutive victories since he turned pro. He has won five bouts in a row in New York at the smaller sporting clubs.

Skeets is favored to cop his 21st victory over Sampson who has lost two recent fight to middleweights. The New Jersey lad dropped a decision to Joe Giardello, Southwark, Pa., Class B middleweight, and was kayoed by Paul Pender, a Class A middleweight.

Giants Drop 7th Straight

Heintzelman Pitches Phils To 2-1 Win

PHILADELPHIA, April 25—(INS)—Ken Heintzelman and the Philadelphia Phillies sent the Giants down to their seventh straight defeat today, winning 2 to 1 as the slumping New Yorkers left 12 men on base.

Richie Ashburn singled for the first Philly run in the first inning and Gran Hamner doubled for the winning counter in the fourth to tag Larry Jansen with the loss.

The Giants' only run off Heintzelman's eight-hit pitching came in the seventh on a walk, Clint Hartung's single, and a long fly by Ray Noble. The Giants loaded the bases with one out on two other occasions, but each time Hartung popped up. Box:

Dodger Hurler Rex Barney Asks To Be Retired

Says He No Longer Can Help NL Club

BROOKLYN, April 25 (AP) — Pitcher Rex Barney, once regarded as a great prospect by the Brooklyn Dodgers, asked tonight to be placed on the voluntarily retired list.

"I know that I cannot pitch for the Dodgers or any other major league club right now," the 26-year-old righthander wrote to Buzzy Bavasi, vice president of the Dodgers.

"My wife and I have given the matter considerable thought and I think that it would be better for everyone if I tried my luck in another business.

"I want to thank Charlie Dressen and the coaches of the Brooklyn club. They have tried their best to help me," continued Barney who pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Giants three years ago.

Barney, who was signed out of Creighton Prep, Omaha, in 1943, was with Durham and Montreal for brief periods that season before going into the army.

He returned in 1946 and won two games and lost five. The next season he reversed the record with five wins and made a highly favorable impression in the World Series against the Yankees.

The 1948 season was his best, winning 15 and losing 13. He won 13, including the no-hitter and a one-hitter, after mid-season. He won nine and lost eight in 1949, but won only two and lost one last season, starting only once.

He was wilder than ever this spring and hasn't appeared in a National League contest.

Odds Go Up On Dead Derby Horse

RENO, Nev., April 25 (INS) — The Reno Turf Club, which claims it issues the only "official" future book on the Kentucky Derby, quoted the odds on derby eligible Bill Bailey at 200 to 1 today.

They represented a revision of the odds, since the Reno Turf Club's previous release listed Bill Bailey at 150 to 1, but the change was understandable.

Bill Bailey has been dead for nearly a month.

The Sports Trail

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—In belittling the pennant chances of the New York Yankees, a nagging habit we picked up somewhere, we have had the tendency to consider the club as made up of gnarled, wind-whipped old oaks with moss on their north sides.

We'd look at Johnny Mize (38); Joe DiMaggio (36), and Phil Rizzuto and Billy Johnson (each 32), and reckon that any team that relied so heavily on such baseball antiques just couldn't hold together over a season.

There is no doubt but that Mize is practically a centenarian, speaking from a baseball standpoint, and that DiMaggio is at least 80 years old. Rizzuto and Johnson, it must be admitted, are still young enough to jump creeks, although no longer kids.

What we, and a lot of other folks, failed to appreciate is the fact that youngsters have been creeping into the Yankee lineup almost furtively, like a boy crawling under a circus tent. Enough of them, in fact, for the average age of the eight regulars to be more than a year less than that of the favored Red Sox, and less than three years older than that of the Philadelphia Phillies, famed as the "Whiz Kids."

They come in one or two at a time and usually are broken in easily so they aren't noticed too much, although some, such as Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle, you just can't hide very well.

One year it is Berra. Another year it is Hank Bauer and Cliff Mapes. Another year it is Gerry Coleman, still another Jackie Jensen. This year it's Mantle. The Lindells and the Henrichs and the Stirnweisses depart, and their going scarcely is noticed. The youngsters fill in the vacant slots and the team continues on its winning way.

Berra has been in the public prints so much it seems that he must be ready for a pension. Yogi is only 25. Coleman is 26, Jensen 24, and the precocious Mantle only 19. They bring the regular lineup's average age down to an even 29 years, despite the presence of Mize, DiMag, Rizzuto and Johnson. Philadelphia's Whiz Kids average 26¾.

The Red Sox have no real antique at any one spot, but they have maturity pretty well sprinkled through the lineup. Billy Goodman is the kid of the squad, and he's 25. Walt Dropo is 27 and Matt Batts 28. The others are 30 or more, with the greatest ace centered in the most important area — short, second and centerfield. Lou Boudreau, Bobby Doerr and Dom DiMaggio each is 33.

Twelve events appear on today's card, namely, 100, 220, 440, 880 and mile runs, 440, 880 and mile relays, shot put, discus, high jump, and broad jump.

Fort Hill will also compete in the University of Maryland Meet, May 5, at College Park; Allegany County Meet, May 12; State Meet at McDonogh School, Baltimore, May 18, and the annual Fort Hill Invitational, the date of which will be announced later.

Dates For County Meets

The Allegany County meet for junior high schools is set for Wednesday, May 9, at 1:30 at the local stadium. The senior meet is carded Saturday, May 12 at 1 p. m. Walter Henry Elected Head In 7th Season

New Teams Join; Schedule To Get Underway May 7

Walter Henry, Grace Methodist, yesterday was elected president of the Central YMCA's Sunday School softball league, beginning its seventh season. Also named to head the loop's advisory board at a meeting last night at the "Y" were Jack Livengood, First Methodist, vice president, and Clifton Van Roby, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided at the meeting that rosters and forfeit fees would be due at the YMCA by 9 p. m. May 4, three days prior to the planned opening day of the schedule, May 7.

Two new teams were represented at yesterday's meeting, and have indicated they would like to join the circuit. They were Cresaptown and Corriganville Methodist churches.

All loop games will get underway at 6 p. m. and teams will field 10 players with a minimum of eight required to avoid forfeit. The winning team is required to report the results of the contest.

It also was decided that any participant of the YMCA Sunday School basketball league would not be eligible to compete in the softball circuit with any church team other than the one he played for in the cage loop.

Calvary Methodist is defending champion, defeating First Methodist two games to one in the playoffs last season.

Eleven teams were represented at last night's meeting with one regular entrant, Episcopal, not being represented. At the confab were Paul Rudolph, Zion Reformed; Carl Godwin, First Baptist, Bob Yeager, St. Luke's Lutheran; Stanley Merritt, Cresaptown Methodist; Bob Hutcheson, Presbyterian; Leslie Jenkins, Corriganville Methodist; Jack Livengood, First Methodist, John Murphy, United Brethren; Homer Martz, Park Place Methodist; Walter Henry, Grace Methodist; and Paul Fisher, Calvary Methodist.

SUES BASEBALL—Jim Prendergast, Syracuse International League pitcher who was traded to Beaumont of the Texas League but did not report said yesterday he would file suit for $150,000 damages against the Syracuse club in a challenge of baseball's controversial reserve clause.

Chisox, Browns Divide Twin Bill

Lights Used In Final; Sox Win 8-6, Lose 7-4

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP) — The Chicago White Sox divided a double header with the St. Louis Browns here today, winning the opener 8-6 and dropping the nightcap 7-4 in a contest played under the lights from the second inning on.

The Browns captured the nightcap with a three-run rally in the ninth off Marv Rotblatt and Harry Dorish. Ray Coleman blasted his second homer of the season into the right field stands and Al Moss and Johnny Bero doubled to rout Rotblatt. Ned Garver greeted Dorish with a single that tallied Bero.

Garver relieved Dick Starr during a three-run uprising with which the White Sox tied the score at 4-4 in the seventh. It was his second victory of the season. Joe Dobson, making his starting debut for the Comiskeys, yielded only four hits in seven innings. However, a spell of wildness enabled the Brownies to nudge him for four runs when they mixed two timely hits with four walks in the fifth.

Al Zarilla, Eddie Robinson, Ken Wood and Jim Delsing hammered homers in the opener. The game was deadlocked three times at 2-2, 4-4 and 6-6. The White Sox snapped the final tie with a two run rally in the seventh. Box:

Pro Cage Loop Drafts 86 Star College Players

Baltimore Picks Gene Melchiorre

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — Eighty-six college basketball stars, headed by All-Americas Gene Melchiorre and Sam Ranzino, were drafted today by the ten teams in the National Basketball Association.

Melchiorre, a 5-8 ball of fire from Bradley, was the No. 1 pick of Baltimore, which had first choice in the regular draft. Ranzino, tenth-ranking scorer among the major leagues last season, was the No. 1 selection of the Rochester Royals, league champions.

Other first choices were:

Tri-Cities—Mel Hutchins, Brigham Young; Indianapolis — Marcus Freiberger, Oklahoma; Fort Wayne — Zeke Sinicola, Niagara; Syracuse — John McConathy, Northwest Louisiana; New York — Ed Smith, Harvard; Boston—Ernie Barrett, Kansas State; Philadelphia— Don Sunderlage, Illinois; Minneapolis—Meyer (Whitey) Skoog) Minnesota.

Skoog actually was the first collegian to be drafted. Each team was given the privilege of choosing any one player in its own territory instead of its No. 1 pick in the regular draft. All teams, with the exception of Minneapolis which selected Skoog, passed.

The teams picked in reverse order to their finish in the standings during the regular season. Thus the picking order was Baltimore, Tri-Cities, Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Syracuse, New York, Boston, Rochester, Philadelphia and Minneapolis.

The three other members of the Associated Press' All-America, Kentucky's Bill Spivey, Kansas' Clyde Lovellette, and Temple's Bill Mlkvy, are juniors and could not be drafted.

Starkey, Sampson Bout Set Tonight In Brooklyn Ring

Randall "Skeets" Starkey, local light-heavyweight boxer, and Harold Sampson, Cliffside Park, N. J., protege of Gus Lesnevich, former 175-pound champion, are scheduled to meet in an eight-round feature match tonight at the Eastern Parkway Arena in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The match was postponed from last Thursday night and the reason given was the "MacArthur arrival."

Starkey has scored 20 consecutive victories since he turned pro. He has won five bouts in a row in New York at the smaller sporting clubs.

Skeets is favored to cop his 21st victory over Sampson who has lost two recent fight to middleweights. The New Jersey lad dropped a decision to Joe Giardello, Southwark, Pa., Class B middleweight, and was kayoed by Paul Pender, a Class A middleweight.

Says He No Longer Can Help NL Club

BROOKLYN, April 25 (AP) — Pitcher Rex Barney, once regarded as a great prospect by the Brooklyn Dodgers, asked tonight to be placed on the voluntarily retired list.

"I know that I cannot pitch for the Dodgers or any other major league club right now," the 26-year-old righthander wrote to Buzzy Bavasi, vice president of the Dodgers.

"My wife and I have given the matter considerable thought and I think that it would be better for everyone if I tried my luck in another business.

"I want to thank Charlie Dressen and the coaches of the Brooklyn club. They have tried their best to help me," continued Barney who pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Giants three years ago.

Barney, who was signed out of Creighton Prep, Omaha, in 1943, was with Durham and Montreal for brief periods that season before going into the army.

He returned in 1946 and won two games and lost five. The next season he reversed the record with five wins and made a highly favorable impression in the World Series against the Yankees.

The 1948 season was his best, winning 15 and losing 13. He won 13, including the no-hitter and a one-hitter, after mid-season. He won nine and lost eight in 1949, but won only two and lost one last season, starting only once.

He was wilder than ever this spring and hasn't appeared in a National League contest.

Romney Wallops Petersburg Nine

Take PVC Lead With 16-5 Win

ROMNEY, W. Va., April 25 — Romney High's Pioneers took over sole possession of first place in the Potomac Valley Conference today with an easy 16-5 victory over Petersburg High's Vikings.

Taking advantage of Petersburg's pitcher's wildness the Pioneers tallied in every inning but the fifth and crushed the visitors with an 11-run outburst in the third frame. Henry Moomau, Viking hurler, gave up 10 bases on balls and hit five batsmen.

Romney's win gave it a 5-1 conference record while second-place Keyser has a 4-1 mark. Keyser can knot it up again with a victory at Petersburg this afternoon. Romney will play the Vikings again at Petersburg Tuesday and will meet Fort Ashby at Romney next Thursday in conference contests. The box:

PHILADELPHIA, April 25—(INS)—Ken Heintzelman and the Philadelphia Phillies sent the Giants down to their seventh straight defeat today, winning 2 to 1 as the slumping New Yorkers left 12 men on base.

The Giants' only run off Heintzelman's eight-hit pitching came in the seventh on a walk, Clint Hartung's single, and a long fly by Ray Noble. The Giants loaded the bases with one out on two other occasions, but each time Hartung popped up. Box:

The Sports Trail

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—In belittling the pennant chances of the New York Yankees, a nagging habit we picked up somewhere, we have had the tendency to consider the club as made up of gnarled, wind-whipped old oaks with moss on their north sides.

We'd look at Johnny Mize (38), Joe DiMaggio (36), and Phil Rizzuto and Billy Johnson (each 32), and reckon that any team that relied so heavily on such baseball antiques just couldn't hold together over a season.

There is no doubt but that Mize is practically a centenarian, speaking from a baseball standpoint, and that DiMaggio is at least 80 years old. Rizzuto and Johnson, it must be admitted, are still young enough to jump creeks, although no longer kids.

What we, and a lot of other folks, failed to appreciate is the fact that youngsters have been creeping into the Yankee lineup almost furtively, like a boy crawling under a circus tent. Enough of them, in fact, for the average age of the eight regulars to be more than a year less than that of the favored Red Sox, and less than three years older than that of the Philadelphia Phillies, famed as the "Whiz Kids."

They come in one or two at a time and usually are broken in easily so they aren't noticed too much, although some, such as Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle, you just can't hide very well.

One year it is Berra. Another year it is Hank Bauer and Cliff Mapes. Another year it is Gerry Coleman, still another Jackie Jensen. This year it's Mantle. The Lindells and the Henrichs and the Stirnweisses depart, and their going scarcely is noticed. The youngsters fill in the vacant slots and the team continues on its winning way.

Berra has been in the public prints so much it seems that he must be ready for a pension. Yogi is only 25. Coleman is 26, Jensen 24, and the precocious Mantle only 19. They bring the regular lineup's average age down to an even 29 years, despite the presence of Mize, DiMag, Rizzuto and Johnson. Philadelphia's Whiz Kids average 26¾.

The Red Sox have no real antique at any one spot, but they have maturity pretty well sprinkled through the lineup. Billy Goodman is the kid of the squad, and he's 25. Walt Dropo is 27 and Matt Batts 28. The others are 30 or more, with the greatest ace centered in the most important area — short, second and centerfield. Lou Boudreau, Bobby Doerr and Dom DiMaggio each is 33.

Pro Cage Loop Drafts 86 Star College Players

Baltimore Picks Gene Melchiorre

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP) — Eighty-six college basketball stars, headed by All-Americas Gene Melchiorre and Sam Ranzino, were drafted today by the ten teams in the National Basketball Association.

Melchiorre, a 5-8 ball of fire from Bradley, was the No. 1 pick of Baltimore, which had first choice in the regular draft. Ranzino, tenth-ranking scorer among the major leagues last season, was the No. 1 selection of the Rochester Royals, league champions.

Other first choices were:

Tri-Cities—Mel Hutchins, Brigham Young; Indianapolis — Marcus Freiberger, Oklahoma; Fort Wayne — Zeke Sinicola, Niagara; Syracuse — John McConathy, Northwest Louisiana; New York — Ed Smith, Harvard; Boston—Ernie Barrett, Kansas State; Philadelphia— Don Sunderlage, Illinois; Minneapolis—Meyer (Whitey) Skoog) Minnesota.

Skoog actually was the first collegian to be drafted. Each team was given the privilege of choosing any one player in its own territory instead of its No. 1 pick in the regular draft. All teams, with the exception of Minneapolis which selected Skoog, passed.

The teams picked in reverse order to their finish in the standings during the regular season. Thus the picking order was Baltimore, Tri-Cities, Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Syracuse, New York, Boston, Rochester, Philadelphia and Minneapolis.

The three other members of the Associated Press' All-America, Kentucky's Bill Spivey, Kansas' Clyde Lovellette, and Temple's Bill Mikvy, are juniors and could not be drafted.

The match was postponed from last Thursday night and the reason given was the "MacArthur arrival."

Starkey has scored 20 consecutive victories since he turned pro. He has won five bouts in a row in New York at the smaller sporting clubs.

Skeets is favored to cop his 21st victory over Sampson who has lost two recent fight to middleweights. The New Jersey lad dropped a decision to Joe Giardello, Southwark, Pa., Class B middleweight, and was kayoed by Paul Pender, a Class A middleweight.

Dodger Hurler Rex Barney Asks To Be Retired

Says He No Longer Can Help NL Club

BROOKLYN, April 25 (AP) — Pitcher Rex Barney, once regarded as a great prospect by the Brooklyn Dodgers, asked tonight to be placed on the voluntarily retired list.

"I know that I cannot pitch for the Dodgers or any other major league club right now," the 26-year-old righthander wrote to Buzzy Bavasi, vice president of the Dodgers.

"My wife and I have given the matter considerable thought and I think that it would be better for everyone if I tried my luck in another business.

"I want to thank Charlie Dressen and the coaches of the Brooklyn club. They have tried their best to help me," continued Barney who pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the Giants three years ago.

Barney, who was signed out of Creighton Prep, Omaha, in 1943, was with Durham and Montreal for brief periods that season before going into the army.

He returned in 1946 and won two games and lost five. The next season he reversed the record with five wins and made a highly favorable impression in the World Series against the Yankees.

The 1948 season was his best, winning 15 and losing 13. He won 13, including the no-hitter and a one-hitter, after mid-season. He won nine and lost eight in 1949, but won only two and lost one last season, starting only once.

He was wilder than ever this spring and hasn't appeared in a National League contest.

BROOKLYN, April 25—(AP)—Sam Jethroe's ninth inning homer with one on and two out gave the Boston Braves a 6 to 5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers at Ebbets Field tonight. Brooklyn had taken a 5-4 lead in the eighth when Jackie Robinson, apparently caught in a rundown, was allowed to score from third after the umpires had ruled interference on the part of Walker Cooper, Boston catcher. Walter Henry Elected Head In 7th Season

New Teams Join; Schedule To Get Underway May 7

Walter Henry, Grace Methodist, yesterday was elected president of the Central YMCA's Sunday School softball league, beginning its seventh season. Also named to head the loop's advisory board at a meeting last night at the "Y" were Jack Livengood, First Methodist, vice president, and Clifton Van Roby, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided at the meeting that rosters and forfeit fees would be due at the YMCA by 9 p. m. May 4, three days prior to the planned opening day of the schedule, May 7.

Two new teams were represented at yesterday's meeting, and have indicated they would like to join the circuit. They were Cresaptown and Corriganville Methodist churches.

All loop games will get underway at 6 p. m. and teams will field 10 players with a minimum of eight required to avoid forfeit. The winning team is required to report the results of the contest.

It also was decided that any participant of the YMCA Sunday School basketball league would not be eligible to compete in the softball circuit with any church team other than the one he played for in the cage loop.

Calvary Methodist is defending champion, defeating First Methodist two games to one in the playoffs last season.

Romney Wallops Petersburg Nine

Take PVC Lead With 16-5 Win

ROMNEY, W. Va., April 25 — Romney High's Pioneers took over sole possession of first place in the Potomac Valley Conference today with an easy 16-5 victory over Petersburg High's Vikings.

Taking advantage of Petersburg's pitcher's wildness the Pioneers tallied in every inning but the fifth and crushed the visitors with an 11-run outburst in the third frame. Henry Moomau, Viking hurler, gave up 10 bases on balls and hit five batsmen.

Romney's win gave it a 5-1 conference record while second-place Keyser has a 4-1 mark. Keyser can knot it up again with a victory at Petersburg this afternoon. Romney will play the Vikings again at Petersburg Tuesday and will meet Fort Ashby at Romney next Thursday in conference contests. The box:

Chisox, Browns Divide Twin Bill

Lights Used In Final; Sox Win 8-6, Lose 7-4

CHICAGO, April 25 (AP) — The Chicago White Sox divided a double header with the St. Louis Browns here today, winning the opener 8-6 and dropping the nightcap 7-4 in a contest played under the lights from the second inning on.

The Browns captured the nightcap with a three-run rally in the ninth off Marv Rotblatt and Harry Dorish. Ray Coleman blasted his second homer of the season into the right field stands and Al Moss and Johnny Bero doubled to rout Rotblatt. Ned Garver greeted Dorish with a single that tallied Bero.

Garver relieved Dick Starr during a three-run uprising with which the White Sox tied the score at 4-4 in the seventh. It was his second victory of the season. Joe Dobson, making his starting debut for the Comiskeys, yielded only four hits in seven innings. However, a spell of wildness enabled the Brownies to nudge him for four runs when they mixed two timely hits with four walks in the fifth.

Al Zarilla, Eddie Robinson, Ken Wood and Jim Delsing hammered homers in the opener. The game was deadlocked three times at 2-2, 4-4 and 6-6. The White Sox snapped the final tie with a two run rally in the seventh. Box:

Wins First Game For Yanks Since '48

NEW YORK, April 26—(INS)—Comeback Frank Shea, who has been plagued with injuries ever since he won 14 games as a freshman in 1947, pitched a four-hit shutout today as the New York Yankees subdued Philadelphia, 4 to 0.

It was the Yank's third shutout in eight games and their second in a row. It also brightened the return of Manager Casey Stengel, who was hospitalized overnight with a kidney ailment.

The Yanks collected only seven hits off Alex Kellner, who suffered his first defeat. Box:

The Sports Trail

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK, April 25 (AP)—In belittling the pennant chances of the New York Yankees, a nagging habit we picked up somewhere, we have had the tendency to consider the club as made up of gnarled, wind-whipped old oaks with moss on their north sides.

We'd look at Johnny Mize (38); Joe DiMaggio (36), and Phil Rizzuto and Billy Johnson (each 32), and reckon that any team that relied so heavily on such baseball antiques just couldn't hold together over a season.

There is no doubt but that Mize is practically a centenarian, speaking from a baseball standpoint, and that DiMaggio is at least 80 years old. Rizzuto and Johnson, it must be admitted, are still young enough to jump creeks, although no longer kids.

What we, and a lot of other folks, failed to appreciate is the fact that youngsters have been creeping into the Yankee lineup almost furtively, like a boy crawling under a circus tent. Enough of them, in fact, for the average age of the eight regulars to be more than a year less than that of the favored Red Sox, and less than three years older than that of the Philadelphia Phillies, famed as the "Whiz Kids."

They come in one or two at a time and usually are broken in easily so they aren't noticed too much, although some, such as Yogi Berra and Mickey Mantle, you just can't hide very well.

One year it is Berra. Another year it is Hank Bauer and Cliff Mapes. Another year it is Gerry Coleman, still another Jackie Jensen. This year it's Mantle. The Lindells and the Henrichs and the Stirnweisses depart, and their going scarcely is noticed. The youngsters fill in the vacant slots and the team continues on its winning way.

Berra has been in the public prints so much it seems that he must be ready for a pension. Yogi is only 25. Coleman is 26, Jensen 24, and the precocious Mantle only 19. They bring the regular lineup's average age down to an even 29 years, despite the presence of Mize, DiMag, Rizzuto and Johnson. Philadelphia's Whiz Kids average 26¾.

The Red Sox have no real antique at any one spot, but they have maturity pretty well sprinkled through the lineup. Billy Goodman is the kid of the squad, and he's 25. Walt Dropo is 27 and Matt Batts 28. The others are 30 or more, with the greatest ace centered in the most important area — short, second and centerfield. Lou Boudreau, Bobby Doerr and Dom DiMaggio each is 33.

blowouts can happen to any tire...BUT

LIFEGUARD SAFETY TUBES by GOODYEAR make BLOWOUTS HARMLESS

LIFEGUARD has 2 air chambers. In case of blowout, only outer chamber gives way.

Protect your car, your family and yourself against blowout accidents. LifeGuard Safety Tubes make a blowout as harmless as a slow leak. When your car is equipped with LifeGuards, you can drive with your mind free from fear of death . . . disaster . . . and the destruction that too often results from blowouts.

You can get thousands of safe, extra miles from retreaded tires, and it can be done safely if you use LifeGuards for protection against tire failure.

LifeGuards will help you get the last mile from your present tires with safety and will usually last through at least two additional sets.

PROVED BLOWOUT ACCIDENT PROTECTION FOR OVER 16 YEARS

When a tire with an ordinary tube blows out, the single air compartment collapses — the wheel drops suddenly, usually throwing the car out of control.

When tire with LifeGuard blows out, only the outer chamber gives way — reserve cord fabric inner tire supports car — deflates slowly. You have ample time to bring car to safe, straightline stop.

Government regulations still permit the manufacture of premium-safety LifeGuard Safety Tubes by Goodyear. Remember, you can't get better protection . . . to save your life.

blowouts can happen to any tire...BUT

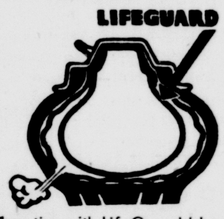
LIFEGUARD SAFETY TUBES by GOODYEAR make BLOWOUTS HARMLESS

Protect your car, your family and yourself against blowout accidents. LifeGuard Safety Tubes make a blowout as harmless as a slow leak. When your car is equipped with LifeGuards, you can drive with your mind free from fear of death . . . disaster . . . and the destruction that too often results from blowouts.

You can get thousands of safe, extra miles from retreaded tires, and it can be done safely if you use LifeGuards for protection against tire failure.

LifeGuards will help you get the last mile from your present tires with safety and will usually last through at least two additional sets.

PROVED BLOWOUT ACCIDENT PROTECTION FOR OVER 16 YEARS



When a tire with an ordinary tube blows out, the single air compartment collapses — the wheel drops suddenly, usually throwing the car out of control.

When tire with LifeGuard blows out, only the outer chamber gives way — reserve cord fabric inner tire supports car — deflates slowly. You have ample time to bring car to safe, straightline stop.

Government regulations still permit the manufacture of premium-safety LifeGuard Safety Tubes by Goodyear. Remember, you can't get better protection . . . to save your life.

Augustus Entry Cops Feature At Bowie Track

Joe Culmone Is Suspended 5 Days

BOWIE, Md., April 25 (AP) —Mrs. E. H. Augustus' team of Besiege and Midyear earned first and third money, respectively, in the $3,500 Magothy purse, featured six-furlong dash of today's Southern Maryland Agricultural Association program.

Besiege, who scored by three lengths under Tim McGonigal, was separated from his stablemate by Saddle River Stabel's Mondaval, who held on to place after being outrun by Besiege in the early stages.

The Augustus' pair was heavily supported at the mutual windows and returned only $4.80 for $2. Besiege, who moved up to the allowance rank after winning from maidens at Laurel, scampered the three-quarters in 1.13.

Earlier in the program, the track stewards announced that Joe Culmone leading rider of the Maryland spring season, had been suspended for five days for rough riding aboard Airdrome in yesterday's second race. It was Culmone's first suspension in Maryland and his time on the ground begins tomorrow.

The Magothy purse found Besiege and Mondaval running head and head for the first half mile. However, Besiege, a son of Blenheim 2nd and Late Date who cost Mrs. Augustus $28,500 as a yearling, pulled in the stretch and won with some speed in reserve.

Growing Up Won

JAMAICA, L. I., April 25 (AP) — Closing with a cyclonic rush in the last eighth of a mile, Warbern Sable's Growing Up, today won the $15,000 added Correction Handicap before 22,471 fans at Jamaica race track.

The 4-year-old daughter of Maxim-Macie Margaret, carrying the feathery impost of 110 pounds, 15 off the scale and 18 less than the top-weighted Next Move, stepped the six furlongs in the good time of 1:11 2-5.

A length back came William Ewing's Dark Favorite, a 45-1 long shot, who cut out all the pace and appeared the winner until Growing Up surged out of the pack under Ted Atkinson.

E. M. O'Brien's Miss Degree also closed stoutly to finish third. Another length back Belair Stud's Vulcania 50-1, pressed Dark Favorite until mid-Stretch before giving way. Apheim Stable's Jacodema was a stout contender until the sixteenth pole.

Little League Schedule Set Up At Frostburg

Player Auction To Be Held May 7

FROSTBURG — The directors and managing personnel of the Frostburg Little Baseball League met in the City Hall Tuesday evening, and set up a practice schedule for the coming weeks.

All boys trying out for the teams are scheduled to meet at the Community Ball Park at 4 p. m., Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday for practice. On Saturday, practice will begin at 10 a. m., and end at noon.

Practice Set

Next week, with Daylight Saving Time in effect, practice will be held from 6 to 8 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and at 10 a. m. Saturday morning.

Coach Ray MacFarland will be in charge of these practice sessions, and will check the attendance and the batting, fielding, pitching and catching proficiency of each of the applicants.

This record will then be available for the four managers of the Little League Teams, and on May 7, a Player Auction will be held.

At this Auction, the four managers will bid for the players. Each manager is allowed 36,000 points, and he may bid as many points as he desires for any player.

However, if he spends all of his points for several players, he cannot bid for any more players until all of the managers have exhausted their points also.

Equipment Ordered

Two more complete sets of catcher's equipment were ordered, so that each of the four teams will have a set of its own at all times, and according to the rules set up by the national organization, six batting helmets were also ordered, as it is compulsory that each boy don a protective cap when he bats. This is to eliminate injury by 'beaning.'

Tad Bond was elected "Commissioner of Little League Baseball" at this meeting. Bond's duty will be to be familiar with all of the rules and regulations of the Little League, and act as arbiter when any question arises within the League.

Clarence Richardson, Raymond MacFarland, Pecks Kidwell, William Biggs, Eddie Clark, James Haar, Dale Coleman and Jack Densmore were elected to head the Farm Teams of the League.

A meeting was set for next Monday at 8 p. m. in the City Hall.

The Bill of Complaint states that on the 6th day of October, 1946, the parties were married in Frostburg, Maryland, and that they lived together as husband and wife until on or about January 20, 1949, when the Defendant abandoned and deserted the Plaintiff and declared his intention to live with her no longer, and that said abandonment has continued uninterruptedly from that time down to the present time, and that said abandonment is for at least twenty-seven (27) months, and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable hope of reconciliation.

That no children were born of said marriage.

That the Plaintiff desires the right to resume her maiden name of Blanche Lloyd.

That the Plaintiff is a resident of the State of Maryland, and that the Defendant is a resident of Martinsburg, W. Va., and a non-resident of the State of Maryland.

The Sports Trail

Despite their years, we still like the Red Sox, figuring speed makes little difference when you hit a home run, which the Sox figure to do more than seldom.

Their main drawback, aside from a perverse unwillingness to win in the Yankee Stadium, would seem to be the slowness of their infield. Dropo, Doerr, Boudreau and Vern Stephens aren't famed for their ability to catch rabbits in an open field.

Boudreau and Doerr execute double plays with a rhythm that approaches beauty, but there remains the question of whether they are reaching all the balls that could be turned into double plays. Their range may be somewhat limited.

Mize, of course, plays standing guard at first base for the Yankees, and Johnson doesn't exactly have the agility of an adagio dancer, although playing third base doesn't require great agility. It requires a stout chest, which Johnson has, and an ability to dive to the left or right with little delay, which he also has.

The Yankees do have speed around second base where it counts most though. And the old gaffer in center field still gets around.

Augustus Entry Cops Feature At Bowie Track

Joe Culmone Is Suspended 5 Days

BOWIE, Md., April 25 (AP) —Mrs. E. H. Augustus' team of Besiege and Midyear earned first and third money, respectively, in the $3,500 Magothy purse, featured six-furlong dash of today's Southern Maryland Agricultural Association program.

Besiege, who scored by three lengths under Tim McGonigal, was separated from his stablemate by Saddle River Stabel's Mondaval, who held on to place after being outrun by Besiege in the early stages.

The Augustus' pair was heavily supported at the mutual windows and returned only $4.80 for $2. Besiege, who moved up to the allowance rank after winning from maidens at Laurel, scampered the three-quarters in 1.13.

Earlier in the program, the track stewards announced that Joe Culmone leading rider of the Maryland spring season, had been suspended for five days for rough riding aboard Airdrome in yesterday's second race. It was Culmone's first suspension in Maryland and his time on the ground begins tomorrow.

The Magothy purse found Besiege and Mondaval running head and head for the first half mile. However, Besiege, a son of Blenheim 2nd and Late Date who cost Mrs. Augustus $28,500 as a yearling, pulled in the stretch and won with some speed in reserve.

Growing Up Won

JAMAICA, L. I., April 25 (AP) — Closing with a cyclonic rush in the last eighth of a mile, Warbern Sable's Growing Up, today won the $15,000 added Correction Handicap before 22,471 fans at Jamaica race track.

The 4-year-old daughter of Maxim-Macie Margaret, carrying the feathery impost of 110 pounds, 15 off the scale and 18 less than the top-weighted Next Move, stepped the six furlongs in the good time of 1:11 2-5.

A length back came William Ewing's Dark Favorite, a 45-1 long shot, who cut out all the pace and appeared the winner until Growing Up surged out of the pack under Ted Atkinson.

E. M. O'Brien's Miss Degree also closed stoutly to finish third. Another length back Belair Stud's Vulcania 50-1, pressed Dark Favorite until mid-Stretch before giving way. Apheim Stable's Jacodema was a stout contender until the sixteenth pole.

"CITIZENS OF TOMORROW"—These two Central High School seniors were the Lonaconing Rotary Club's "Citizens of Tomorrow" representatives at the District Rotary Conference held at the Bedford Springs Hotel, Bedford, Pa., this week. They are Robert John Cook, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cook, St. Mary's Terrace, Lonaconing, and William James McElvie, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. McElvie, 9 West Main Street, Lonaconing.

Little League Schedule Set Up At Frostburg

Player Auction To Be Held May 7

FROSTBURG — The directors and managing personnel of the Frostburg Little Baseball League met in the City Hall Tuesday evening, and set up a practice schedule for the coming weeks.

All boys trying out for the teams are scheduled to meet at the Community Ball Park at 4 p. m., Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday for practice. On Saturday, practice will begin at 10 a. m., and end at noon.

Practice Set

Next week, with Daylight Saving Time in effect, practice will be held from 6 to 8 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and at 10 a. m. Saturday morning.

Coach Ray MacFarland will be in charge of these practice sessions, and will check the attendance and the batting, fielding, pitching and catching proficiency of each of the applicants.

This record will then be available for the four managers of the Little League Teams, and on May 7, a Player Auction will be held.

At this Auction, the four managers will bid for the players. Each manager is allowed 36,000 points, and he may bid as many points as he desires for any player.

However, if he spends all of his points for several players, he cannot bid for any more players until all of the managers have exhausted their points also.

Equipment Ordered

Two more complete sets of catcher's equipment were ordered, so that each of the four teams will have a set of its own at all times, and according to the rules set up by the national organization, six batting helmets were also ordered, as it is compulsory that each boy don a protective cap when he bats. This is to eliminate injury by 'beaning.'

Tad Bond was elected "Commissioner of Little League Baseball" at this meeting. Bond's duty will be to be familiar with all of the rules and regulations of the Little League, and act as arbiter when any question arises within the League.

Clarence Richardson, Raymond MacFarland, Pecks Kidwell, William Biggs, Eddie Clark, James Haar, Dale Coleman and Jack Densmore were elected to head the Farm Teams of the League.

A meeting was set for next Monday at 8 p. m. in the City Hall.

EXECUTORS' NOTICE

This is to give notice, that the subscribers have obtained from the Orphans' Court of Allegany County, Maryland, letters Testamentary on the estate of Dora E. Willison late of Allegany County, Maryland, deceased. All persons having claims against the deceased are hereby warned to exhibit the same, with the vouchers thereof duly authenticated, to the subscribers on or before the 17th day of October, 1951. They may otherwise by law be excluded from all benefit of the said estate. All persons knowing themselves indebted to said estate are requested to make immediate payment.

Augustus Entry Cops Feature At Bowie Track

Joe Culmone Is Suspended 5 Days

BOWIE, Md., April 25 (AP) —Mrs. E. H. Augustus' team of Besiege and Midyear earned first and third money, respectively, in the $3,500 Magothy purse, featured six-furlong dash of today's Southern Maryland Agricultural Association program.

Besiege, who scored by three lengths under Tim McGonigal, was separated from his stablemate by Saddle River Stabel's Mondaval, who held on to place after being outrun by Besiege in the early stages.

The Augustus' pair was heavily supported at the mutual windows and returned only $4.80 for $2. Besiege, who moved up to the allowance rank after winning from maidens at Laurel, scampered the three-quarters in 1.13.

Earlier in the program, the track stewards announced that Joe Culmone leading rider of the Maryland spring season, had been suspended for five days for rough riding aboard Airdrome in yesterday's second race. It was Culmone's first suspension in Maryland and his time on the ground begins tomorrow.

The Magothy purse found Besiege and Mondaval running head and head for the first half mile. However, Besiege, a son of Blenheim 2nd and Late Date who cost Mrs. Augustus $28,500 as a yearling, pulled in the stretch and won with some speed in reserve.

Growing Up Won

JAMAICA, L. I., April 25 (AP) — Closing with a cyclonic rush in the last eighth of a mile, Warbern Sable's Growing Up, today won the $15,000 added Correction Handicap before 22,471 fans at Jamaica race track.

The 4-year-old daughter of Maxim-Macie Margaret, carrying the feathery impost of 110 pounds, 15 off the scale and 18 less than the top-weighted Next Move, stepped the six furlongs in the good time of 1:11 2-5.

A length back came William Ewing's Dark Favorite, a 45-1 long shot, who cut out all the pace and appeared the winner until Growing Up surged out of the pack under Ted Atkinson.

E. M. O'Brien's Miss Degree also closed stoutly to finish third. Another length back Belair Stud's Vulcania 50-1, pressed Dark Favorite until mid-Stretch before giving way. Apheim Stable's Jacodema was a stout contender until the sixteenth pole.

"CITIZENS OF TOMORROW"—These two Central High School seniors were the Lonaconing Rotary Club's "Citizens of Tomorrow" representatives at the District Rotary Conference held at the Bedford Springs Hotel, Bedford, Pa., this week. They are Robert John Cook, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cook, St. Mary's Terrace, Lonaconing, and William James McElvie, son of Mr. and Mrs. James G. McElvie, 9 West Main Street, Lonaconing.

Little League Schedule Set Up At Frostburg

Player Auction To Be Held May 7

FROSTBURG — The directors and managing personnel of the Frostburg Little Baseball League met in the City Hall Tuesday evening, and set up a practice schedule for the coming weeks.

All boys trying out for the teams are scheduled to meet at the Community Ball Park at 4 p. m., Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday for practice. On Saturday, practice will begin at 10 a. m., and end at noon.

Practice Set

Next week, with Daylight Saving Time in effect, practice will be held from 6 to 8 p. m. on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, and at 10 a. m. Saturday morning.

Coach Ray MacFarland will be in charge of these practice sessions, and will check the attendance and the batting, fielding, pitching and catching proficiency of each of the applicants.

This record will then be available for the four managers of the Little League Teams, and on May 7, a Player Auction will be held.

At this Auction, the four managers will bid for the players. Each manager is allowed 36,000 points, and he may bid as many points as he desires for any player.

However, if he spends all of his points for several players, he cannot bid for any more players until all of the managers have exhausted their points also.

Equipment Ordered

Two more complete sets of catcher's equipment were ordered, so that each of the four teams will have a set of its own at all times, and according to the rules set up by the national organization, six batting helmets were also ordered, as it is compulsory that each boy don a protective cap when he bats. This is to eliminate injury by 'beaning.'

Tad Bond was elected "Commissioner of Little League Baseball" at this meeting. Bond's duty will be to be familiar with all of the rules and regulations of the Little League, and act as arbiter when any question arises within the League.

Clarence Richardson, Raymond MacFarland, Pecks Kidwell, William Biggs, Eddie Clark, James Haar, Dale Coleman and Jack Densmore were elected to head the Farm Teams of the League.

A meeting was set for next Monday at 8 p. m. in the City Hall.

The Sports Trail

Despite their years, we still like the Red Sox, figuring speed makes little difference when you hit a home run, which the Sox figure to do more than seldom.

Their main drawback, aside from a perverse unwillingness to win in the Yankee Stadium, would seem to be the slowness of their infield. Dropo, Doerr, Boudreau and Vern Stephens aren't famed for their ability to catch rabbits in an open field.

Boudreau and Doerr execute double plays with a rhythm that approaches beauty, but there remains the question of whether they are reaching all the balls that could be turned into double plays. Their range may be somewhat limited.

Mize, of course, plays standing guard at first base for the Yankees, and Johnson doesn't exactly have the agility of an adagio dancer, although playing third base doesn't require great agility. It requires a stout chest, which Johnson has, and an ability to dive to the left or right with little delay, which he also has.

The Yankees do have speed around second base where it counts most though. And the old gaffer in center field still gets around.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 25. (INS)—All the way from Oklahoma City came a call from Walter Helmerich saying, "I love Peggy Dow and I want to marry her. Please don't say that she has to make a choice between her career and me—she can have both. I'm in love with her and it does not make any difference to me if she wants to go on acting."

Helmerich has plenty of money to spend. Peggy could, if she cares to, stop her promising career, but that doesn't enter into the picture now—she can have both Walter and her work.

Peggy has now been borrowed from Universal-International by Sam Goldwyn for "I Want You," the Farley Granger film. In return Sam gives Joan Evans to U-I. The deal, as I understand it, called for one picture a year, which Peggy will make for Goldwyn, and one picture a year which Joan will make for U-I.

• — • — •

Lucky Kathryn Grayson gets Adrian to dress her in "Lovely To Look At." She and Howard Keel, who are such a romantic pair and who sing so beautifully in "Show Boat," are to be teamed in "Lovely" for which Adrian is designing the clothes.

I have already told you Marge and Gower Champion, those delightful dancers, also get a good break in "Lovely To Look At." They were also in "Show Boat" and this time they get even a better chance to parade their talents.

• — • — •

When Paul Douglas gets back to Hollywood from Pittsburgh with his lovely Jan Sterling, he won't be hanging his hat up at 20th.

Before he took off for the east he and 20th terminated his term deal without bloodshed or rancor on either side. I hear that Paul turned down a couple of roles which lead to his deciding to pick and choose his own.

Who can say whether he's to blame or 20th, but I'm sorry to see Paul leave a studio that makes such consistently good pictures.

• — • — •

Far be it from me to have another quarrel with Sam Goldwyn. I have had too many in the years I have known him.

But, it will take more than Sam to keep Farley Granger and Shelley Winters apart if they are really in love. Sam sent a representative over to the RKO Studio to tell Farley he wants him to stay away from Shelley. Farley said, "All right, you told me."

One hour later Farley and Shelley had reservations for New York. They are leaving Tuesday and plan to be gone two weeks vacationing and to see as many shows as possible.

Now Sam, you ought to know that the way to drive those two into each others arms is to object as you are doing.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Sympathy goes to Virginia Keith and her husband, Manlio Ciani, famed painter, in the loss of their expected baby.

There are probably few people who remember that the ballad "Old Soldiers Never Die" was used as background music to "This Above All," a picture Tyrone Power and Joan Fontaine made at 20th ten years ago. That was before Gen. MacArthur became our greatest modern hero and made the tune "Old Soldiers Never Die" so popular.

Escorting Barbara Whiting Dan Dailey applauded Ray Bolger's dances in "Where's Charley?" and laughed at his jokes. Dan is getting around these evenings. At Sardi's he gave with a few solid beats on the drums with Nappy Lamare and his Dixieland Band.

Moire Shearer was unable to attend the "Tales Of Hoffman" opening in London because at that moment she was having her appendix removed in the south of France.

Clare Luce, Rene Clair, the Garson Kanins and the George Kaufmans are all in town and, with the exception of Mrs. Luce, registered at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Maurice Chevalier and a party of six planed to London to catch Judy Garland at the Palladium. Now the $64 question is—did he fly on to Canada to try to get into the United States?

In London the British critics are raving over Raoul Walsh's directing of "Captain Horatio Hornblower." One of the critics credited Raoul with blazing a trail for successful cooperation between London and Hollywood film makers. Gregory Peck, the star, is also given a big hand.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 25. (INS)—All the way from Oklahoma City came a call from Walter Helmerich saying, "I love Peggy Dow and I want to marry her. Please don't say that she has to make a choice between her career and me—she can have both. I'm in love with her and it does not make any difference to me if she wants to go on acting."

Helmerich has plenty of money to spend. Peggy could, if she cares to, stop her promising career, but that doesn't enter into the picture now—she can have both Walter and her work.

Peggy has now been borrowed from Universal-International by Sam Goldwyn for "I Want You," the Farley Granger film. In return Sam gives Joan Evans to U-I. The deal, as I understand it, called for one picture a year, which Peggy will make for Goldwyn, and one picture a year which Joan will make for U-I.

• — • — •

Lucky Kathryn Grayson gets Adrian to dress her in "Lovely To Look At." She and Howard Keel, who are such a romantic pair and who sing so beautifully in "Show Boat," are to be teamed in "Lovely" for which Adrian is designing the clothes.

I have already told you Marge and Gower Champion, those delightful dancers, also get a good break in "Lovely To Look At." They were also in "Show Boat" and this time they get even a better chance to parade their talents.

• — • — •

When Paul Douglas gets back to Hollywood from Pittsburgh with his lovely Jan Sterling, he won't be hanging his hat up at 20th.

Before he took off for the east he and 20th terminated his term deal without bloodshed or rancor on either side. I hear that Paul turned down a couple of roles which lead to his deciding to pick and choose his own.

Who can say whether he's to blame or 20th, but I'm sorry to see Paul leave a studio that makes such consistently good pictures.

• — • — •

Far be it from me to have another quarrel with Sam Goldwyn. I have had too many in the years I have known him.

But, it will take more than Sam to keep Farley Granger and Shelley Winters apart if they are really in love. Sam sent a representative over to the RKO Studio to tell Farley he wants him to stay away from Shelley. Farley said, "All right, you told me."

One hour later Farley and Shelley had reservations for New York. They are leaving Tuesday and plan to be gone two weeks vacationing and to see as many shows as possible.

Now Sam, you ought to know that the way to drive those two into each others arms is to object as you are doing.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Sympathy goes to Virginia Keith and her husband, Manlio Ciani, famed painter, in the loss of their expected baby.

There are probably few people who remember that the ballad "Old Soldiers Never Die" was used as background music to "This Above All," a picture Tyrone Power and Joan Fontaine made at 20th ten years ago. That was before Gen. MacArthur became our greatest modern hero and made the tune "Old Soldiers Never Die" so popular.

Escorting Barbara Whiting Dan Dailey applauded Ray Bolger's dances in "Where's Charley?" and laughed at his jokes. Dan is getting around these evenings. At Sardi's he gave with a few solid beats on the drums with Nappy Lamare and his Dixieland Band.

Moire Shearer was unable to attend the "Tales Of Hoffman" opening in London because at that moment she was having her appendix removed in the south of France.

Clare Luce, Rene Clair, the Garson Kanins and the George Kaufmans are all in town and, with the exception of Mrs. Luce, registered at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Maurice Chevalier and a party of six planed to London to catch Judy Garland at the Palladium. Now the $64 question is—did he fly on to Canada to try to get into the United States?

In London the British critics are raving over Raoul Walsh's directing of "Captain Horatio Hornblower." One of the critics credited Raoul with blazing a trail for successful cooperation between London and Hollywood film makers. Gregory Peck, the star, is also given a big hand.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Horses can sleep standing up, due to the peculiar structure of their legs.

Rattlesnakes shed their fangs at least twice a year.

Broader Shoulders

FASHION: TV's Jack Carter (right) wears a smart knitted cotton sport shirt that has a wide chest stripe. It gives the effect of broader shoulders.

Food and Drink: You want your steak t-h-a-t thick? McCarthy's Steak House on Second Avenue, lets you slice your own—and charges you by weight. . . . You can now get those one-and-a-half-ounce liquor cruets (they're the tiny decanters used by fine hotels)—nice for your guests who like to mix their own. . . . Kord Cordials are now bottled in a wild goose pitcher that's a fine asset to your bar when empty.

Care of Clothes: You're not completely out of luck if the cuffs of your trousers show wear. A tailor can usually make false cuffs—and, if not, it isn't bad grooming to wear straight pants, with no cuffs at all.

Travel Tips: Make traveling shoe bags by cutting feet off old socks and closing one end with cord. . . . Save time and money when traveling by washing your own things—and then sending them out for steam pressing.

The Forgetful Sex: In a six-month period, the Lost and Found department of the New York subways retrieved four thousand women's umbrellas, only four hundred men's.

Clothing Patterns: Last week we illustrated three swatches of popular clothing weaves. Here are three more. Twill is sometimes referred to as two-toned diagonal, and nailhead may be called bird's-eye.

Gadgets: Piasti-Stitch—a boon to bachelors. Just press knit patches on socks or clothes. . . . Magna-Coaster Tray, a serving tray with six magnetized plastic coasters that keep drinks from spilling.

Broader Shoulders

Carte

FASHION: TV's Jack Carter (right) wears a smart knitted cotton sport shirt that has a wide chest stripe. It gives the effect of broader shoulders.

Food and Drink: You want your steak t-h-a-t thick? McCarthy's Steak House on Second Avenue lets you slice your own—and charges you by weight. . . . You can now get those one-and-a-half-ounce liquor cruets (they're the tiny decanters used by fine hotels)—nice for your guests who like to mix their own. . . . Kord Cordials are now bottled in a wild goose pitcher that's a fine asset to your bar when empty.

Care of Clothes: You're not completely out of luck if the cuffs of your trousers show wear. A tailor can usually make false cuffs—and, if not, it isn't bad grooming to wear straight pants, with no cuffs at all.

Travel Tips: Make traveling shoe bags by cutting feet off old socks and closing one end with cord. . . . Save time and money when traveling by washing your own things—and then sending them out for steam pressing.

The Forgetful Sex: In a six-month period, the Lost and Found department of the New York subways retrieved four thousand women's umbrellas, only four hundred men's.

Clothing Patterns: Last week we illustrated three swatches of popular clothing weaves. Here are three more. Twill is sometimes referred to as two-toned diagonal, and nailhead may be called bird's-eye.

Gadgets: Plasti-Stitch—a boon to bachelors. Just press knit patches on socks or clothes. . . . Magna-Coaster Tray, a serving tray with six magnetized plastic coasters that keep drinks from spilling.

Odd Items: There's a Hansel and Gretel (last name, Gort) teaching dancing for Arthur Murray. . . . Songwriter Bob Merrill owns 60 pairs of shoes. . . . And England's Terry-Thomas wears 56 different vests during his performances at the Waldorf's Wedgewood Room. . . . Try to rhyme a word with—orange. . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars" to—comedian Danny Thomas, who donated his week's salary, at Las Vegas' Flamingo Hotel, to a local cancer fund.

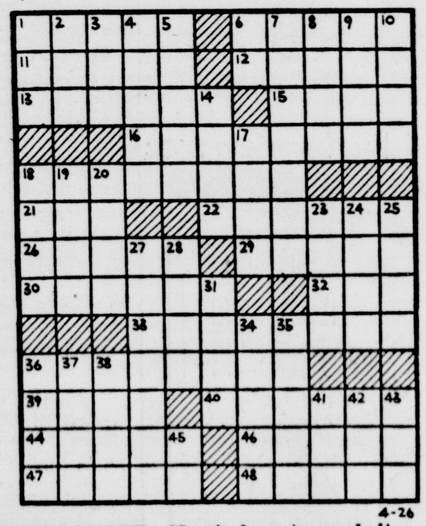
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

A L V J N R V P E J T Q L A C W Z A L V V A V J-
W C R E T A W V D D P E A L T W Q D—E T V R Z-
T W Q.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: OH! TOO CONVINCING—DANGEROUSLY DEAR—IN WOMAN'S EYE THE UNANSWERABLE TEAR!—BYRON.

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of our dear husband and father, Pfc. William R. Lantz, who was killed in Germany six years ago today, April 26th, 1945.
We think of you in silence,
Our hearts are crushed with pain,
The happy hours we spent together
Can never come again.
But heaven holds our treasures,
God needed you we know,
And your sweet face and sunny smile
Will brighten heaven so.
Sadly missed by his wife and children;
MRS. WILLIAM LANTZ,
AND WILLIAM, JR. AND EARL.

In loving memory of my brother-in-law, Pfc. William R. Lantz, who was killed in Germany six years ago today, April 26th, 1945.
Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them, it's true;
Years that may come cannot sever
The loving remembrance of you.
Sadly missed by his sister-in-law,
MRS. HAROLD STALLINGS.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who were so kind to us following the death of our husband and father. We especially wish to thank Rev. Linger of the First Baptist Church, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their cars.
MRS. LONNIE B. BROWN & FAMILY.

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of our dear husband and father, Pfc. William R. Lantz, who was killed in Germany six years ago today, April 26th, 1945.

We think of you in silence.
Our hearts are crushed with pain,
The happy hours we spent together
Can never come again.
But heaven holds our treasures,
God needed you we know,
And your sweet face and sunny smile
Will brighten heaven so.
Sadly missed by his wife and children;
MRS. WILLIAM LANTZ.
AND WILLIAM, JR. AND EARL.

In loving memory of my brother-in-law, Pfc. William R. Lantz, who was killed in Germany six years ago today, April 26th, 1945.

Sweet memories will linger forever.
Time cannot change them, it's true;
Years that may come cannot sever
The loving remembrance of you.
Sadly missed by his sister-in-law,
MRS. HAROLD STALLINGS.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who were so kind to us following the death of our husband and father. We especially wish to thank Rev. Linger of the First Baptist Church, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their cars.
MRS. LONNIE B. BROWN & FAMILY.

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of our dear husband and father, Pfc. William R. Lantz, who was killed in Germany six years ago today, April 26th, 1945.

We think of you in silence,
Our hearts are crushed with pain,
The happy hours we spent together
Can never come again.
But heaven holds our treasures,
God needed you we know,
And your sweet face and sunny smile
Will brighten heaven so.
Sadly missed by his wife and children:
MRS. WILLIAM LANTZ,
AND WILLIAM, JR. AND EARL.

In loving memory of my brother-in-law, Pfc. William R. Lantz, who was killed in Germany six years ago today, April 26th, 1945.

Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them, it's true;
Years that may come cannot sever
The loving remembrance of you.
Sadly missed by his sister-in-law,
MRS. HAROLD STALLINGS.

Cards of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who were so kind to us following the death of our husband and father. We especially wish to thank Rev. Linger of the First Baptist Church, the pallbearers, those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their cars.
MRS. LONNIE B. BROWN & FAMILY.

Survey Crew To Secure Data For New Bridge Site

Wright Will Head Topographical Party

A Corps of Engineers survey crew will begin work here Monday to secure data on the site of a proposed bridge across the Potomac River between Cumberland and Ridgeley.

The crew, headed by John M. Wright, Jr., field engineer, Corps of Engineers, will secure topographical data needed for designing a proposed dam which would provide the superstructure for a bridge across the Potomac River.

The survey crew will also compile data for Wills Creek channel work from Valley Street to the Esso Service Station.

Considerable discussion has been held between the City of Cumberland, Corps of Engineers, State Road Commission of West Virginia and the Maryland State Roads Commission on the bridge plan.

The relocation of the present dam near Blue Bridge is a part of the third phase of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Control project.

The present span across the Potomac between Ridgeley and Cumberland would have to be raised seven feet to permit flood control work to be completed in that area.

The plan under consideration calls for the construction of a relocated dam which could be used as the foundation of a modern bridge across the river.

Other subjects to be discussed at the various sessions will be "The Manpower Problem", "The Expenses Control Problem", "The Resources Problem", and "The Pricing and Promotional Problem".

Eighteen retail associations and Chambers of Commerce of Maryland, Washington and Virginia have arranged for the all-day affair. More than 500 retailers, trade association executives, educators, and students from area universities are expected to attend the 10-hour forum.

Six Out Of Every 10 High School Graduates Will Seek Jobs In County This Summer

ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Almost six out of every 10 graduates from Allegany County's 13 public and Catholic high schools in June probably will be looking for jobs here after graduation rolls around, according to a check of officials of the various schools.

If all of the prospective graduates overcome the last hurdle and get their diplomas, there will be 856 graduates in Allegany County this year. Of these 765 should finish their prescribed work in the nine public schools and 91 more are expected to be graduated from the four Catholic high schools.

Of course, not all of the graduates will seek immediate employment here. The survey indicates that 504 of the 856, or 58.8 per cent, probably will be looking for work. The rest either plan to enter college, study at nursing schools or business schools, enter the Armed Forces immediately or go to work for some government agency in Washington.

Here's the breakdown on the public high school graduates:

Planning to attend college, 26.21 per cent; nursing training, 53, 6.9 per cent; business schools, 27, 3.5 per cent; armed services, 32, 4.2 per cent; government agencies, 27, 3.5 per cent.

For Catholic high schools the record looks like this:

Planning to attend college, 26, 28.6 per cent; nursing training, 12, 13.2 per cent; business schools, 11, 12.1 per cent; armed services, 1, 1.1 per cent, and government agencies, 2, 2.2 per cent.

Many Face Induction

Although most of the boys in the graduating classes this year will have to face the prospects of service in the Armed Forces within another year or so that is not an immediate prospect for most. The Draft Board headquarters in Cumberland reported that only two seniors, both 20-years old, will be drafted soon after graduation.

The survey also reveals that girls will outnumber boys in seven of the nine public high schools. Of the 765 prospective public high school graduates, 423, or 55.3 per cent, are girls and only 342 boys. Forty-seven, or 51.6 per cent of the 91 Catholic high school graduates, are girls, and 44 are boys.

Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, also was contacted during this survey. She said the college will graduate 48 men and women in June. Another 12, who completed their studies in February, also will come back to Frostburg to receive diplomas. Nearly all of the latter group now are engaged in teaching jobs.

The college president observed that for the first time in years there will be more men than women in the graduating class. This is because of a heavy post-World War II influx of men into the college.

Most Are County People

Miss Compton explained that about 60 per cent of the graduates are Allegany County residents. The rest come from Garrett, Washington and Frederick Counties and Keyser, W. Va. She expects all will be placed in teaching jobs that wish them. About 25 to 30 per cent probably will take positions in Allegany County. The rest will be scattered in Montgomery, Prince Georges, Baltimore, Frederick, Garrett and Washington Counties.

The public high school graduates by schools, with total, boys and girls listed in that order:

Fort Hill, 225 graduates, 105 boys, 120 girls; Allegany, 199, 87 and 112; Beall, Frostburg, 123, 57 and 66; Bruce, Westernport, 76, 29 and 47; Central, Lonaconing, 73, 34 and 39; Barton, 23, 6 and 17; Oldtown, 17, 7 and 10; Flintstone, 16, 9 and 7, and Carver, 13, 8 and 5.

Of the four Catholic high schools, LaSalle will have the largest class, with 37 boys. Ursuline Academy will have 26 girls in its graduating class, Girls Central Catholic will graduate 17 girls and St. Peter's in Westernport will have 11 graduates, seven boys and four girls.

Jury Returns $342.50 Verdict In Damage Suit

Contractor Sought $1,500 For Injury

A verdict of $342.50 for the plaintiff was returned by a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday afternoon in a $1,500 damage suit brought by Keller H. Johnson, Wiley Ford, W. Va., contractor, against Cement Products Company, Inc.

The jury, which deliberated only 20 minutes, noted that the amount represented the loss in salary and his medical costs.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris presided.

Johnson, who was represented by Thomas Lohr Richards, contended that the negligent and careless handling of one of the firm's trucks resulted in severe injury to three fingers on his left hand.

Johnson said the truck operated by Wilbert Crowe was backing into the area on property owned by Ralph Wilson in Mt. Savage where the Wiley Ford man was building a garage.

He stated he told the backing truck driver to stop, but Johnson contends the driver failed to do so and as a result Johnson's left hand was caught between the end gate and the body of the truck.

William C. Walsh, who was representing the cement products firm with Thomas B. Finan, declared that the driver was not negligent in his handling of the truck and inferred that the injury was probably sustained because of the negligence of Johnson.

Johnson claimed the hand injury caused him to miss work as a building worker and contractor for five weeks.

The string ensemble will play Mendelssohn's "Festival March," Drake's "Chinese Dance"; "Echoes from Grandopera" (Herfurth); "Scherzo" (Carl Webster); "Two Guitars" (Lehar) and "Valse Oriental" (Herfurth).

City Will Seek Area Plans On Sewage Control

To Ask Meeting With Sanitary Unit

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday the Mayor and Council will seek a conference with officials of the Allegany County Metropolitan Sanitary Commission regarding plans for sewage disposal and treatment plans for this area.

He said the city will have to know the intentions of surrounding communities in order to select the right plan for the proposed sewage treatment project here.

The first plan, estimated to cost $1,350,000, would take care of Cumberland's corporate area.

The second plan would cost $1,480,000 and would be adequate to serve the Cumberland Metropolitan area, which includes adjacent Allegany County and Ridgeley, W. Va.

Mayor Post said that if the Sanitary Commission is planning to take care of its own sewage disposal problems, the city could proceed on plans for the first proposal.

He added the problem must be settled before the city can go ahead intelligently on its plans to erect a sewage disposal system.

The total cost of the first plan, including interceptor extensions, pumping facilities, treatment plant and land, is $1,350,000. The plan is designed to serve the population of only the City of Cumberland, until 1970.

The second plan, estimated to cost $1,480,000, would serve the population of Cumberland's metropolitan area until 1970. The cost does not include the outlying future interceptors and pumping stations which would be required in suburban communities.

Regester estimated the annual per capita cost of the project to serve Cumberland alone at $2.60 and for the system serving the Cumberland metropolitan area at $2.26.

Collegians Lose Nothing By Draft Test

Director Stanwood Issues Advice

BALTIMORE, April 25 (AP) — College students eligible for the draft have nothing to lose by taking an aptitude test which may grant them a deferment.

That is the word from Col. Henry C. Stanwood, Maryland's director of Selective Service.

Col. Stanwood said today there is a possibility pending legislation may require both the test and scholastic standing to be taken into account in deferring students.

"It's a safe assumption," he said, "that a lot of young men will excuse a poor showing on the test by saying they had a cold, or a ringing in the ear, or something else. But the local draft board will have to cull out all the evidence, including the grade in the aptiture test."

Col Stanwood explained it is possible a collegian could get a mark below 70, which is passing. Yet the local board might defer him because he has done good work in college.

The aptitude tests will be given in several Maryland colleges and high schools on May 26, June 16 and June 30. July 12 has been set as an alternate date for those who can't take the test one of the other times.

Bids Are Sought For Fire Escape Job

The City of Cumberland yesterday called for sealed bids on the construction of a fire escape and other work at the Girl Scout Building on Greene Street.

Plans and specifications may be secured from the City Engineer after April 27 bids must be submitted on or before May 7.

Commencement Speakers Have International Fame

Two men with international backgrounds will be commencement speakers at the graduation ceremonies of the four largest Allegany County schools, Superintendent Charles L. Kopp said yesterday.

They are Dr. Kurt D. Singer, lecturer, writer and radio analyst, and authority on foreign affairs, and Douglas Silverton, author, educator and lecturer.

Dr. Singer will speak at the ceremonies at Fort Hill High School June 7 and at Allegany High School June 8. Silverton will appear at Bruce High School, Westernport, June 7, and at Beall High School, Frostburg, June 8.

Born In London

Silverton was born and reared in London, England. He was educated in English schools and at Oxford University. He came to Canada in 1929 and to the United States in 1947. At present he is professor of literature at Harpur College of New York State University, Endicott, N. Y. Previously, he served as professor of literature at Universities of Alberta and Manitoba in Western Canada and at Loyola University in Montreal.

During World War II, Silverton was a fighter pilot with the Royal Air Force. He served as chief flying and ground instructor and as squadron commander in the Battle of Britain. County Rotarians will be interested in knowing that in 1944-45 he was president of the Hawkesbury, Ont., Rotary Club and in 1945-46 was governor of the 170th District (now 250th) of Rotary International, which embraces the Ottowa and Montreal area.

Foreign Correspondent

"How to Combat Communism Intelligently" probably will be the subject of Dr. Singer's speech here.

DOUGLAS SILVERTON

He has written about 15 books, most of which deal with espionage and sabotage. Among these are such volumes as "The World's Greatest Women Spies," "Three Thousand Years of Espionage," "Spies and Traitors," and "Niemoller — Soldier of God."

A newspaper man and foreign correspondent, Dr. Singer has worked in eight different countries. In many of these countries he was closely associated with the underground movement. He has contributed to such publications as Saturday Evening Post, Coronet, Washington Post, New York Times, New York Herald-Tribune and St. Louis Post-Dispatch. He has lectured at a number of colleges in the United States. In most of his lectures he deals with espionage and sabotage, about which he is considered an authority.

Red Cross Home Nursing Courses To Begin Today

The first in a series of Home Nursing Courses sponsored by the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter will begin this afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Red Cross Center at Lonaconing. Similar courses will be held throughout the county in conjunction with the Civil Defense program.

Mrs. Carl C. Daum, 740 Brookfield Avenue, will be in charge of the 30-hour course in which 12 women of Lonaconing are expected to participate. Sessions will be held for two hour periods twice a week.

Branch chairman of the Lonaconing Red Cross is Miss Nellie Sloan with Mrs. Eva Boettcher, nursing chairman.

Groups interested in taking the course are asked to contact the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter, Cumberland. Mrs. Lee Witherup, executive secretary of the chapter, said yesterday the course will teach fundamentals in nursing a patient at home. Contagious diseases are explained and those taking the course will learn methods of notifying a physician and relating to him the type sickness a patient has.

The most important phase of the course, Mrs. Witherup said, is being taught "what not to do." Allegany County at present has 13 qualified registered nurses available to teach the course. It is the desire of the chapter, Mrs. Witherup added, to train sufficient persons to take care of any emergency and to assist in the planning of the Civil Defense program.

Jury To Decide Bull-Auto Crash

Did the young bull hit the automobile or did the automobile hit the young bull?

A jury in Allegany County Circuit Court today will be faced with the problem of answering that question.

James B. Harden, 11 Centennial Street, Oakland, through Attorney William L. Wilson, Jr., filed suit in Garrett County Circuit Court last December 9 against Bruce Close, of McHenry, and George Savage of Friendsville Road. He charged that a young bull, owned by the defendants, escaped from an enclosure at Accident Stock Yard where it had been taken for sale, and struck Harden's car as he drove along State Highway No. 219 toward Oakland last July 12. His car was damaged to the extent of $125. Harden sued for $200.

On January 10, Attorney Walter W. Dawson filed a cross claim for the defendants against Harden, charging that Harden struck and killed the bull with his automobile. Close and Savage seek $300 damage.

Attorney Wilson six days later filed an affidavit and had the case removed to Allegany County Circuit Court, where it is scheduled for trial today.

Instrument Safety Methods Against Gases Are Outlined

Gas Analysis Instrumentation was the subject of discussion at the Cumberland Section Instrument Society of America dinner meeting Tuesday night at All Ghan Shrine Country Club.

N. W. Hartz, instrument line manager of the Mine Safety Appliances Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., was the guest speaker.

Hartz gave the old fashioned method of detecting toxi explosive gases in mines with canarys and the Davis Safety Lamp and then reviewed the detection of carbon monoxide gases in air by the use of a thermopile.

The Pittsburgher then told the local group the reasons for development of gas detection instruments and their uses as safety measures in mines, tunnels and other underground constructions.

Instruments are now used which detect the presence of both toxic and explosive gases and can be placed in mines or tunnels or other buildings to warn workers or occupants of the danger of the gases in the air.

Hartz explained how explosive gases can be detected by passing the combustiable gas over a hot platinum filament, the burning of the filiament increasing the resistance of the platinum and unbalancing the bridge circuit setting off an alarm.

Also discussed were plans for the local club to make a trip to Bethlehem Steel Company at Sparrows Point, Thursday, May 17. About 30 persons attended the meeting with Robert Wilson, president, in charge of the affair.

Survey Crew To Secure Data For New Bridge Site

Wright Will Head Topographical Party

A Corps of Engineers survey crew will begin work here Monday to secure data on the site of a proposed bridge across the Potomac River between Cumberland and Ridgeley.

The crew, headed by John M. Wright, Jr., field engineer, Corps of Engineers, will secure topographical data needed for designing a proposed dam which would provide the superstructure for a bridge across the Potomac River.

The survey crew will also compile data for Wills Creek channel work from Valley Street to the Esso Service Station.

Considerable discussion has been held between the City of Cumberland, Corps of Engineers, State Road Commission of West Virginia and the Maryland State Roads Commission on the bridge plan.

The relocation of the present dam near Blue Bridge is a part of the third phase of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Control project.

The present span across the Potomac between Ridgeley and Cumberland would have to be raised seven feet to permit flood control work to be completed in that area.

The plan under consideration calls for the construction of a relocated dam which could be used as the foundation of a modern bridge across the river.

Operating Problems To Be Discussed

Cumberland merchants will be given an opportunity to attend an all-day Merchandising and Management Conference to be held at College Park Monday, May 14. The meeting is being conducted in cooperation with the University of Maryland College of Business and Public Administration.

Senator John J. Sparkman, chairman of the Senate Committee on Small Business, and member of the Senate committees on Banking and Currency and Foreign Relations, who helped draft mobilization legislation will address the dinner meeting.

A special feature of the conference will be a "Smaller Stores Forum" in which retail specialists will discuss the pricing, credit, personnel, expenses reduction, and promotional problems of small retail organizations.

Other subjects to be discussed at the various sessions will be "The Manpower Problem", "The Expenses Control Problem", "The Resources Problem", and "The Pricing and Promotional Problem".

Eighteen retail associations and Chambers of Commerce of Maryland, Washington and Virginia have arranged for the all-day affair. More than 500 retailers, trade association executives, educators, and students from area universities are expected to attend the 10-hour forum.

Six Out Of Every 10 High School Graduates Will Seek Jobs In County This Summer

ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Almost six out of every 10 graduates from Allegany County's 13 public and Catholic high schools in June probably will be looking for jobs here after graduation rolls around, according to a check of officials of the various schools.

If all of the prospective graduates overcome the last hurdle and get their diplomas, there will be 856 graduates in Allegany County this year. Of these 765 should finish their prescribed work in the nine public schools and 91 more are expected to be graduated from the four Catholic high schools.

Of course, not all of the graduates will seek immediate employment here. The survey indicates that 504 of the 856, or 58.8 per cent, probably will be looking for work. The rest either plan to enter college, study at nursing schools or business schools, enter the Armed Forces immediately or go to work for some government agency in Washington.

Here's the breakdown on the public high school graduates:

Planning to attend college, 26, 21 per cent; nursing training, 53, 6.9 per cent; business schools, 27, 3.5 per cent; armed services, 32, 4.2 per cent; government agencies, 27, 3.5 per cent.

For Catholic high schools the record looks like this:

Planning to attend college, 26, 28.6 per cent; nursing training, 12, 13.2 per cent; business schools, 11, 12.1 per cent; armed services, 1, 1.1 per cent, and government agencies, 2, 2.2 per cent.

Many Face Induction

Although most of the boys in the graduating classes this year will have to face the prospects of service in the Armed Forces within another year or so that is not an immediate prospect for most. The Draft Board headquarters in Cumberland reported that only two seniors, both 20-years old, will be drafted soon after graduation.

The survey also reveals that girls will outnumber boys in seven of the nine public high schools. Of the 765 prospective public high school graduates, 423, or 55.3 per cent, are girls and only 342 boys. Forty-seven, or 51.6 per cent of the 91 Catholic high school graduates, are girls, and 44 are boys.

Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, also was contacted during this survey. She said the college will graduate 48 men and women in June. Another 12, who completed their studies in February, also will come back to Frostburg to receive diplomas. Nearly all of the latter group now are engaged in teaching jobs.

The college president observed that for the first time in years there will be more men than women in the graduating class. This is because of a heavy post-World War II influx of men into the college.

Most Are County People

Miss Compton explained that about 60 per cent of the graduates are Allegany County residents. The rest come from Garrett, Washington and Frederick Counties and Keyser, W. Va. She expects all will be placed in teaching jobs that wish them. About 25 to 30 per cent probably will take positions in Allegany County. The rest will be scattered in Montgomery, Prince Georges, Baltimore, Frederick, Garrett and Washington Counties.

The public high school graduates by schools, with total, boys and girls listed in that order:

Fort Hill, 225 graduates, 105 boys, 120 girls; Allegany, 199, 87 and 112; Beall, Frostburg, 123, 57 and 66; Bruce, Westernport, 76, 29 and 47; Central, Lonaconing, 73, 34 and 39; Barton, 23, 6 and 17; Oldtown, 17, 7 and 10; Flintstone, 16, 9 and 7, and Carver, 13, 8 and 5.

Of the four Catholic high schools, LaSalle will have the largest class, with 37 boys. Ursuline Academy will have 26 girls in its graduating class, Girls Central Catholic will graduate 17 girls and St. Peter's in Westernport will have 11 graduates, seven boys and four girls.

Jury Returns $342.50 Verdict In Damage Suit

Contractor Sought $1,500 For Injury

A verdict of $342.50 for the plaintiff was returned by a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday afternoon in a $1,500 damage suit brought by Keller H. Johnson, Wiley Ford, W. Va., contractor, against Cement Products Company, Inc.

The jury, which deliberated only 20 minutes, noted that the amount represented the loss in salary and his medical costs.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris presided.

Johnson, who was represented by Thomas Lohr Richards, contended that the negligent and careless handling of one of the firm's trucks resulted in severe injury to three fingers on his left hand.

Johnson said the truck operated by Wilbert Crowe was backing into the area on property owned by Ralph Wilson in Mt. Savage where the Wiley Ford man was building a garage.

He stated he told the backing truck driver to stop, but Johnson contends the driver failed to do so and as a result Johnson's left hand was caught between the end gate and the body of the truck.

William C. Walsh, who was representing the cement products firm with Thomas B. Finan, declared that the driver was not negligent in his handling of the truck and inferred that the injury was probably sustained because of the negligence of Johnson.

Johnson claimed the hand injury caused him to miss work as a building worker and contractor for five weeks.

City Will Seek Area Plans On Sewage Control

To Ask Meeting With Sanitary Unit

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday the Mayor and Council will seek a conference with officials of the Allegany County Metropolitan Sanitary Commission regarding plans for sewage disposal and treatment plans for this area.

He said the city will have to know the intentions of surrounding communities in order to select the right plan for the proposed sewage treatment project here.

City officials last week learned preliminary details of two plans which are being offered by Robert T. Regester, Baltimore consulting engineer.

The first plan, estimated to cost $1,350,000, would take care of Cumberland's corporate area.

The second plan would cost $1,480,000 and would be adequate to serve the Cumberland Metropolitan area, which includes adjacent Allegany County and Ridgeley, W. Va.

Mayor Post said that if the Sanitary Commission is planning to take care of its own sewage disposal problems, the city could proceed on plans for the first proposal.

He added the problem must be settled before the city can go ahead intelligently on its plans to erect a sewage disposal system.

The total cost of the first plan, including interceptor extensions, pumping facilities, treatment plant and land, is $1,350,000. The plan is designed to serve the population of only the City of Cumberland, until 1970.

The second plan, estimated to cost $1,480,000, would serve the population of Cumberland's metropolitan area until 1970. The cost does not include the outlying future interceptors and pumping stations which would be required in suburban communities.

Regester estimated the annual per capita cost of the project to serve Cumberland alone at $2.60 and for the system serving the Cumberland metropolitan area at $2.26.

Collegians Lose Nothing By Draft Test

Director Stanwood Issues Advice

BALTIMORE, April 25 (AP) — College students eligible for the draft have nothing to lose by taking an aptitude test which may grant them a deferment.

That is the word from Col. Henry C. Stanwood, Maryland's director of Selective Service.

Col. Stanwood said today there is a possibility pending legislation may require both the test and scholastic standing to be taken into account in deferring students.

"It's a safe assumption," he said, "that a lot of young men will excuse a poor showing on the test by saying they had a cold, or a ringing in the ear, or something else. But the local draft board will have to cull out all the evidence, including the grade in the aptiture test."

Col Stanwood explained it is possible a collegian could get a mark below 70, which is passing. Yet the local board might defer him because he has done good work in college.

The aptitude tests will be given in several Maryland colleges and high schools on May 26, June 16 and June 30. July 12 has been set as an alternate date for those who can't take the test one of the other times.

Bids Are Sought For Fire Escape Job

Commencement Speakers Have Inte...ational Fame

Two men with international backgrounds will be commencement speakers at the graduation ceremonies of the four largest Allegany County schools, Superintendent Charles L. Kopp said yesterday.

They are Dr. Kurt D. Singer, lecturer, writer and radio analyst, and authority on foreign affairs, and Douglas Silverton, author, educator and lecturer.

Dr. Singer will speak at the ceremonies at Fort Hill High School June 7 and at Allegany High School June 8. Silverton will appear at Bruce High School, Westernport, June 7, and at Beall High School, Frostburg, June 8.

Born In London

Silverton was born and reared in London, England. He was educated in English schools and at Oxford University. He came to Canada in 1929 and to the United States in 1947. At present he is professor of literature at Harpur College of New York State University, Endicott, N. Y. Previously, he served as professor of literature at Universities of Alberta and Manitoba in Western Canada and at Loyola University in Montreal.

During World War II, Silverton was a fighter pilot with the Royal Air Force. He served as chief flying and ground instructor and as squadron commander in the Battle of Britain. County Rotarians will be interested in knowing that in 1944-45 he was president of the Hawkesbury, Ont., Rotary Club and in 1945-46 was governor of the 170th District (now 250th) of Rotary International, which embraces the Ottowa and Montreal area.

Foreign Correspondent

"How to Combat Communism Intelligently" probably will be the subject of Dr. Singer's speech here.

DOUGLAS SILVERTON

He has written about 15 books, most of which deal with espionage and sabotage. Among these are such volumes as "The World's Greatest Women Spies," "Three Thousand Years of Espionage," "Spies and Traitors," and "Niemoller — Soldier of God."

A newspaper man and foreign correspondent, Dr. Singer has worked in eight different countries. In many of these countries he was closely associated with the underground movement. He has contributed to such publications as Saturday Evening Post, Coronet, Washington Post, New York Times, New York Herald-Tribune and St. Louis Post-Dispatch. He has lectured at a number of colleges in the United States. In most of his lectures he deals with espionage and sabotage, about which he is considered an authority.

Red Cross Home Nursing Courses To Begin Today

The first in a series of Home Nursing Courses sponsored by the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter will begin this afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Red Cross Center at Lonaconing. Similar courses will be held throughout the county in conjunction with the Civil Defense program.

Mrs. Carl C. Daum, 740 Brookfield Avenue, will be in charge of the 30-hour course in which 12 women of Lonaconing are expected to participate. Sessions will be held for two hour periods twice a week.

Branch chairman of the Lonaconing Red Cross is Miss Nellie Sloan with Mrs. Eva Boettcher, nursing chairman.

Groups interested in taking the course are asked to contact the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter, Cumberland. Mrs. Lee Witherup, executive secretary of the chapter, said yesterday the course will teach fundamentals in nursing a patient at home. Contagious diseases are explained and those taking the course will learn methods of notifying a physician and relating to him the type sickness a patient has.

The most important phase of the course, Mrs. Witherup said, is being taught "what not to do." Allegany County at present has 13 qualified registered nurses available to teach the course. It is the desire of the chapter, Mrs. Witherup added, to train sufficient persons to take care of any emergency and to assist in the planning of the Civil Defense program.

Jury To Decide Bull-Auto Crash

Did the young bull hit the automobile or did the automobile hit the young bull?

A jury in Allegany County Circuit Court today will be faced with the problem of answering that question.

James B. Harden, 11 Centennial Street, Oakland, through Attorney William L. Wilson, Jr., filed suit in Garrett County Circuit Court last December 9 against Bruce Close, of McHenry, and George Savage of Friendsville Road. He charged that a young bull, owned by the defendants, escaped from an enclosure at Accident Stock Yard where it had been taken for sale, and struck Harden's car as he drove along State Highway No. 219 toward Oakland last July 12. His car was damaged to the extent of $125. Harden sued for $200.

On January 10, Attorney Walter W. Dawson filed a cross claim for the defendants against Harden, charging that Harden struck and killed the bull with his automobile. Close and Savage seek $300 damage.

Attoreny Wilson six days later filed an affidavit and had the case removed to Allegany County Circuit Court, where it is scheduled for trial today.

Instrument Safety Methods Against Gases Are Outlined

Gas Analysis Instrumentation was the subject of discussion at the Cumberland Section Instrument Society of America dinner meeting Tuesday night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

N. W. Hartz, instrument line manager of the Mine Safety Appliances Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., was the guest speaker.

Hartz gave the old fashioned method of detecting toxi explosive gases in mines with canarys and the Davis Safety Lamp and then reviewed the detection of carbon monoxide gases in air by the use of a thermopile.

The Pittsburgher then told the local group the reasons for development of gas detection instruments and their uses as safety measures in mines, tunnels and other underground constructions.

Instruments are now used which detect the presence of both toxic and explosive gases and can be placed in mines or tunnels or other buildings to warn workers or occupants of the danger of the gases in the air.

Hartz explained how explosive gases can be detected by passing the combustiable gas over a hot platinum filament, the burning of the filiament increasing the resistance of the platinum and unbalancing the bridge circuit setting off an alarm.

Also discussed were plans for the local club to make a trip to Bethlehem Steel Company at Sparrows Point, Thursday, May 17. About 30 persons attended the meeting with Robert Wilson, president, in charge of the affair.

Survey Crew To Secure Data For New Bridge Site

Wright Will Head Topographical Party

A Corps of Engineers survey crew will begin work here Monday to secure data on the site of a proposed bridge across the Potomac River between Cumberland and Ridgeley.

The crew, headed by John M. Wright, Jr., field engineer, Corps of Engineers, will secure topographical data needed for designing a proposed dam which would provide the superstructure for a bridge across the Potomac River.

The survey crew will also compile data for Wills Creek channel work from Valley Street to the Esso Service Station.

Considerable discussion has been held between the City of Cumberland, Corps of Engineers, State Road Commission of West Virginia and the Maryland State Roads Commission on the bridge plan.

The relocation of the present dam near Blue Bridge is a part of the third phase of the Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Control project.

The present span across the Potomac between Ridgeley and Cumberland would have to be raised seven feet to permit flood control work to be completed in that area.

The plan under consideration calls for the construction of a relocated dam which could be used as the foundation of a modern bridge across the river.

Six Out Of Every 10 High School Graduates Will Seek Jobs In County This Summer

ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Almost six out of every 10 graduates from Allegany County's 13 public and Catholic high schools in June probably will be looking for jobs here after graduation rolls around, according to a check of officials of the various schools.

If all of the prospective graduates overcome the last hurdle and get their diplomas, there will be 856 graduates in Allegany County this year. Of these 765 should finish their prescribed work in the nine public schools and 91 more are expected to be graduated from the four Catholic high schools.

Of course, not all of the graduates will seek immediate employment here. The survey indicates that 504 of the 856, or 58.8 per cent, probably will be looking for work. The rest either plan to enter college, study at nursing schools or business schools, enter the Armed Forces immediately or go to work for some government agency in Washington.

Here's the breakdown on the public high school graduates:

Planning to attend college, 26, 21 per cent; nursing training, 53, 6.9 per cent; business schools, 27, 3.5 per cent; armed services, 32, 4.2 per cent; government agencies, 27, 3.5 per cent.

For Catholic high schools the record looks like this:

Planning to attend college, 26, 28.6 per cent; nursing training, 12, 13.2 per cent; business schools, 11, 12.1 per cent; armed services, 1, 1.1 per cent, and government agencies, 2, 2.2 per cent.

Many Face Induction

Although most of the boys in the graduating classes this year will have to face the prospects of service in the Armed Forces within another year or so that is not an immediate prospect for most. The Draft Board headquarters in Cumberland reported that only two seniors, both 20-years old, will be drafted soon after graduation.

The survey also reveals that girls will outnumber boys in seven of the nine public high schools. Of the 765 prospective public high school graduates, 423, or 55.3 per cent, are girls and only 342 boys. Forty-seven, or 51.6 per cent of the 91 Catholic high school graduates, are girls, and 44 are boys.

Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, also was contacted during this survey. She said the college will graduate 48 men and women in June. Another 12, who completed their studies in February, also will come back to Frostburg to receive diplomas. Nearly all of the latter group now are engaged in teaching jobs.

The college president observed that for the first time in years there will be more men than women in the graduating class. This is because of a heavy post-World War II influx of men into the college.

Most Are County People

Miss Compton explained that about 60 per cent of the graduates are Allegany County residents. The rest come from Garrett, Washington and Frederick Counties and Keyser, W. Va. She expects all will be placed in teaching jobs that wish them. About 25 to 30 per cent probably will take positions in Allegany County. The rest will be scattered in Montgomery, Prince Georges, Baltimore, Frederick, Garrett and Washington Counties.

The public high school graduates by schools, with total, boys and girls listed in that order:

Fort Hill, 225 graduates, 105 boys, 120 girls; Allegany, 199, 87 and 112; Beall, Frostburg, 123, 57 and 66; Bruce, Westernport, 76, 29 and 47; Central, Lonaconing, 73, 34 and 39; Barton, 23, 6 and 17; Oldtown, 17, 7 and 10; Flintstone, 16, 9 and 7, and Carver, 13, 8 and 5.

Of the four Catholic high schools, LaSalle will have the largest class, with 37 boys. Ursuline Academy will have 26 girls in its graduating class, Girls Central Catholic will graduate 17 girls and St. Peter's in Westernport will have 11 graduates, seven boys and four girls.

Jury Returns $342.50 Verdict In Damage Suit

Contractor Sought $1,500 For Injury

A verdict of $342.50 for the plaintiff was returned by a jury in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday afternoon in a $1,500 damage suit brought by Keller H. Johnson, Wiley Ford, W. Va., contractor, against Cement Products Company, Inc.

The jury, which deliberated only 20 minutes, noted that the amount represented the loss in salary and his medical costs.

Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris presided.

Johnson, who was represented by Thomas Lohr Richards, contended that the negligent and careless handling of one of the firm's trucks resulted in severe injury to three fingers on his left hand.

Johnson said the truck operated by Wilbert Crowe was backing into the area on property owned by Ralph Wilson in Mt. Savage where the Wiley Ford man was building a garage.

He stated he told the backing truck driver to stop, but Johnson contends the driver failed to do so and as a result Johnson's left hand was caught between the end gate and the body of the truck.

William C. Walsh, who was representing the cement products firm with Thomas B. Finan, declared that the driver was not negligent in his handling of the truck and inferred that the injury was probably sustained because of the negligence of Johnson.

Johnson claimed the hand injury caused him to miss work as a building worker and contractor for five weeks.

City Will Seek Area Plans On Sewage Control

To Ask Meeting With Sanitary Unit

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday the Mayor and Council will seek a conference with officials of the Allegany County Metropolitan Sanitary Commission regarding plans for sewage disposal and treatment plans for this area.

He said the city will have to know the intentions of surrounding communities in order to select the right plan for the proposed sewage treatment project here.

City officials last week learned preliminary details of two plans which are being offered by Robert T. Regester, Baltimore consulting engineer.

The first plan, estimated to cost $1,350,000, would take care of Cumberland's corporate area.

The second plan would cost $1,480,000 and would be adequate to serve the Cumberland Metropolitan area, which includes adjacent Allegany County and Ridgeley, W. Va.

Mayor Post said that if the Sanitary Commission is planning to take care of its own sewage disposal problems, the city could proceed on plans for the first proposal.

He added the problem must be settled before the city can go ahead intelligently on its plans to erect a sewage disposal system.

The total cost of the first plan, including interceptor extensions, pumping facilities, treatment plant and land, is $1,350,000. The plan is designed to serve the population of only the City of Cumberland, until 1970.

The second plan, estimated to cost $1,480,000, would serve the population of Cumberland's metropolitan area until 1970. The cost does not include the outlying future interceptors and pumping stations which would be required in suburban communities.

Regester estimated the annual per capita cost of the project to serve Cumberland alone at $2.60 and for the system serving the Cumberland metropolitan area at $2.26.

Collegians Lose Nothing By Draft Test

Director Stanwood Issues Advice

BALTIMORE, April 25 (AP) — College students eligible for the draft have nothing to lose by taking an aptitude test which may grant them a deferment.

That is the word from Col. Henry C. Stanwood, Maryland's director of Selective Service.

Col. Stanwood said today there is a possibility pending legislation may require both the test and scholastic standing to be taken into account in deferring students.

"It's a safe assumption," he said, "that a lot of young men will excuse a poor showing on the test by saying they had a cold, or a ringing in the ear, or something else. But the local draft board will have to cull out all the evidence, including the grade in the aptiture test."

Col Stanwood explained it is possible a collegian could get a mark below 70, which is passing. Yet the local board might defer him because he has done good work in college.

The aptitude tests will be given in several Maryland colleges and high schools on May 26, June 16 and June 30. July 12 has been set as an alternate date for those who can't take the test one of the other times.

Commencement Speakers Have International Fame

Two men with international backgrounds will be commencement speakers at the graduation ceremonies of the four largest Allegany County schools, Superintendent Charles L. Kopp said yesterday.

They are Dr. Kurt D. Singer, lecturer, writer and radio analyst, and authority on foreign affairs, and Douglas Silverton, author, educator and lecturer.

Dr. Singer will speak at the ceremonies at Fort Hill High School June 7 and at Allegany High School June 8. Silverton will appear at Bruce High School, Westernport, June 7, and at Beall High School, Frostburg, June 8.

Silverton was born and reared in London, England. He was educated in English schools and at Oxford University. He came to Canada in 1929 and to the United States in 1947. At present he is professor of literature at Harpur College of New York State University, Endicott, N. Y. Previously, he served as professor of literature at Universities of Alberta and Manitoba in Western Canada and at Loyola University in Montreal.

During World War II, Silverton was a fighter pilot with the Royal Air Force. He served as chief flying and ground instructor and as squadron commander in the Battle of Britain. County Rotarians will be interested in knowing that in 1944-45 he was president of the Hawkesbury, Ont., Rotary Club and in 1945-46 was governor of the 170th District (now 250th) of Rotary International, which embraces the Ottowa and Montreal area.

Foreign Correspondent

"How to Combat Communism Intelligently" probably will be the subject of Dr. Singer's speech here.

DOUGLAS SILVERTON

He has written about 15 books, most of which deal with espionage and sabotage. Among these are such volumes as "The World's Greatest Women Spies," "Three Thousand Years of Espionage," "Spies and Traitors," and "Niemoller — Soldier of God."

Red Cross Home Nursing Courses To Begin Today

The first in a series of Home Nursing Courses sponsored by the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter will begin this afternoon at 1 o'clock in the Red Cross Center at Lonaconing. Similar courses will be held throughout the county in conjunction with the Civil Defense program.

Mrs. Carl C. Daum, 740 Brookfield Avenue, will be in charge of the 30-hour course in which 12 women of Lonaconing are expected to participate. Sessions will be held for two hour periods twice a week.

Branch chairman of the Lonaconing Red Cross is Miss Nellie Sloan with Mrs. Eva Boettcher, nursing chairman.

Groups interested in taking the course are asked to contact the Allegany County Red Cross Chapter, Cumberland. Mrs. Lee Witherup, executive secretary of the chapter, said yesterday the course will teach fundamentals in nursing a patient at home. Contagious diseases are explained and those taking the course will learn methods of notifying a physician and relating to him the type sickness a patient has.

The most important phase of the course, Mrs. Witherup said, is being taught "what not to do." Allegany County at present has 13 qualified registered nurses available to teach the course. It is the desire of the chapter, Mrs. Witherup added, to train sufficient persons to take care of any emergency and to assist in the planning of the Civil Defense program.

Jury To Decide Bull-Auto Crash

Did the young bull hit the automobile or did the automobile hit the young bull?

A jury in Allegany County Circuit Court today will be faced with the problem of answering that question.

James B. Harden, 11 Centennial Street, Oakland, through Attorney William L. Wilson, Jr., filed suit in Garrett County Circuit Court last December 9 against Bruce Close, of McHenry, and George Savage of Friendsville Road. He charged that a young bull, owned by the defendants, escaped from an enclosure at Accident Stock Yard where it had been taken for sale, and struck Harden's car as he drove along State Highway No. 219 toward Oakland last July 12. His car was damaged to the extent of $125. Harden sued for $200.

On January 10, Attorney Walter W. Dawson filed a cross claim for the defendants against Harden, charging that Harden struck and killed the bull with his automobile. Close and Savage seek $300 damage.

Attorney Wilson six days later filed an affidavit and had the case removed to Allegany County Circuit Court, where it is scheduled for trial today.

Instrument Safety Methods Against Gases Are Outlined

Gas Analysis Instrumentation was the subject of discussion at the Cumberland Section Instrument Society of America dinner meeting Tuesday night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

N. W. Hartz, instrument line manager of the Mine Safety Appliances Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., was the guest speaker.

Hartz gave the old fashioned method of detecting toxi explosive gases in mines with canarys and the Davis Safety Lamp and then reviewed the detection of carbon monoxide gases in air by the use of a thermopile.

The Pittsburgher then told the local group the reasons for development of gas detection instruments and their uses as safety measures in mines, tunnels and other underground constructions.

Instruments are now used which detect the presence of both toxic and explosive gases and can be placed in mines or tunnels or other buildings to warn workers or occupants of the danger of the gases in the air.

Hartz explained how explosive gases can be detected by passing the combustiable gas over a hot platinum filament, the burning of the filiament increasing the resistance of the platinum and unbalancing the bridge circuit setting off an alarm.

Also discussed were plans for the local club to make a trip to Bethlehem Steel Company at Sparrows Point, Thursday, May 17. About 30 persons attended the meeting with Robert Wilson, president, in charge of the affair.
